The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

9 IN MEMORIAM

HUGHES — In memory of our beloved husband and grandfather, George Hughes, who passed away Jan. 20, 1967.
Sadly missed and always remembered. Eleanor, Larraine and Al.

One year has passed since
That sad day.
When one we loved was called away,
God took her home—it was
His will.
But in our hearts she liveth still.
—Sadly missed and never forgotten by daughter, Marie-Louise, son, Fred and Family.

Cooks Compared

PARIS (UPI) — Italian cooking still does not match that of France and if anything is getting worse, according to the new Michelin travel guide for Italy.

The 1972 guide lists no three-star restaurants — 12 are named in France — and only 13 two-star establishments. Overall 189 restaurants receive stars — one fewer than in 1971.

The only new restaurant in the Two-star category is the Alfredo in Treviso. The 84-page Michelin Lists its specialities as marrow steak and salmon risotto.

The food in West Germany, however, never rises above a single star, according to the 1972 guide for Germany.

Cancer Detection Pioneer to Speak

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

One of two Canadian medical researchers who have pioneered a breakthrough blood test for one kind of cancer will address Greater Victoria doctors next month.

Dr. S. O. Freedman, director of the division of clinical immunology and allergy at Montreal General Hospital and McGill University, is expected to attract most of the area's 300 doctors when he speaks to a meeting of the Victoria Medical Society Feb. 9.

Last year Dr. Phil Gold, also of Montreal General and McGill, and Freedman devised a blood test which can positively detect one of the most common types of cancer — cancer of the bowel — before it can be spotted by any other means.

Hoffman-LaRoche, a major American pharmaceutical company, believes their method can be adapted for early detection of other types of cancer, including cancer of the lung. The intial findings of the Canadian researchers have been duplicated in field trials at five laboratories, two Canadian and three American.

Trials First

The drug firm believes that after completing its own clinical trials at 20 medical centres, the testing technique will be ready for routine use on a mass basis for detection of bowel cancer.

The technique Gold and Freedman have developed has attracted international interest in medical communities and a society spokesman said Wednesday it probably ranks in importance with the introduction of cortisone a few years ago.

A test using a similar principle has already been developed which will detect primary cancer of the liver and blood samples from local patients have been sent to California for the new form of screening.

The spokesman said that the work of Gold and Freedman will very likely open the door to many new developments along similar lines in early detection of other kinds of cancer.

The sooner a cancer can be detected, the more successfully it can be treated.

The test of Gold and Freedman, developed over eight years of research, is so sensitive it can be positive long before there is any other sign of cancer.

During initial testing the researchers first thought they had a large degree of error because so many patients with positive tests showed no sign of having a tumor.

But in following the positive cases, the doctors began to find lesions so small they might have been missed had there not been a suspicion they might be there.

Tumors that small are not difficult to remove and the patient stands an excellent chance for a cure.

What the Canadian research revealed is that the presence of a cancer tumor, no matter how small, is signalled in the body by the release of a unique substance, a submolecular protein called an antigen.

In the case of cancer of the bowel, Gold called the antigen CEA. When it enters the bloodstream, it sparks the production of antibodies to fight the intruder, the same reaction triggered by any germ or infection.

The test, which has added appeal because of its simplicity, is based on this normal antigen-antibody reaction in the body.

The three components involved are a sample of the patient's blood, a sample of goat blood known to contain antibodies and a sample of CEA which has been radioactively "tagged."

Pair Up

These are combined in a test tube and put through a centrifuge.

A critical factor is that antigens and antibodies will pair up and collect at the bottom of the tube.

The tube is then scanned by a sensitive geiger counter. If all the "tagged" radioactive antigens are at the bottom, it means there were no antigens in the patient's blood to compete for linkups with the available antibodies.

But if the counter finds only some of the radioactive antigens among the antigen-antibody pairs, then there is a positive indication of cancer because there must have been antigens in the patient's blood.

The society spokesman said Wednesday the test does produce a few false positive results, for example in patients with cirrhosis of the liver, but always in conditions which can be easily otherwise detected.

Since the work of Gold and Freedman has been publicized, there has been a heavy demand for them as speakers. At the invitation of the Victoria Medical Society Freedman agreed to come to Victoria between two speaking engagements in California.

Federal Union Readies First Day Care Centre

The first day-care centre to be operated by a federal government employees' union will open in Esquimalt Feb. 1.

The centre, to be located in the Esquimalt United Church hall, is being organized by the Union of National Defence Employees with the help of church members.

Mrs. Joan Mackwood, organizing secretary for the union, said that the centre, to be run on a non-profit basis, is being set up to alleviate the difficulties that the lack of day-care facilities in Esquimalt has posed for mothers working at the CFB dockyard.

The United Church, on Admirals Rd., offered to house the day-care centre, since their classrooms were being used only two hours a week for Sunday school, said John Redfern, a parishioner and a member of the day-care board.

"The building is heated all day, so the day-care centre will add no expense to the church," he said.

The enrolment is not restricted to children of union members, said Mrs. Mackwood. About 20 children will be accepted. Fees are $70 a month per child. Parents who cannot afford to pay the fee can apply to Family and Children's Service for financial aid.

One mother, Mrs. Sylvia Caley, is anxiously awaiting the opening of the day-care centre. A month ago she took a full-time job as a salesclerk, because "one pay cheque in the family wasn't enough and I felt stifled in the house."

"I wouldn't have started work, however, if there were no day-care facilites in this area," she said. Although she has been leaving her daughter, Angela, 4, in the care of a sitter, Mrs. Caley does not want to rely on babysitters permanently.

The turnover among sitters is high, she said, and a child needs the settled atmosphere that day-care provides. Mrs. Caley also feels children are better looked after by a qualified supervisor.

As yet the centre has not named a licensed supervisor, although several are under consideration, Mrs. Mackwood said. Otherwise the centre is ready to start. Two part-time aides have already been hired, and classrooms and equipment have passed inspection.

More unions will become involved in establishing day-care centres as the need for them increases among workers, said Mrs. Mackwood.

Claims To Include Receipts

OTTAWA (CP) — Child-care expenses to working parents are deductible from taxable income this year, but the government is making sure its revenues won't suffer as a result.

Claims to deduct such expenses must include receipts showing the name, address and social insurance number of the person paid to care for the child. That way the government can verify he pays income tax on the money he is paid.

This requirement, along with other ground rules for the new deduction, are spelled out in a pamphlet issued by the revenue department at all local income tax offices.

The new Income Tax Act came into effect Jan. 1 this year. Claims for child care expenses and other new allowances won't be felt by taxpayers, however, until they file tax returns in 1973 for this year's income.

The allowable limit on child care expense allowances is $500 a year per child, or $2,000 for a family, or two-thirds of a taxpayer's earned income for the year — whichever is the least.

The allowances cover costs of baby sitting, day nursery care, or up to $15 a week per child for lodging paid at boarding schools or camps.

The expenses must have been incurred to enable the mother to be employed or carry on a business. Expenses must be for care in Canada, and they must be for children under age 14, or dependent because of physical or mental infirmity if 14 or older.

The allowances are mainly designed for working mothers. Fathers may claim the allowance if they are the only parent in the family or if the mother is unable to care for the child because of mental or physical infirmity or confinement.

"To be allowed, deductions claimed for child care expense must be supported by receipts," says the pamphlet.

A Word On Behalf Of Psychiatrists

DEAR ABBY: Your comment to "Lady Dreamer" reminded me of a cute saying I'd like to share.

DEAR MRS. L. P.: A competent psychiatrist doesn't "collect the rent" for anyone's dream castles. Instead he helps his patient to find a dwelling he can actually LIVE in. And his fee is more appropriately the cost of moving.

DEAR ABBY: We have a very surly, selfish son in law who is married to our only child.

She is a wonderful girl and we love her very much, but we just can't understand him. He treats our daughter all right as far as we can see, but he treats us terribly.

When we invite the two of them for supper, she usually comes alone. She's embarrassed, but confesses she couldn't get him to come with her. When he does come, he eats fast and wants to run away right after the meal is over.

We have given them a lot of financial help. We bought them a nice little house and are helping them furnish it. We even bought them a second car.

I was in the hospital for two weeks and he never came to see me once. He didn't even send me a card!

Would it be childish for us to treat him like he treats us? I mean stop all financial help? I wouldn't want to hurt my daughter, but someone should teach this fellow a lesson. Hurt

DEAR HURT: Any financial help you gave him was undoubtedly more for your daughter's sake than his. Don't reward his indifference and rudeness with generosity, but be careful how you "teach him a lesson" or your daughter might wind up paying for the lesson.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Tall Boy" who was tired of having people ask him, "How's the weather up there," hit home with me because I, too, was tall in school. Being a girl it was even worse.

When kids would ask me how the weather was up there, I'd give them the answer my Dad suggested: "Why don't you grow up and find out?"

That shut them up, and they respected me more for telling them off instead of pouting. — Tall

More Jobs Promised in Throne Speech

Major new job-creating measures will be placed before the 1972 session of the British Columbia Legislature, the government promised today in the opening speech.

The measures, designed to reduce higher than usual unemployment, will involve B.C. Hydro, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, housing, forest and park development and the protection of ecology.

The third session of the 29th legislature was formally opened this afternoon with the reading of the 30-minute Speech from the Throne by Lieutenant-Governor John Nicholson.

At a press conference, Premier Bennett agreed that the new job-creation scheme will be "extensive" but said details about its operation will be to await his budget speech scheduled for Friday, Feb. 4.

Bennett wouldn't comment on whether major government subsidies are planned as part of the program but indicated a big expansion of government activity in the fields could be expected.

Also promised in the opening speech were unspecified changes in labor legislation. Bennett and Labor Minister Jim Chabot wouldn't say whether these changes would affect the operation of the much-criticized B.C. Mediation Commission.

Other plans outlined in the speech, which was read to a gathering of several hundred invited guests and about 15 members of the public, were:

● A review of the tenure system of faculty members in the public universities by the legislative education committee.

● Changes in the Public Schools Act which Bennett indicated will formalize school finance formula restrictions announced last year by Education Minister Donald Brothers;

● Improved legislation on family relations, which have been under study by the B.C. Law Reform Commission;

● Amendments which Bennett said will "tighten up" the Litter Act which has been under fire for loopholes in provisions requiring return of soft drink containers.

● Consideration by the legislature, but not necessarily legislation, in the field of expropriation law and debtor-creditor relationships also under study by the law commission.

● Possible legislation on companies and securites law, under study by a special government committee.

● Amendments to the Regional Park Act.

The speech also noted a 14 per cent increase in B.C. Ferries routings in 1971 including an "astonishing" 80 per cent increase in Northern Vancouver Island ferry traffic made possible by expansion of the Island Princess.

The proposed natural gas pipeline to Vancouver Island should spur exploratory drilling for natural gas in northeastern B.C., the speech said.

An Indian court caseworker program, in addition to the current program operated through the John Howard Society, is under consideration by the government.

Although not mentioned in the opening speech, long-delayed revisions in the provincial Elections Act are "hoped" for this session, Bennett said.

He indicated no changes are planned in the controversial liquor and cigarette advertising bans introduced last year. The bans are currently under challenge in the courts.

The opening speech indicated the Water Resources Act, introduced last year but left for study by MLAs and the public, would be proceeded with this session to "assist" in water resources management. The bill stakes out a greatly expanded provincial claim to control of water resources.

A new Safety Engineering Services Act will be consolidated from the existing Gas Act, Electrical Energy Act and Boiler and Pressure Vessel Act, the speech said.

The speech reiterated the government's position that B.C. Hydro will meet expanded power needs from "sources which cause the least possible adverse effect on the environment," a phrase generally taken to mean water power in Bennett's view.

The B.C. Energy Board will complete its study of 15-year power needs in the province

NITRO BOMB THREAT

An anonymous caller today told the Times he may throw a bottle of nitroglycerine onto the floor of the legislature during opening ceremonies.

The male voice said, "I am hoping to hear some good words about unemployment . . . if not, I am taking down a little bottle of nitro and I may throw it on the floor."

Asked to identify himself, the man replied, "You could call me the prince of ponces."

Local RCMP detachments admit they have received similar calls in the last 24 hours.

RCMP Inspector H. A. Johnson said appropriate measures have been taken and ample security is in effect for the opening.

Recall Out —PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said today the government has no immediate plans to recall Parliament to deal with the strike of air traffic controllers.

There would be no interference, at the moment at least, with the bargaining process, he told reporters on his way into the regular Thursday morning cabinet meeting.

Mr. Trudeau said the cabinet would discuss the strike.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson and C. M. Drury, president of the treasury board which is negotiating on behalf of the government, both declined comment.

The strike has grounded virtually all commercial air traffic in Canada since Monday.

RESUME BARGAINING

The cabinet met at the same time as negotiators for the government and the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association started their fourth day of talks under mediator Noel Hall of Vancouver.

In negotiations that have gone late into the night there have been no indications of a narrowing of critical differences over pay claims.

Representatives of both sides gave muttered "no comment" when asked late Wednesday about progress.

Cabinet discussion on the strike had been expected to cover several possibilities aimed at ending the dispute that has virtually closed 116 airports.

These were a request for resumptions of Parliament, now in recess; authorization for a beefed up treasury board offer; imposition of a deadline for talks; or a decision to let the collective-bargaining process continue unhindered.

Police Slay 3 in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (CP) — Three black Africans were shot dead by police during rioting Wednesday evening and early today.

A government statement issued late today said the slayings took place in the black township of Harari near the city's industrial areas.

Those arrested totalled 44, of which two dozen suffered gunshot wounds. At least 13 were being treated in hospital.

RIOTING BEGAN SUNDAY

Black riots began Sunday in Gwelo, an industrial city 200 miles southwest of Salisbury, the capital. The unrest was touched off by the arrival of a British commission to canvass public reaction to the proposed British-Rhodesian settlement.

The rioting is widely interpreted in London as dooming the settlement worked out by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government and Rhodesia's white rulers last November. The agreement stipulates that it will not go into effect unless the British determine it is acceptable to a majority of the Rhodesians.

SMITH PLANS MEETINGS

Prime Minister Ian Smith was understood to be planning emergency meetings with his security chiefs to discuss the increasingly tense situation. A senior British official was on his way from London to make an on-the-spot assessment of the situation for the British government.

Raiding at one point into the capital itself, marauding groups burned cars, set fire to buildings, stoned passing vehicles and smashed and looted shop windows in this first eruption of mob violence in the Salisbury area since the African nationalist party wars in 1963 and 1964.

Police used tear gas to break up groups of the rioters in Harari, home of 60,000 Africans. Tear gas was also used to avoid another outbreak of Gwelo-style violence in the town of Fort Victoria, 200 miles to the south of the main Salisbury-South Africa highway.

Africans ransacked a liquor store, set fire to a tractor and stoned a government building, a clinic, a police truck and a butcher shop in Fort Victoria's African suburb of Mucheke, where 10,000 Africans live, segregated from the farming town's 3,000 whites.

Today, government officials were privately linking the new wave of unrest with the presence in the country of the British commission.

SEEK AFRICAN OPINION

The seven commission teams at present are slogging their way through deep mud and crossing rivers and streams in their search for a reliable guide to African rural opinion about the Anglo-Rhodesian settlement terms.

Almost everywhere they have gone they have been getting the same answer: No.

Mass IRA Break Foiled by Police

BELFAST (UPI) — British soldiers and Northern Ireland police today foiled an apparent mass break-out attempt at the Longkesh internment camp where most of the 500 security suspects seized in Ulster are held, a British Army officer said.

The troops and police found imitation submachine guns, wire cutters and "improvised weapons."

In the first news conference held inside the camp, northeast of Belfast, Brigadier Oliver Pratt told newsmen, "We uncovered an awful lot of stuff."

More than 1,000 troops and police moved into the camp at daybreak and thoroughly searched the complex of huts and buildings for more than eight hours, Pratt said.

The findings "undoubtedly" included implements for a breakout, Pratt said.

In sleeping quarters troops found the beginnings of two tunnels, one of them two feet deep and 18 inches wide. Floor tiles had been glued together to cover the hole in one of the huts, Pratt said.

Pratt said soldiers also found a quantity of tools, including hacksaw blades and what he described as weapons made from pipes and nails.

Plane Hijacked

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A Hughes Airwest plane bound for Reno was commandeered at the Las Vegas airport today by a man who demanded two parachutes, a crash helmet and $50,000 in small bills.

HURRICANE . . . ER, HIM-ICANE

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricanes should be named after U.S. senators instead of women, a Miami feminist has told a top-level gathering of weather experts.

And Roxcy Bolton says she's rather partial to dubbing the storms him-icanes, too. She says hurricane sounds like her-icane.

"I'm sick and tired of hearing that 'Cheryl was no lady as she devastated such and such a town,' or 'Betsy annihilated this or that'," said Mrs. Bolton, a former vice-president of the National Organization of Women.

"As long as people can name her-icanes after us it's just another way of putting women down."

Her proposal Wednesday to the annual national oceanic and atmospheric administration hurricane season planning conference received a chilly reception.

Dr. Karl Johannessen, associate director of the national weather service, told Mrs. Bolton that naming the often-deadly storms after women was nothing personal. But he balked at her suggestion to name them after senators.

"Would you want to cast a slur on United States senators?" he asked.

He then suggested the names of men be used one year, the names of women the next in an alternating system.

Cabinet Acts, Bans Strikes At Hospitals

The B.C. cabinet today invoked the Mediation Commission Act (Bill 33) to provide for compulsory arbitration in the current hospitals labor-management dispute.

Labor Minister James Chabot told a press conference the act was invoked because of the "grave danger to the health and well being of the public" in the event of hospital strikes.

The order applies to the 10,500-member Hospital Employees' Union, which has been taking strike votes at a number of hospitals, and the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., which agreed Wednesday to voluntarily go before the B.C. Mediation Commission for a binding settlement.

Chabot said this was to ensure that the nurses have equal opportunity to appear before any commission hearings.

Under the terms of the act, the commission's decision will be binding on all parties.

STRIKE VOTES

The cabinet's decision came just after employees of Port Alberni's West Coast General Hospital voted 94.7 per cent in favor of strike action and just as balloting was being concluded on a strike vote at St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria.

Strike votes had been approved earlier by employees at hospitals in North Vancouver, Kamloops, Trail, Kelowna and Kimberley.

Shortly before noon, a strike notice was delivered to St. Joseph's Hospital by Ray McCready, secretary-manager of the Hospital Employees Union.

A hospital source said just over 70 per cent voted in favor of strike action. McCready could not be located for comment.

Chabot said this is the first time the Mediation Commission Act has been used by the cabinet before a strike took place.

"This is one of those problems when we can't tolerate a strike to begin and under these circumstances we can no longer gamble with the health of the public," he said.

TALKS COLLAPSE

He added that the order for employees to remain at work was not made at the request of either side in the dispute.

The government announced earlier that it will not share in increased wage and fringe benefit costs in 1972 beyond 6.5 per cent. Negotiations with both HEU and RNABC and the B.C. Hospitals Association collapsed at this point, with HEU proceeding with strike votes and the RNABC calling for a government mediator.

The Hospital Employees' Union, which represents non-professional hospital workers, had been seeking a 25 per cent across-the-board wage increase over two years and other improvements which BCHA said would be a 50 per cent cost increase. The RNABC has declined to disclose its demands.

B.C. Stalling On Fee Hike

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

The new fee schedule of British Columbia doctors is going to be ignored — for the time being — by the provincial government.

The reason is the Medical Services Commission, the provincial agency which administers medicare, has had no instructions from government to alter its current scale of payments to doctors.

Word came from the commission to the B.C. Medical Association and was passed along to local delegates Wednesday. It was posted in hospitals for the information of doctors today.

It is the first indication from any source on how the government has responded to the new fee schedule which doctors put into effect Jan. 1.

The schedule represents an overall increase of 8.2 per cent, all allocated to the six groups of doctors, including general practitioners, earning the lowest incomes in the medical profession.

The latest development means little to the public at the moment. Almost all provincial residents are covered under medicare and almost all doctors bill the Medical Services Commission rather than their patients.

It does mean there has been no break in the stalemate between doctors and government on fees, despite the new schedule of fees the doctors have introduced.

Doctors, through the B.C.

U.S. to Boost Arms Spending

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon told Congress today United States military spending will rise in 1972-73 because he needs a strong defence establishment to help him reach peaceful agreements with the Communist powers.

He announced his decision on arms spending in his annual State of the Union address to a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Nixon, who is standing for another four-year White House term, called on the election-year Congress to give him bipartisan support at home and abroad.

He pleaded with members to forget presidential politics and resist the pressures of polling day in November in the interests of prosperity, national unity and world peace.

The president did not disclose the size of the new defence program, which is included in the over-all federal budget to be sent to Congress Monday.

But he said he would ask for an extra $2 billion for the navy and an additional $838 million for military research and development.

He would allocate more than $900 million to improve seabased nuclear deterrent forces.

PILL FOR PIGEONS

Victoria's parks committee today decided to buy a supply of a special drug that will temporarily sterilize the pigeons in Centennial Square to slow down the reproduction rate.

The chemical is called Ornitrol and is made in the "animal health division" of G. D. Searle and Co., Skokie, Illinois.

Following complaints from a number of sources that the pigeons around city hall are becoming a nuisance, city purchasing agent G. F. Sharpe came up with the Ornitrol plan.

The idea is so appealing, in fact, that officials intend to use it also over a two-year program to curb pigeon reproduction in Bastion Square and at the Public Library on Yates.

The manufacturer says the "chemosterilant" takes a year to show its effects. It should not harm pets like dogs and cats because these animals don't eat whole kernel corn, in which the Ornitrol is contained.

The job will cost $1,100.

LIVING BRAIN TISSUE GROWN IN LABORATORY

CHICAGO (Reuter) — Three University of Chicago researchers announced Wednesday they have grown living brain tissue from individual mouse brain cells in the laboratory, opening a new avenue to the study of man's most complex and baffling organ.

Dr. Aron A. Moscona, who headed the biological research team of Dr. Malka Moscona, his wife, and Dr. Beatrice B. Garber, said the cells grown in the laboratory attached together in the same way as normal brain cells and formed connections — called synapses — allowing communication between the cells.

"We don't know if the brain tissue is thinking, because no one knows exactly what thinking is, but it is certainly communicating," he said. The research team also reported a specific chemical compound — cerebrum cell-ligand — has been isolated. The compound acts like a glue to fix certain types of brain cells to one another.

Discovery of the compound might help solve the mystery of how individual cells can identify and link up with other cells to form specific organs, he said.

Dr. Moscona said his team's findings might eventually lead to new methods of repairing brain damage and brain defects.

He gave as examples the correction of congenital brain damage, helping brains to grow to normal size and repair of brain injuries.

Canada Locates Wheat 'Pirate'

LONDON (CP) — A cargo of Canadian wheat, believed to have been pirated during the Indian-Pakistan war, has been sighted off the coast of French Somaliland.

The wheat, estimated at some 250,000 bushels, originally formed part of a larger shipment moved out of Vancouver as Canadian relief aid destined for Chittagong in what was then East Pakistan and now is Bangladesh.

One of the vessels to which part of the shipment was transferred, disappeared. It turned up in international waters in the Gulf of Aden sailing under the Greek flag.

One Canadian official said he understands the master of the ship has been arguing that he wasn't too sure whether he would be paid when the Indian Pakistani war broke out and decided to dispose of the cargo as a way of compensation.

Legal experts are waiting to pounce on him with court action if he docks at any port where Canada can exercise influence.

NEWS BRIEFS

Campus Riot

MADRID (AP) — Students at Madrid University battled police today in the wildest rioting in years. Scores were injured and dozens more arrested as the fighting spread off campus. The central campus was sealed off.

Embassy Bombed

Moscow Invitation

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — The Soviet government has invited Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman of Bangladesh to Moscow, a newspaper close to the Pakistani foreign office reported today.

Delay Demanded

LONDON (UPI) — The opposition Labor Party today demanded that Prime Minister Edward Heath should postpone signing of the treaty taking Britain into the European Common Market.

RIOT CASUALTIES, Dominican sisters Vianney, left, and Thomasina wait for aid in Salisbury's Central Hospital Wednesday after their car was stoned in Rhodesia rioting. Medical Association, have the right to set any fee schedule they want. But what they bill the commission and what they receive from it are not the same. The commission has its own schedule of fees it will pay and that schedule has been 90 per cent of the doctors' fee schedule in effect before Jan. 1.

COMPUTER READY

The latest, and first, communication from the commission on the fee changes advises the BCMA that the commission will continue to pay doctors at the same rate they were being paid before because it has received no instructions to do otherwise.

But it does say doctors should continue to bill the commission on the new fee schedule. This is taken to mean by one local source that at least the commission's computerized billing system has been reprogrammed to handle the different fee schedule, even if payments to doctors are not going to be increased.

Doctors had feared that all the bills they have submitted this month would be rejected and would have to be resubmitted using the old fee schedule.

Top BCMA officers were not immediately available for comment but an association source in Vancouver said today the BCMA understands the Medical Services Commission is unable to change procedures without government authorization.

. . . THRONE SPEECH

this year, the speech said. Bennett said he wasn't sure if it would be ready in time for tabling in the legislature.

As announced last year, the name of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will be changed to the British Columbia Railway.

Bennett said he hopes negotiations between the federal and provincial governments will enable the provincial government-owned railway to link up with the federally-owned CNR to open up rail service from the B.C. north to Prince Rupert. He hoped a deal could be reached before the end of the session.

NOT NORMAL

On the question of unemployment, the speech noted that growth in the B.C. economy last year would have been adequate for job-creation "under normal circumstances."

"However, I beg to report that the continued high level of migration into the province affects this delicate balance and creates additional problems for which solutions are being sought."

The speech described the October, 1971, figure of 53,000 unemployed as a significant improvement over the 1970 figure of 69,000, or 5.7 per cent of the labor force compared with 7.9 per cent.

The speech attributed problems to generally unsettled economic conditions around the world and to "the fiscal policies of the federal government."

In the education field, $50 million of "additional school facilities" were promised over and above last year's 677 new classrooms and 94 gymnasia.

A total of 772 new hospital beds were reported completed last year and an additional 1,779 are under construction, the speech said.

Friday's sitting of the legislature, scheduled for 2 p.m., will hear Ernie LeCours (SC—Richmond) moving the reply to the opening speech and Willis Jefcoat (SC—Shuswap) seconding the reply.

Queen Has Cold

LONDON (AP) — The Queen stayed indoors Wednesday with a heavy cold at her Sandringham estate in eastern England. A spokesman said the Queen had cancelled all engagements for the next few days.

. . . BILL 33

Despite the government's 6.5 per cent ceiling on wages and fringe benefits, Chabot said he interprets the Mediation Commission Act to mean the government will be bound by whatever is the commission's decision.

Registered nurses came under criticism from the Hospital Employees Union and the Victoria Labor Council for voluntarily agreeing to go before the mediation commission for a binding decision.

"This is contrary to the policy of the labor movement and certainly in conflict with the general lack of confidence that both labor and management have in the mediation commission," said an HEU spokesman.

The labor council voted to express its "concern" and vice-president John Schibli said it is "very saddening" it should happen when the commission appears to be on its "death bed." Secretary Larry Ryan said the nurses' association has "allied themselves with management."

In a ststement, the B.C. Hospitals Association said hospital workers in the province are the highest paid in the country.

BCHA executive director Duncan Bradford quoted 1970 federal statistics to show the average hourly wage rate in B.C. for hospital workers was $3.20 compared with $3.10 in Quebec and $2.70 in Ontario.

'REDUCE CARE'

Bradford said the Hospital Employees Union "must realize" that the BCHA must negotiate within the 6½ per cent ceiling set by the government.

"Hospitals are not like school boards, who have access to public funds through referendum to pay for added costs," he said.

"If hospitals are forced beyond government guidelines our only recourse is to reduce the level of care and this is not acceptable to hospitals or the BCHA."

The RNABC, also in a statement Wednesday, said the BCHA's position on the 6½ per cent ceiling is "unacceptable" to it.

Yule Mail 'Coming'

LONDON (CP) — The British post office reported Tuesday that a substantial portion of Christmas mail sent to Canada by sea from Britain still hasn't reached its destination.

It said it has been advised by Canadian authorities that even future postings of letters and parcels by sea to Canada will still be subject to delay.

The cause is congestion in Canadian ports resulting from the United States longshoremen's strike last fall which led to heavy diversions of shipping to Canada. The volume of diversons choked Canadian ports.

This congestion and delay may be aggravated by the Canadian air traffic controllers' strike. With transatlantic air shipments to Canada halted, many British shippers will be considering moving parcels and other items by sea.

The post office said that all airmail to Canada is subject to delay. An official said airmail is being accepted and stored, ready for shipment by air once the strike is over.

RARE COIN SURFACES IN PUB

LODON (UPI) — Alf Long bought a round of drinks at his local pub for $2.60 and got a coin worth $520 in his change.

The coin, a two-pence (5.2 cents) piece, was made of silver instead of bronze because of an error at the Royal Mint.

the weather

Unsettled conditions will persist in most areas through Friday as the strong flow of mild Pacific air persists across the south coast. Temperatures will begin to moderate in the B.C. interior as the cold Arctic air retreats northeastward. Precipitation will continue to be widespread over the province.

MONEY MIXUP DELAYS HUGHES' BOOK DEBUT

NEW YORK (UPI) — McGraw-Hill books and Life magazine will delay publication of billionaire recluse Howard Hughes' purported autobiography until they have obtained "information that is completely satisfactory" as to who actually received the money they paid for publication rights, it was announced today.

Hughes' attorneys and disembodied voice identified as Hughes' in a telephone interview have denied Hughes wrote the autobiography or received payments checks.

"McGraw-Hill and Life have been conducting a thorough and continuing investigation of all aspects of the Howard Hughes manuscript," the statement said. "This investigation has developed questions concerning the identity of the holder of the bank account at the Swiss Credit Bank in Zurich in which checks made out to Hughes were endorsed and deposited.

"We have therefore filed an action with the appropriate Swiss regulatory authorities in an effort to obtain full details."

It has been reported Hughes, 66, received about $600,000 for the publication rights, $250,00 of it from Time Inc. for a three-part serialization which was to have begun in Life Feb. 11. McGraw-Hill has scheduled publication of the book in hardcover March 10.

Another book, claiming to be based on memoirs of billionaire Howard Hughes appeared on the market Wednesday. A Hughes spokesman called it an "absurd dream" which "belongs in a comic book."

The book, My Life and Opinions, was published by Best Books Press and "edited" by Robert Eaton, a novelist and former husband of actress Lana Turner, who said he had had an almost clandestine friendship with Hughes for the past 13 years.

Eaton said his book is based on two manuscripts he alleged Hughes gave him. In the book, he quotes Hughes as having written "I have taken and will continue to take" steps to have his body deep-frozen after death so he can be revived in the future when medicine has come up with the proper techniques.

The book also quotes Hughes as having written that, to protect the estate of a wealthy person who has been deep-frozen, a computer would instruct those handling the estate how to do it, " as though the deceased were still alive."

Florist Eyes Trucks

Saanich daffodil grower Geoff Vantreight said today it may be necessary to truck two acres of daffodils to markets on the Prairies and in Toronto because of the nation-wide air strike.

This would prevent the loss of the flowers but would write off all profits, he said.

Vantreight has been cooling it in his hothouse operation at Gordon Head since the air traffic controllers' strike closed airports across Canada last Monday.

* * *

But he has decided that reducing the heat in the two acres of hothouses is a "head in the sand attitude," so he has turned up the heat once more.

"It's no good kidding myself," he said. "I have to push on with my production for Valentine's Day and Easter orders, and I'll just have to hope the strike ends soon."

Apart from lost orders and a big telephone bill explaining his problems to customers, Vantreight hasn't been affected seriously so far. But he says he will be if the strike lasts longer than this week.

Normally at this time of year he moves about $2,000 to $3,000 worth of cut flowers across Canada daily by air. His pre-Valentine's business alone is worth about $40,000 to $50,000.

Man Hits Saanich 'Robbery'

A Saanich resident claims the municipality is trying to "get away with highway robbery" in making property owners pay for water bills they didn't incur.

For six months John Sipkes, 888 Beckwith Avenue, has been doggedly refusing to settle a $3.40 water bill left unpaid by the previous owner of his property.

The municipality has been sending him accounts ever since he bought the property in June but now, Sipkes said today, he has been told to pay up by Jan. 25 or have his supply cut off.

"I've always paid my bills but I'm refusing to pay this one on a point of principle," he said.

"It's a case of charging me for something I never used — and it's unfair."

Sipkes said he can't believe Saanich has any legal authority to bill him for water used by someone else, but if that is the case he should be sent a copy of the relevant bylaw.

By a few routine inquiries he has established that the previous owner is now living in Terrace and attending the vocational school there.

"I don't see why Saanich can't trace him there and send the bill to him, yet they tell me charging me is the only way they can collect the money."

Municipal administrator John Tribe said today there is provision in the Municipal Act to transfer any unpaid water bills as a tax arrear on the property but this is seldom done.

He said efforts are made to collect from previous owners but these are often unsuccessful.

Tribe dismissed the Sipkes complaint as "a bit of a tempest in a teacup," adding that it was unlikely the municipality would cut off the resident's supply.

Skinner Funeral

An executive of Island Tug and Barge Co., William Skinner, 59, died in Victoria Wednesday during a visit from Vancouver.

Before moving to West Vancouver last November Skinner lived at 4313 Houlihan Place, Saanich.

Skinner joined Island Tug in 1946 after service in the navy at Halifax. He became a vice-president of that company and also of Seaspan International in Vancouver.

Skinner is survived by his widow Dorothy, two sons, Gerald of Ottawa and Ronald, 2190 Wenman; his mother, Mrs. W. B. Skinner, Prince Rupert, and a brother, Henry Skinner 2639 Millstream; two sisters, Mrs. W. McLean of Prince Rupert and Mrs. R. Dubuc of Detroit, Mich.

Canon Charles Bishop of St. George's Anglican Church will officiate at the funeral service at McCall Bros. at 1:15 p.m. Monday.

Incorporations in B.C. Set Record of 7,952

Registration of new B.C. companies last year reached a record level at 7,952, or 1,500 more than in 1970.

The total appears to re-establish a trend that lasted from 1960 to 1969, coinciding with a period of economic growth in the province that faltered in 1970.

Previous record total for B.C. company incorporations was 7,414 in 1969. The figure dropped to 6,406 in 1970.

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson said incorporations of all types in 1971 including companies with head offices elsewhere, societies and co-operatives — totalled 9,011 compared with 7,427 in 1970.

In addition, the registrar of companies took on the rolls 1,872 partnerships or proprietorships, a decline of 90 from 1970.

The final month of last year established a new one-month level for B.C. company registrations at 955, up from 597 a year earlier, and comparing with 703 in November. The previous record month was in May, 1969, with 763 registrations.

Extra-provincial incorporations in 1971 accounted for 575 listings, up from 562 in 1970, with December adding 75, 21 more than in December, 1970.

There were 464 new societies last year, an increase of 20. December added 40, up from 33.

Four new co-ops were listed in the final month, against none in December, 1970, for a 12-month total of 20, up seven.

Ashcroft Honored

LONDON (AP) — Veteran Shakespearean actress Dame Peggy Ashcroft was named actress of 1971 in the London Evening Standard's drama awards Tuesday.

Alan Bates, British stage actor whose films include Zorba the Greek, was named actor of the year.

Chile Cabinet Resigns

SANTIAGO Chile (UPI) — President Salvador Allende accepted the resignation of his entire cabinet today, four days after the governing popular unity coalition lost important elections for a deputy and senator.

Rios said the president had asked the ministers to remain on the job until he completes discussion with leaders of the governing coalition on formation of a new cabinet.

Allende said last week he planned some changes in the cabinet to widen the political base of the ruling coalition of communists, socialists and left splinter groups.

Political sources said the changes were hastened by the defeat of government candidates in Sunday's elections for a deputy from Linares and senator from O'Higgins and Colchagua.

There was no indication how many resignations would be accepted. Political sources said it was likely several ministers would be retained in their posts in the new cabinet.

Pay Raise Approved For Queen Elizabeth

LONDON — Queen Elizabeth II will get the big pay increase she requested, the House of Commons agreed Wednesday night, despite Opposition charges she showed "indecent arrogance" by not telling Parliament how much her private assets are worth. The Queen's allowance from the nation was increased to $2.55 million from $1.24 million.

PEACE RIVER, Alta. — The government has no place in the boardrooms of the nation, Neil German of Calgary, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday. He told the local chamber that the federal government is obsessed with the idea of equality. "All the government is afraid of is that somebody will have $100,000 tax free. What's wrong with that if this somebody creates an industry making 200 new jobs?"

GERMAN

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — One city policeman had his promotion speeded up in a rather unusual way — he took newly-elected Mayor Francis McCloskey, 32, into court where he had to pay $30. "I think they did a very fine job," McCloskey said after paying the fine and court costs. Patrolmen Nolan Eads and Bill Gallyan took him into court for an expired safety inspection sticker on his car. The mayor then promoted Eads to patrolman first class.

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. — John Parker, the Yellowknife lawyer who is deputy commissioner of the Northwest Territories, is a fearsome opponent in open debate during territorial council sessions. An appointed councillor, his main task is answering endless questions from other council members about the federal government's policies in the North. If the Eskimo name for Parker is any indication, he's well suited to the job. He's called Kiujutiksairujaagittiq, "The man who never runs out of answers."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — A space expert with a yen for Mars says the red planet may be man's only remaining destination. Dr. Hubertus Strughold, 73, known in scientific circles as "the father of space medicine," doesn't rule out the other planets entirely, but their hostile environments make manned exploration past Mars unlikely, at least in the century, he said. Doesn't that bother him? "No," said Strughold, "My favorite planet is Mars."

LONDON — A former schoolteacher wearing a chic black skirt, lipstick and earrings made legal history Wednesday when he sued his wife for divorce under the name of Miss Della Alexander. Known as Deryick Alexander before undergoing a sex-change operation, Miss Alexander gave evidence as a woman before a High Court judge. It was thought to be the first time a female had sued her wife for divorce. The petition was unopposed. In reply to a question after the hearing, Miss Alexander said in a deep voice: "Of course I would marry again — if the right man came along."

Out From Under a Cloud

The practice of seal slaughter on the Atlantic Coast has for long been heavy on the Canadian conscience, and a number of humane and conservationist groups have helped to make information available to all sections of the public. The result of these efforts and the focusing of public opinion may be seen in the announcement of Fisheries Minister Jack Davis this week that the annual killing quota has been reduced to 150,000 for this year — it was 250,000 in 1971 — and other restrictions have been increased.

The announcement came after an interim report had been submitted by the fisheries department's special advisory committee on Atlantic seal. The committee recommends that the annual quota be phased out by 1975, to be followed by a moratorium of at least six years. Mr. Davis' announcement may well be the first step in this chain of events.

The motivation of the committee appears to be partly humane, partly a simple effort to preserve the Atlantic seals from extinction. Heavy hunting in the 1930s reduced the seal herd to an estimated low of 1.4 million by 1939. Hunting virtually ceased during the war years and by 1951 the herd had recovered to 2.8 million. But again intensive hunting in the '50s — with more than 500,0000 seals a year being killed — threatened the herd and last year the population reached an all-time low of 1.2 million.

Now, an agreement with Norway will restrict sealers of that country to a limited area off the coast of Labrador and northeast Newfoundland, and Canadian ships will also be confined to this area. No sealing ships will be allowed to operate in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Limited quotas will be enforced for both land and ship-based sealers, although Indian and Eskimo hunters will continue their take of about 10,000 a year.

Canada's reputation has suffered in a number of countries around the world where active protest movements condemned the annual slaughter. Mr. Davis' present move should do something to improve it, and if the recommendations of the special committee are follwed — they will be referred to the Commons committee on fisheries shortly — a sordid part of our national industrial picture will be removed, at least temporarily.

It is notable that for a dozen years in this century Canada and the world managed to get by with hardly any furs from baby seals. After a six-year moratorium from 1975 to 1980 inclusive, humanity may find it can keep warm without any at all.

"... it feels good, Leslie, to be back in uniform again ..."

Cutting the Cloth...

Greater Victoria's school board is following a prudent course in curtailing the appointment of staff replacements until it finds out what it can afford. This was a normal development in view of ceilings placed by the provincial department of education on the increases it would pay for operating expenses and teachers' salaries. The government's move required drastic reduction of the provisional school budget.

Apart from declining to replace employees leaving the service, the board is also considering staff reductions and elimination of courses and services. The gap between provisional estimates and what the trustees see as maximum expenditures permitted without recourse to a referendum amounts to about $926,000.

The trustees' reluctance to call a referendum — a matter on which final decision will be made next week — is understandable. Public school enrolment is substantially down from last year and Trustee Walter Donald has drawn pointed attention to the rocketing escalation of school budgets in the last decade. Enrolments since 1961, he reports, have increased 40 per cent. In the same period administrative costs have quadrupled, instructional costs have more than tripled, and construction and maintenance costs have more than doubled.

Against that background, the decision of the provincial government to slow the rate of increase in costs should be clearly understood. It is prepared to see allowable expenditures rise 8 per cent above last year and to make its conventional contribution to teachers' salaries covering increases up to 6.5 per cent. Since the teachers have already gained an arbitration award above the latter percentage — the excess at the expense of municipal taxpayers — the trustees have little option but to look into the possibility of staff reductions.

The necessary economies may be painful as the board cuts its suit to the measure of the cloth. But at some point reductions may begin to erode the basic quality of necessary public education in this community, and it is then that the school board will have to accept the responsibility which the provincial government would gladly avoid: it will have to go to the public for more money.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Vicious

I am a visitor to Victoria and thus only an occasional reader of your paper.

However, I feel compelled to write to you regarding your story headed "Envy James Marsh" which appeared in the issue of January 13 on the front page.

While the story does not indicate if Mr. Marsh was subjected to any unreasonable provocation, surely his action in punching a motor vehicle station employee, who apparently was just doing his duty in trying to protect the community from unsafe and annoying vehicles, was vicious.

The general tone of the story which treated it as a boyish prank is typical of the attitude which tends to destroy civilized life by mocking any authority.

I personally do not envy J. O. Marsh in the slightest degree and would rather offer my sympathy to Mr. Donald Chaplin. — Joe Humphreys, 2221 Inglewood, West Vancouver.

Square Deal

In your column "Potato, butter, anyone?" You mention that the price of sugar has soared from $1.13 per 10-lb. bag on November 9 to $1.48 today.

B.C. Sugar, which is a monopoly, increased its profit from $1.40 per share in 1970 to $1.53 per share in 1971 and still the consumer is not protected in any way by our "just society" government. Sugar is a commodity which is in daily use by all and is unlike other products which are not essential.

As a pensioner on a fixed income I am against the exorbitant demands of labor but I am equally opposed to the lack of price controls on the essentials of life which one has to purchase. As long as these big companies provide political funds we will never get a square deal either from the Liberals, Conservatives or Social Credit. Yet the general public is apathetic and apparently is willing to accept the present state of affairs. — M. P. B. Wrixon, 1680 Poplar.

Gas Station Monopoly

Canadians are becoming more and more aware of the burden of foreign monopoly — under which the country operates, yet they feel there is very little they can do about it.

There is one monopoly that can and should be struck down immediately — one that directly affects every motorist and indirectly every citizen — the ownership of filling stations by giant oil companies. You will notice that an independent filling station is able to charge two or three cents less per gallon for gas and oil. This is because he can buy his product where he chooses and so the oil companies are in competition to obtain his business and he is able to buy cheaper. The lessee of a company filling station, on the other hand, has had to sign a restrictive agreement which forces him to take gas and oil at the company price. The oil company has him over a barrel. This is not free enterprise. It is free exploitation.

Legislation should be brought in immediately to forbid this restraint of trade. No individual or company should be permitted to own more than three filling stations in any one province. Thus the free competition of the market place would be brought into play to the advantage of every one. It would cost less to run a car and in addition reduction of freight costs would be passed on to the consumer.

Car owners and others should write to their Members of Parliament and MLAs urging this legislation. The next political campaign could be fought under this banner. — E. M. Osborn, 150 Douglas.

Hard to Understand

I find it a little difficult to understand the today's child. I am fond of children and feel it is a pity the schools do not have elocution classes. My friends agree with me. I am not alone in this thought. — A. P. Rainey, 577 Transit.

The Real Source of Leaks

WASHINGTON — The Nixon Administration is now trying to fathom a mystery. Why, it wants to know, are so many more Government secrets now leaking to the press? Who is responsible for these breaches of security, and what is to be done about them? The FBI and the military intelligence services are now scrambling desperately for the answer.

There are many theories. The political theory is that the Federal civil servants, most of them appointed during the long executive domination of the Democratic party, are trying to embarrass the present Republican Administration.

The philosophical theory is that the anti-war bureaucrats are handing over to the press any documents that might show the difference between what the President and his closest associates are saying in public and what they are saying in private. And if you study the disclosures of the Pentagon Papers and the Anderson Papers, there is obviously something to these political and philosophical theories.

Real Explanation

Nevertheless, the guess here is that the real explanation is not primarily political or philosophical, but scientific and technical. The real source of the leaks is Chester Carlson, who invented the electrostatic copying or Xerox system, which now dominates the Federal Government and influences the flow of information in every other big institution in the country.

Every Government department, agency, bureau, section, sub-section, secretary's office, assistant secretary's office, and secretary to the assistant secretary has a copying machine, or access to one, and copying, filing, and circulating has become a rule in Washington and even a disease.

Washington is really run by intelligent women secretaries, who are constantly being asked by forgetful Cabinet members, what about this and that, so they keep the records, and Xerox whatever they might forget.

The Xerox system is so simple that nobody in this town can do without it. Henry Kissinger has a meeting of the principal advisers to the President in the Cabinet Room of the White House to discuss what to do about the Indo-Pakistani crisis, and naturally, he wants a record of what is said, which is recorded by the official reporter, and then Xeroxed for the participants, and circulated so that everybody concerned knows what was said and what they are supposed to do about it.

Switch now to the Xerox or copying room in the basement of the White House. The operator, unless he is policed, can punch 10, or 11, or 15 copies of the secret record, and circulate them as he likes. The possibilities of leaks are obvious.

Every copy going to any authorized person in the Kissinger meeting on the Indo-Pakistani war can easily and quickly be Xeroxed and circulated to the "responsible persons" in his own department, passing through aides and secretaries, who have other Xerox machines, and while most of them merely pass the message along to its intended receiver, anybody along the line can intercept and duplicate the message and circulate it at will, or so it seems.

HENRY KISSINGER

This complicates J. Edgar Hoover's problem of plugging the leaks. Finding the source of the Pentagon Papers was easy, but getting to the leak of the Anderson Papers, with all those copying machines around, is a puzzle.

Why Anderson? He has never been known to be close to any high officials in the State or Defence Departments, but what of the technicians on the Xerox machines? With all this easy copying technique around, even the FBI doesn't quite know where to turn.

It would be hard to prove that the recent security leaks are the result of anti-Nixon, antiwar sentiments within the Civil Service or the Foreign Service of the United States. The tradition in both serves the President, no matter what he does, but once secrets are copied and circulated widely by Xerox, the elements of accident and disclosure are obviously far greater than ever in the past.

Quick modern electrostatic copying has had a much greater influence on security and diplomacy than is generally realized. The theory was that, if you could copy documents quickly, you could expand knowledge, information, and truth, and while there is a lot to be said for this, it has worked out in surprising ways.

More Cautious

For example, Ambassadors or Foreign Service officers of the United States abroad, who used to be able to send their dissents privately to the State Department, or the President, now have to calculate that their dissents will be copied and circulated in Washington, so they tend to be cautious.

Always now, they have that Xerox machine in mind. Will they really be able to speak their minds privately, or will their views be circulated all over Washington and hurt their careers? For the men in the Foreign Service, who feel that the State Department has lost its influence and authority in the last few years, this is a serious question.

No doubt some of them still keep writing what they believe, even if they think the White House will not like their dissents, but a lot of them, maybe most of them, hold back for fear of how their judgments will look after they are copied and circulated around Washington.

So maybe the mystery is not political or philosophical but merely technical. Paradoxically, the copying machines which were intended to expand information and truth are going in the opposite direction. The Xerox is not increasing security but diminishing it. It is not encouraging honest dissent, but blocking it.

Beyond this, it is overwhelming officials here in paper work and keeping them from the definition and resolution of their main problems. The modern copying machines are not informing Washington so much as they are enslaving and confusing it, and keeping it from solving its security problems, and getting at the doubts of its loyal dissenters.

Who Pays the College Costs?

In response to the letter published in the January 12 issue of the "Times," it may be appropriate to outline a few facts concerning the integration of vocational schools with colleges.

The cost of vocational schools has, in the past, been borne directly by the provincial and federal governments. The author is correct in noting that Canada Manpower pays the full cost of training for students they sponsor. The educational costs of other students attending "vocational" programs are, and we are assured will continue to be be, paid by the two senior governments and tuition fees. Citizens do not contribute through local taxation to the support of college students enrolled in "vocational" programs.

The funding of regional colleges is, however, a different matter. In order to encourage community involvement in regional or community colleges, the government has legislated that supporting school boards will be responsible for about 40 per cent of operating costs. In an established college, about half of the school board share is raised through tuition and half through local taxation. In the case of Camosun, in the first year of operation, slightly more than half of the school board share was raised through local taxation. The budget showed approximately $280,000 as the local taxpayers' share of operational costs for 1971-72.

It is now apparent that the college in its first year of operation will show a surplus which will be credited to next year's budget. If the anticipated surplus is taken into account, the cost to local taxpayers for this year would, in effect, be reduced to about $230,000; an amount somewhat less than the $250,000 suggested in literature distributed at the time of plebiscite. Since slightly more than 1300 full and part-time students are attending the college, it is apparent that the subsidization per student is less than that quoted in the January 12 letter.

It should be remembered that the local support applies only to "non-vocational" programs. The government continues to pay 100 per cent of the cost of operating the vocational school even though it is now an integrated part of the college.

Although the college budget for 1972-73 has not yet been finalized, initial discussions with the Department of Education would suggest that even though the college will expand career program offerings considerably, the cost to the local taxpayer for its support will be less than one mill. The school trustees may, of course, reject the college budget if the local share is greater than they are willing to contribute.

The college is providing a variety of educational serivces which would not otherwise be available in the community and we are pleased that it is being so favorably accepted by the community. — Carron Jameson, Chairman, Camosun College Council.

'Let Us Run Our Own Domestic Affairs'

A report in the Victoria papers last week stated that in all Regional Planning Board meetings either Victoria or Saanich must always be in the chair. "Why"?.

Saturna Island will not submit to a board that allows three areas 28 votes out of a possible 43 votes for all the other 11 areas forced into the region.

The whole setup is a farce and the attorney general should make every effort to get an honest vote for the outer areas forced by his government into the Region. Let him tell us how to sue this board for the damage and hardship they have caused Saturna Island the last two years. Leave the women to look after their own tops and bottoms which did no one any hurt, and get on with the job of justice.

There are far too many lads on the good life sheltering under the 10-acre freeze which has caused nothing but unemployment and hardship to this Island. The Social Credit government will wreck itself on these ill-considered orders in council and we that have worked for this government for years when it did things for this province by giving every man a chance to work and earn his living and pay his taxes, hang our heads in shame at the farce of the Regional Planning Board which can only raise taxes and pollute our island.

Saturna Island has its own community hall, firehall, cemetery, garbage dump, post office, service club, and would have had a fair water system if Dr. Whitbread and his crew had helped instead of hindered those who were trying to do something to build up a good water supply.

Saturna needs a building inspector like we need a hole in the head, and our people will not pollute this Island. But Saanich, Victoria and Vancouver will pollute us and under this unfair voting system we have no voice to stop it.

Surely this government has other functions than raising and collecting taxes. I appeal to the premier to kick the whole kit and caboodle out, and let us run our own domestic affairs, make these little czars run their own municipalities.

To the outer Gulf Islands, I say keep up the fight; never submit to a board that has the cards stacked against us. These fellows have no stake in our islands other than to take our taxes and foul our beaches. They will take your last chaw of tobacco if you do not stand up and fight.

If we must have another time-wasting questionnaire let the first question be: "Are you in favour of the Regional Planning Board."

For over two years we have been forced to stand idly by, while our living was taken away from us and our taxes raised for unnecessary inspectors and health inspectors cluttering up our ferries taking tours around the Islands.

To our M.L.A.s I say forget the votes for the next election and stand up for fair play for all of us, not just the heavy polls of Saanich, Victoria and Oak Bay. —J. E. Money, Saturna Island, B.C.

60 YEARS AGO

From the Times of Jan. 20, 1912:

LONDON — Often in history civil wars have been heralded with less ominous signs than prevail today. North of Ireland Orangemen, 50,000 strong, are secretly organizing, first, by show of strength, and, if that fails, by physical force, to prevent the Home Rule meeting in Ulster hall, Belfast, February 8.

Churchill says he will go, at whatever risk, with Redmond and Devlin, to take possession of Ulster hall in the name of the Home Rulers.

Soviet Jews Allowed Out

By NEAL ASCHERSON
The London Observer

LONDON — The granting of visas to Soviet Jews is no longer a gesture. It has become a policy, a difficult and even risky decision adopted by the Soviet leadership early last year which is still being carried out.

The last week has seen the granting of exit visas at the record rate of over 200 a day. Moscow rumors that the permits could tail off in the new year, after fulfilling a quota of 10,000 for 1971 agreed privately with Jewish leaders, seem to be unfounded.

In 1971 almost 14,000 Jews were permitted to emigrate, more than the total for the previous 10 years, and the flow continues to increase. April's census reported that just over 2 million Jews inhabited the Soviet Union. Highly unofficial reports, coming from emigrants like Prof. Mikhail Zand, allege that 100,000 Jews have applied to go.

* * *

Israel is giving little away about the totals which actually arrive, but there are estimates in Jersulam that the Jews leaving the Soviet Union could number over 50,000 by the end of this year.

Why is the Soviet Union doing this? When Jewish agitation for emigration became open after the Six Day War, with annual street demonstrations and dancing at the Simchat Torah festival, it was at first treated as a threat to internal security. Now it meets a combination, at first puzzling, of repression and concession.

One of the motives evidently lies in the Middle East situation today. The Russians wish to show Israel that their hostility and endorsement of Arab military power is not irrevocable, that Israeli concessions on the borders could transform the Soviet Union into an active guarantor of a peace assuring Israel's security.

In October, the vice-minister of the interior said that "There naturally can be no doubt that liquidation of the results of the Israeli aggression against Arab countries would create more favorable conditions for solution of this problem (Jewish emigration)."

In other words, it is not simply worldwide agitation on behalf of Soviet Jews or Jewish unrest in Russia that has created this new policy. There may even be an element of warning to the Arab countries: in spite of Soviet denials, technicians and boys of military age are emigrating too.

So far, there have been surprisingly few Arab protests against the emigration policy, but the Russians are making clear that they cannot endorse either mindless war policies or anti-Communist massacres like that in the Sudan.

Soviet internal policy, however, also plays its part. By granting the right in practice to emigrate to even a part of one of the Soviet Union's hundred and more nationalities, a startling precedent has been set.

No such concession has been granted in the 50 years of Soviet power, and a distinction has been drawn between the claims of Armenians, Volga Germans and Turks to name only some who have part or all of their homeland beyond the Soviet frontiers and those of Jews. This is an undogmatic sort of distinction.

Once it would have been argued that to allow a Soviet ethnic group to 'regress' from socialism to the previous historical phase of capitalism was ideological treachery. This Stalinist tone has not been heard for some time.

What is then considered to be so special about the Jewish minority? It is that a part of it is dedicated to reaching Israel, and that a part of that part has an extraordinary position in Soviet life.

* * *

Premier Alexei Kosygin said in October in Canada that 15 per cent of Soviet scientists were of Jewish extraction; the great issue of emigration has now classified them as conceivably unreliable in vital and private concerns of state, and this is a risk which it seems the Soviet government is taking an unprecedented measure to avoid.

This may remove barriers to emigration, but it could also produce a situation in which loyal Communists and citizens of Jewish origin found it hard to use their skills. Dr. Nahum Goldman, president of the World Jewish Congress, recently warned that too much noisy glee about emigration could endanger the right of Jews remaining in Russia to enjoy a normal life.

The counterpart to exit permits is the severity of recent sentences on Jews accused of "anti-Soviet propaganda" or activity. Experts who apply to leave are at once removed from sensitive jobs and "quarantined" for long periods before receiving leave to go.

Prof. Alexander Lerner, for example, the cybernetics expert who lost his post when he applied for a visa, has been initially refused an exit permit but may be allowed to depart after a longish interval if the usual pattern is followed.

Israel too confronts problems over the arrival of Soviet Jews, although they are problems encountered with other immigrant groups as well. They arrive in Vienna, where a small number appears to abandon its destination and head for Western Europe or the United States, and are then flown on to Israel.

* * *

More than 60 per cent are Georgian Jews, families without modern skills and accustomed to the leisurely and fertile land of their birth.

Many have applied to leave for reasons of ambition rather than religion. They find Israel hard to get used to and some 11 families in the modest Israeli estimate have written to President Nikolai Podgorny asking to be allowed home. It would be wrong to suppose that the inflow is a net gain for the Israeli economy.

How long the new Soviet policy will last is impossible to say. If the Middle East again exploded into war, or if other Soviet nationalities developed serious unrest over the "favoring" of Jews, it could come to an abrupt halt.

Even a new wave of demonstrations and sit-ins by applicants denied visas or impatient for them and the waits will be almost always long and often fruitless could lead the Soviet authorities to revise their present view that the emigration policy is worth the disturbance it causes.

But the fact remains that the Soviet Union, on however small a scale, is now doing something for which many have prayed and for which, until recently, few dared even to hope.

The High Cost Of Saving Life

By LAWRENCE ALTMAN
New York Times

SEATTLE — "When Mrs. Brown walked out of a hospital here recently after six weeks of care for a near-fatal attack of appendicitis, it took 33 pages to itemize her bill, which totalled $15,000 — equivalent to her husband's salary for one year.

The 49-year-old mother of two teenagers had survived almost every possible medical and surgical problem that could complicate a ruptured appendix.

Although the family has medical insurance, the policy covered just one-third of the bill. Fortunately, Mr. Brown had a major medical insurance policy through the college where he taught that covered an additional $6,600 for his wife's catastrophe.

$3,000 to Pay

Even so, the Brown family (which is a pseudonym) had to pay more than $3,000 out of pocket.

Officials at the University of Washington Hospital said her case proved so expensive primarily because of labor costs. Scores of hospital employees — physicians, nurses, x-ray and blood bank technicians, chemists, druggists, cooks, launderers and janitors, among others — worked directly or indirectly to save her life from complications of peritonitis (a serious infection of the lining covering the bowel), temporary kidney failure, pneumonia, abnormal heart rhythms and massive bleeding requiring 20 transfusions.

Had Mrs. Brown had the same illness just 10 years ago there would have been no financial problems. Mrs. Brown would have died within days from the complications.

She recovered because teams of physicians, surgeons and nurses at the large medical centre, like those elsewhere, could give her the benefit of many sophisticated medical advances in technology, services and medications — such as artificial kidneys, breathing treatments, and new antibiotic drugs — introduced just last decade.

Her survival, like many other patients, depended on the combination of all, not just one of these therapies.

Many scientific gains used in treating patients as seriously ill as Mrs. Brown require not only expensive technology but also a high ratio of employees to patients.

Wages are high because such skilled workers as nurses and technicians are needed.

As a result of the soaring costs, public pressures have been exerted to use hospital services more efficiently. The average length of in-patient stay has become shorter.

Many ambulatory patients, who in the past would have stayed in hospital just for diagnostic tests and not for nursing care, are now treated on a come-and-go out-patient basis.

While two years ago patients had to wait for admission, now hospitals in some U.S. cities have empty beds. Ironically, administrators say, the empty beds are contributing to a rise in hospital costs.

An analysis of Mrs. Brown's bill showed that $3,000 was for basic daily room charges. Roy Rambeck, the University of Washington's top hospital administrator, said that before Mrs. Brown's doctor began treating her each day, the bill automatically reflected a daily charge of $60.

Her room was $16, meals $6, administrative costs $7, nursing care $25, and services of social workers, hospital physicians (interns and residents) who provided critical 24-hour coverage, $6.

About $6,000 of Mrs. Brown's charges resulted from the services that her doctors ordered to test her blood, take x-rays, provide electrocardiograms, help her breathe and provide around-the-clock nursing care in an intensive-care unit and use the operating room.

Drug Price Soars

But Rambeck emphasized that there were many other factors contributing to the rise in hospital costs. These include:

- A 500 per cent rise in costs of malpractice premiums in Seattle, like other areas, within the last four years.
- A "tremendous rise" in the costs for drugs as doctors prescribe an increasingly larger number of medications for each patient.

Hospitals are starting to seek ways to reduce costs by consolidating such services as laundry, and avoiding duplication of expensive equipment. But Rambeck and other administrators fear that excessive containment of costs might force hospitals to the point of cutting quality.

The Trendy Fanatics Upsetting the Schools

By DAVID HOLBROOK

LONDON — Important changes have occurred in education in England since the war. They have run parallel to changes in attitudes to the nature of learning. In science and philosophy thinkers have come to see that "there is never anything other than persons learning." In other words, even the most tested findings of science are nothing more than the product of men who are trying to make sense of their world.

Britain leads the world in primary education. It promotes a rich dynamic of genuine education so that children, in the best schools, develop an all round capacity to investigate their world, and become eager to learn.

Rich Atmosphere

But it has been harder to carry these free methods over to the secondary school. Teachers from grammar, comprehensive and secondary modern schools have seen how rich the atmosphere of a good primary school is, and many schools, not least the larger new comprehensives, have achieved it.

When schools are criticised for sloppiness it must be remembered that they have carried out their remarkable experiments since the war and under the impact of continual re-organization, political battles, plus shortage of money for genuine development of resources.

Yet the atmosphere of school has radically changed at best towards a kind of co-operation and discipline unthinkable before the war. The teaching of the English language, for example, has changed out of all recognition — and imagination has come into its own as a means of trying to "make sense of the world."

There has been, of course, some slackening of disciplines of learning. There are too many foolish and pointless "projects," and there are certain developments of which one is deeply suspicious, such as a new kind of trendy sociology that fails altogether to give children a sense of values.

But it would be quite wrong to accuse English teachers at large of neglecting proper disciplines. It is rather that they have taken on very tough new disciplines such as the teaching of creative writing.

At the same time, while teachers are concentrating on genuinely progressive developments, there has come into the picture a whole new group of trendy developments, which set out to influence the child, often without any real concern for him. These new developments are not only most suspect, but threaten all that has been achieved.

Of course, genuine creativity is revolutionary for it encourages children to ask about their own human qualities, and about the nature of their civilization. But this is very different from the exploitation of children from the outside — the kind of thing we have in the Little Red Schoolbook circulating here, or the ugly and perverted "Schoolkids Issue" of the underground magazine Oz.

Though many progressive educationists foolishly support these they are really very sinister. They are liable to encourage children to distrust their teachers and families, and in their approaches to sex they are perverted. They could well encourage a disturbed child to enter into a perverted seduction. Moreover, their picture of man is a brutal and naturalistic one without any of the humanness that is encouraged by the humanities and creativity.

Superficial

The same is true of many new trendy approaches to sex education. As the editor of the Journal of Shotton Hall (a centre for educational research and development) says:

"Recently there has been a reaction to traditional attitudes . . . But this is mostly on a superficial level . . . there is a great advance in the efficiency and availability of contraception, new laws on abortion, a flood of nudity on the stage and in films and in photographs, books on sexual technique . . .

"I call it superficial because this movement seems to have little real concern for the contribution sex (and what surrounds it) makes towards human values, human happiness and the maintenance and improvement of a society in which many millions of people are interdependent, not only as young adults, but also as babies, old people, neighbours, politicians, workers, housewives, schoolchildren, social workers, fellow citizens."

"This 'new thinking' seems to have little understanding of what I believe is our human need for security, stability and satisfactory lasting relationships as the starting point for the whole experience of living."

Much of this has commercial pressure behind it and this is also true of the assaults being made on children by the "pop" world and magazines. For instance, the editor of one group of papers for young people told his writers that parents were no longer to be mentioned in stories as they were finished nowadays, completely "out."

This pseudo-revolution of the world of "pop," TV, magazines, films and theatres, with its extremist violence and sex, is corrupting youth fast. Yet the schools remain little islands of sanity. However, today, certain groups such as the Advisory Centre on Education, the journal Children's Rights, and the extremist "de-schooling" groups have chosen to make the school the target for their subversive attempts to urge children to disrupt school life, and to make outrageous demands.

The National Council for Civil Liberties urges children to claim their "right" to sexual intercourse at any age; the new "sex books" from Denmark urge them to assert their "right" to communal masturbation, while the so-called insurgent group, the Angry Brigade, in the pages of Children's Rights, urges them to sabotage their schools. It seems a certain section of fanatics cannot leave children alone.

This absurd and childish pseudo-revolution threatens everything that has been achieved in the schools since the war. It is part of a general corruption led by fanatical immoralists and perverted people in our society. It is to be hoped that the schools will contemptuously reject it in the name of the dignity of man, and genuine change.

INTO THE MELTING POT, EVERYONE

By SIDNEY CALLAHAN
National Catholic Reporter

I've decided that this ethnic thing is mostly a fraud. The current movement to have everyone in America emphasize and appreciate their ethnic and racial background has already crested — and revealed how little it has to offer. After black power, we've watched the rising consciousness of Jews, Italians, Slavs, Spanish and Indians.

The final irony was to read on the society page, naturally, of a society of Scottish-Americans breaking off from the rest of the WASPS (White Anglo-Saxon Protestants) in order to preserve their tartan identity. Enough is enough, already. Once you get the dominant ethnic group to realize that they are not it, the ethnic movement has finished its work.

True enough, before all this, the WASPS thought of themselves as normal Americans and everybody else as different. The different ones had to have descriptive adjectives defining them, of course. "So and So," prominent Catholic, or Jew, or the first black, or Italian-American, or some other phrase attending your name is what being a minority is all about. When it's us over there, we know who we are and don't have to be identified. Part of minority status involves never being taken for granted.

The counter strategy of minority groups has been to take these qualifying identifications and affirm them proudly. Black is beautiful, chicano power, red power, etc. Never again. This ethnic consciousness was a way of fighting back at an establishment that was not letting you in, not about to assimilate you, if you were unacceptably different.

* * *

I understand the strategy and applaud the need for self-acceptance, but I still think the movement is over and basically bankrupt. It's time to go back to that other stream of idealism in American history. Everybody who came to these shores (except the blacks) came because they didn't like something in the old country.

Mostly those somethings that were gladly left behind were barriers arising from highly developed ethnic, racial, religious or class consciousness. In America the hope was that a new beginning could be made in a new country where these old hatreds (the obverse side of old loyalties) could be past history.

In America the land of the free we had intermarriage and unprecedented mixing. Marry whom you want to and move on. Assimilation and mobility made a mockery of old ethnic ties. Even though born a "WASP," I am a mixture of French, Scotch, Welsh, English, Irish and Cherokee. Why should I identify with any of them? My grandchildren will be even more mixed and who gives a damn?

It's time we affirmed the old liberal idea that rationally chosen loyalties are more important than blood and race. Citizenship, yes; religious belief, yes; regionalism, maybe. But no to racial and ethnic mystiques. They are always focused too much on the past with its wounds and not enough on the present and future. A nod to the past, a brief appreciation of those who went before is enough. We should be more interested in building our common future.

Now that the ethnic rising has got the WASPS on the run, it's time to drop it. I think it's a good thing that Americans can still crossly ask, "So what have you done for us, lately?" Let the dead bury the dead. Let's hear a cheer for the out-of-fashion melting pot.

SAANICH TRIES A 'WIG-WAG'

Drivers who notice in their rear-view mirrors a car with continuously flashing lights would be well advised not to dismiss it as some switch-happy nut, police officials warned today.

The device is known as the "hi-beam wig-wag headlight flasher," and Saanich police department is now installing it on all police vehicles as an additional eye-catcher.

Saanich Police Chief Bob Peterson said today the gadget has been tested with great success by RCMP in other parts of the province, and he's confident it will prove as effective in Saanich.

Some extra warning signal has become necessary, Peterson said, because of the "proliferation of red-light devices on the market today," installed as standard equipment on all vehicles.

The wig-wag device simply flashes the high-beam headlight on and off, enough to catch the eye but not to cause any blinding effect.

Peterson said it will be used in conjunction with the regular warning signals, but he thinks in many emergency situations it will prove to be far more visible than the rotating red light mounted on the roof.

Backup Funds Win Approval

The provincial cabinet has approved special warrants worth $20.56 million to cover unforseen expenditures for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Warrants were approved Monday during the last cabinet meeting prior to the opening of this year's session of the legislature.

A finance department official said Wednesday the money represents only estimated over-expenditures — not the amount by which the government actually will overspend estimates for 1971-72 fiscal year.

Special warrants cannot be passed once the legislature is in session.

HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights of the special warrants include an additional $5 million for highways construction, another $5 million for social welfare, $3 million more for ferries construction, and $3.5 million for medicare.

Last session, the government estimated it would spend $125 million on welfare, $80 million on highways, $29.84 million on ferries construction and $70 million on medicare. These funds have been spent.

Other special warrants include: $1 million for road maintenance, $1 million for hydraulic surveys, $500,000 for payments to the RCMP, $500,000 for administration of justice, $365,000 for post-secondary education and training, $275,000 for employer contributions to teachers' unemployment insurance benefits and $125,000 for equipment rentals.

Job Plan Financed

The provincial cabinet has approved another special warrant, this totalling $300,000, to finance the job opportunities program.

Approval came Wednesday in cabinet orders passed Monday. The government now has authorized expenditures of $652,000 for the scheme which went into operation Nov. 1, 1971.

Figures released Tuesday show 361 persons have found work through the program, or about 4.6 per cent of those eligible for job opportunity certificates.

Honorariums Set

Honorariums of $4,000 each have been authorized for two members of the 1969 Morrow Royal Commission on liquor reform.

Notice of payment came Wednesday in cabinet orders passed Monday. Commissioners Rt. Rev. Martin Michael Johnson and Senator Ed Lawson will receive the money.

Chairman Mr. Justice William Morrow does not receive an honorarium, since these are not paid to judges.

The commission worked from Jan. 31, 1969 to March 10, 1970. Few of its reforms have been adopted by the government. Notable among suggestions the government has ignored was a call for neighborhood pubs.

The government did follow the commission's advice and lower the drinking age to 19 years and allow drinks with meals in restaurants on Sundays.

Hempsall Appointed

Leslie Coomber Hempsall has been appointed acting deputy minister of industrial development, trade and commerce.

He replaces Robert F. Renwick who left the department last November for a job with the federal civil service in Ottawa. Hempsall's appointment was announced in orders-in-council released Wednesday.

Hempsall, a former pulp and paper company executive, will receive $24,500 yearly. His appointment officially begins today, though he has been working for Industrial Development Minister Waldo Skillings since late last year.

LEARNING PROBLEMS

A program examining learning problems of children and designed for teachers, nurses, doctors and child workers will be held at Oak Bay Junior Secondary auditorium next month.

The day-long session will include two psychologists and two doctors as speakers, a round-table discussion on diagnosing and treating learning problems and a locally-produced movie on the effect of emotional disorders on classroom learning.

The program is sponsored by the B.C. Medical Association, the University of Victoria, the Victoria Medical Society and the Victoria district, Registered Nurses' Association of B.C.

It will be held Saturday, Feb. 19, from 9:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and from 2 to 3:30 p.m. There is no registration fee.

Speakers are Dr. R. M. Peet, a neurologist and chairman of the Health Planning Council of the B.C. Medical Association; child psychiatrist Dr. Philip Ney, and professors Ottfried Spreen and William Gaddess from UVic's department of psychology.

Oil Firm Sued

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — International Bird Care Centre is suing Standard Oil of California for $5.1 million damages over an oil spill a year ago in San Francisco Bay. The suit, filed in state and federal courts, demanded $175,000 for actual cleanup expenses from the collision of two Standard tankers plus $5 million in punitive damages.

Labor Council Slate Returned

Jack Groves was re-elected president of the Victoria Labor Council Wednesday night and expressed concern at shortage of finances caused mainly by several unions disaffiliating from the council.

Groves, a member of the International Woodworkers of America, has been president of the council for the last five years.

Re-elected first vice-president was John Schibli of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and elected second vice-president was Owen Williams of the Paint and Varnish Workers, succeeding Don Douglas of the Shipwrights, Joiners and Caulkers Industrial Union who did not stand for re-election.

Larry Ryan, of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, was re-elected secretary-treasurer, the only full-time paid position.

The new executive was sworn in by former council Robert Barrie, now retired.

Groves pointed to the disaffiliation of three unions — musicians, painters and hospital employees — as causing concern about finances.

But he said there are other unions outside the labor council which could belong but don't, including inside employees of B.C. Telephone, the B.C. Government Employees Union, Victoria branch, and locals of components of the Public Service Alliance of Canada.

Protest Increase

The B.C. Federation of Labor will be asked to protest "meagre increases" in workmen's compensation widow's pensions.

This was agreed to by delegates at the Victoria Labor Council Wednesday night.

It was announced Tuesday that the pensions will be increased by 4.04 per cent, a cost-of-living raise.

Council president Jack Groves said a widow with two dependants will get $245 a month.

"Take off $150 for a house and what has she got left to provide for herself and two kids" he asked.

New Quorum Rules

Victoria Labor Council should be able to meet new quorum regulations for its meetings.

The new requirement is for a minimum of 25 per cent of the accredited delegates and not 25 per cent of the potential total number of delegates, president Jack Groves told the council Wednesday night.

The previous interpretation, which would have necessitated the attendance of 50 delegates to hold a meeting, led to fears being expressed that few meetings would get started.

With 65 accredited delegates, 25 per cent would be 16¼. There were 40 delegates and two alternate delegates Wednesday night from 26 unions.

Fire Toll Heavy

Fire and smoke damage was extensive Wednesday in a noon-hour blaze which engulfed a front sitting room and blew out its windows in a two-storey frame house at the corner of Chambers and Yukon Streets.

Victoria firemen had the flames under control by 12:45 p.m., but the room full of furniture was lost and smoke damage to the rest of the house was heavy.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out.

Couvelier Gets Nominated

Provincial Liberal president Mel Couvelier was named Wednesday to contest the Oak Bay riding in the next provincial election.

His nomination was unchallenged.

Couvelier, 40, told the meeting a major plank in his election platform will be problems facing the elderly.

"A Liberal government must help these senior citizens to overcome the tragic effects of inflation without at the same time adding to the already staggering debt load presently being shouldered by us all," he said. "The constant erosion of purchasing power for those with fixed income dollars can be halted by the imposition of certain humanistic programs now.

"It is grossly unfair, for example, that school taxes continue to be levied on the homes of the part of society least able to absorb them, and the one part no longer burdening our educational system.

"They have paid their debt," he said. "We should not expect them to pay ours."

Couvelier, of 3807 Campos Crescent, is a retired businessman who for the past year has devoted full time to politics.

'UNKNOWN'

He was a candidate for the Liberals in the 1969 provincial election in Victoria riding.

Couvelier will challenge Dr. G. Scott Wallace, a former Socred now sitting as the only Tory in the lesislature.

Couvelier said he sought an early nomination because he is a relative unknown.

"Because I have always been more concerned with performance than publicity," he said, "I am relatively unknown. We will need time to overcome this fact.

"Secondly, the pivotal position of Oak Bay in recent political history cannot be ignored. A major resurgence of our Liberal team will be much harder to accomplish without this seat. It has been Liberal in the recent past. It must be Liberal once more in the future."

Oak Bay riding has taken on "a tremendous responsibility, because this is the place where the Liberal party reasserts itself," provincial leader Dr. Pat McGeer told the meeting.

In the riding, he said, the Liberals will "end the hopes of the Conservatives for a long, long time."

"Right here in Oak Bay tonight we start the building of a new Liberal government" for British Columbia, McGeer continued.

The nominating meeting was also attended by Allan Williams, MLA and Liberal caucus leader.

Executive Named

Mrs. Lee Jameson, wife of dentist and school trustee Dr. Carron Jameson, Wednesday night was elected president of the Oak Bay Liberal Association by acclamation.

Mrs. Jameson, mother of four daughters, is also English-speaking vice-president of the Federal Women's Liberal Association and president of Victoria's Lady Laurier Association.

The Oak Bay Liberals also elected Joe Bourque, first vice-president; Robert Hutchison, second vice-president; Mrs. June Branson, secretary; Douglas Macfarlane, treasurer; Garry Tindall, policy chairman, and Gerry Connor, youth vice-president.

The organization has a current membership of 78.

Tenant Act for Dorms? Query Rattles Senate

University of Victoria student senators Derry McDonell and Bob Higinbotham went to bat for students in the UVic residences Wednesday night and ran into a procedural wrangle that occupied senate for the best part of an hour.

McDonell presented a notice of motion to the meeting so that senate could discuss at its next meeting the applicability of the B.C. Landlord and Tenant Act in the university residences.

However, senate chairman Bruce Partridge made a ruling denying the notice of motion for McDonell, sending the body into a complex legalistic wrangle from which there appeared no escape.

It was finally decided that Partridge would substitute a ruling allowing McDonell's notice of motion only if the university solicitor advised that the question of residents' problems comes within senate's jurisdiction.

'HYPOCRITICAL' RULES

McDonell said regulations which students in residence must obey are "hypocritical and unjust" and "would land the university in court if it were a regular landlord."

He said the present system is beneficial only to the ultra-conservative type of student.

Dr. William Gordon pointed out that a legal opinion from the university solicitor in July, 1970, stated that the Landlord and Tenant Act does not apply to university residences.

He suggested that the issue of problems within the university residences be taken up with those who are responsible for the college system on the campus.

MORE TALKS LIKELY

After Canon Hilary Butler suggested that the entire discussion was out of order, Partridge made the ruling denying McDonell's notice of motion.

McDonell immediately challenged the ruling, saying his intention was merely to make a notice of motion, not to seek a decision from senate on the applicability of the Landlord and Tenant Act. Further discussions on the subject could take place at the next meeting, after further arguments were prepared and a legal opinion obtained, he said.

After considerable discussion, Partridge substituted the ruling that the notice of motion would be allowed if the solicitor deemed the matter within senate's jurisdiction.

Higinbotham, who said he supported McDonell's stand, said he would meet with the solicitor on the matter.

Acting Dean Named

Dr. David J. Chabassol has been named acting dean of the faculty of education at the University of Victoria, president pro tem Dr. Hugh Farquhar announced Wednesday night.

Chabassol, a professor in the education faculty, was appointed by the university board of governors Monday. He will serve in the position from Feb. 1 to June 30.

The position had previously been held by Farquhar, who takes over the presidency of the university from resigning president Bruce Partridge Jan. 31.

Chabassol, Farquhar said, was recommended for the position by a faculty committee.

Academic Veep Soon

University of Victoria president pro tem Dr. Hugh Farquhar told the Uvic senate Wednesday night the position of academic vice-president of the university will be filled shortly.

Farquhar mentioned no names but said he hopes that "very shortly someone will be appointed to some position" in the general area of academic vice-president.

UVic has been without a permanent academic vice-president for several years.

"I feel a very great need for action in this area," Farquhar said. "There is some possibility that action will be taken before the subject comes up again for discussion by senate."

Farquhar indicated that the appointment would be on an acting or pro tem basis.

'AMAZING' JAIL

VANCOUVER (CP) — Judge J. J. Anderson of provincial court was not impressed Wednesday with Stephen Pellet's excuse for skipping bail on a purse-snatching charge—he was being plied with wine and women in a Mexican jail.

Pellet, 20, told the judge he travelled to Mexico after being charged with purse-snatching here, pleading guilty, and being released on bail.

He flashed his money in a bar, was arrested and thrown into jail in Juarez, Mexico, and was held until he spent all his money, he said.

Everything was cheap and try as he might he could not get rid of his money fast enough to make his Sept. 3 court appearance, he said. He had women visit him at $7 a night, ordered liquor, and had food sent from a restaurant in El Paso, Tex.

Defence counsel suggested that Pellet should not be blamed for the low standard of the Juarez jail.

"This is not low, this is amazing," said Judge Anderson, before sentencing Pellet to two years in jail.

Audience Reaction Important to Sheila

EDMONTON (CP) — Sheila Haney wishes audiences were not self-conscious and would tell actors they liked them.

"That's what we do it for, you know," she said in an interview between appearances in the Citadel Theatre's production of Don't Listen Ladies.

"The last time I was here, two little old ladies came up to me after a performance in Elizabeth, The Queen and said how many"—took her training as an actress at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London during the Second World War.

"I hope they're back again—and that they come see me backstage again."

"They love to be told you enjoy them. It's too bad audiences are so shy."

Miss Haney, who has been acting "for years—I won't say

ALSO WANTS TO ACT

Now she has a daughter who is interested in acting and would like to follow in those footsteps to London when she finishes high school.

"As long as she enjoys it and is prepared for all the hard work, it's all right with us."

But two sons, one who now is playing professional hockey in Europe and another who is a newsphoto editor, haven't encouraged their sister.

"She just tells them that one of these days they'll have to pay to see her act."

Miss Haney's desire to enter the theatre wasn't so warmly received by her family—her parents were against it.

"I'd had a great-aunt—my grandfather's sister—who had gone on the stage with Mrs. Patrick Campbell's company. Nobody talked to her, or even about her!"

PREFERS STAGE

However, her grandmother supported her in her desire to go to the academy, and one of her favorite memories is meeting George Bernard Shaw who said, "Good morning, Miss."

She has acted on television, on radio and in movies as well as on the stage, but she prefers the stage and the live audiences.

Her most recent work on television was as a guest performer in the Canadian series, The Trouble with Tracy—,or which she has little praise.

"I'm not surprised it went off. It was terrible. And I don't mind if you say so."

She found it interesting to work with Steve Weston, who had the male starring role.

"I directed him in his first stage role—he played a bootblack when we were living in Welland, Ont."

As well as her role in Macbeth, she also had parts in The Duchess of Malfi and Much Ado About Nothing.

"I enjoy comedy roles. I'm glad to be doing this part here. With comedy, it's the timing that's so important."

And she hopes the audience knows, too, and that they come and say so.

Red Cross Meeting

Colin Evans, Vancouver, assistant commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society's B.C.-Yukon division, will describe his visits to camps for East Pakistan refugees at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Red Cross House.

Evans, who spent three months visiting camps in India, will be guest speaker at the Victoria district's annual meeting.

Central Share Depository Plan Near

TORONTO (CP) — A proposal for a centralized depository system of securities will be completed by April, R. A. Wisener, chairman of the Canadian Depository for Securities, said today.

Mr. Wisener said progress has been slow in developing a depository to eliminate the physical transfer of shares.

However, he said, a subcommittee of his organization's board of directors has been appointed to draw up a proposal that would outline "the many impacts which the depository system will have upon the financial community and some measure of the financial effects."

The depository, started in 1969, is sponsored by Canada's four major stock exchanges, banks, mutual fund companies and securities dealers.

The sponsors have put up $1.25 million to finance the system which would transfer by computer the ownership of securities of public companies and eliminate physical movement of stock certificates.

WILL BE PRESIDENT

Mr. Wisener, president of Robert Wisener and Partners, a Toronto investment firm said he will assume the office of president of the depository, which was vacated by the resignation of Ivor Murray.

He said the executive role of president has been assumed by W. L. Somerville, chairman of the depository's operations committee and executive vice-president of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Mr. Wisener also announced the apointment of M. J. Clennett, deputy general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada and chairman of the research and development committee of the Canadian Bankers' Association to the depository's board of directors.

He replaces R. C. Patterson, as the representatives of the banker's association.

J. H. Harrison, treasurer of the Sun Life Co. of Canada, has replaced E. H. Crawford, president of Canada Life Insurance Co. as the representative of the Canadian Life Insurance Association on the board, Mr. Wisener said.

Alcan Reduces Dividend

MONTREAL (CP) — Alcan Aluminium Ltd. Wednesday declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents U.S. a share on common shares, five cents lower than the amount paid in each of the previous three quarters of 1971.

The dividend is payable March 3, 1972, to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 3, 1972.

In announcing the reduced dividend, the company said:

"Over the years, Alcan's dividends have closely followed the trend of earnings, but last year Alcan paid out a somewhat higher proportion of earnings than in recent years.

"In view of the probable results for the fourth quarter of 1971 . . . which are expected to be somewhat lower than in the three previous quarters, and the likelihood that earnings will not improve in the early months of 1972, the directors have decided to make this adjustment."

Denison

Denison Mines Ltd. of Toronto reports 1971 profit increased to $10 million ($2.28 a share) from $8 million ($1.82) in the previous year.

The company's uranium division accounted for 78.9 per cent of the gain and its oil and gas division for 21.1 per cent. Uranium oxide production at 4.2 million pounds was the highest since 1963.

The profit figures include $3.36 million in oil and gas income in 1971 and $2.45 million in 1970. Profit also includes an unstated net gain on sale of securities.

Investment revenue totalled $1,126 in 1971 and $1.27 million in the previous year.

Tube-Lines

Tube Investments, through its subsidiary Raleigh Industries, is to buy Lines Brothers (Canada) for approximately $600,000 depending on the company's audited figures.

Joint liquidators of Lines Brothers Ltd. — the U.K. "Tri-Ang" toys and baby carriages group — intended to accept Tube's offer in respect of Lines Brothers' 91 per cent holding of the Canadian company's ordinary shares and all the preference shares.

Tube intends to lend the company enough to pay its creditors in full, including debts to Lines Brothers in the U.K.

Ashland

Ashland Oil Canada Ltd. earned $2.6 million (20 cents a share) during the three months ended Dec. 31, up from $1.8 million (14 cents) in the period last year.

Cash flow was $4.7 million (36 cents) compared with $3.5 million (27 cents).

Crude oil production increased by 12.1 per cent.

Imp. Metals

An option to develop its Princeton area holdings over the next 10 years has been granted by Imperial Metals and Power Ltd. to Dominion Foundries and Steel Ltd.

Cost of bringing the coal and magnetite deposits to production has been estimated at $40 million. Both ore bodies are suitable for open pit mining.

Bluewater

Reduced production from its Springon well in Wyoming is blamed for a $14,430 loss in the six months to Oct. 31, reports Bluewater Oil and Gas Ltd., of Calgary.

Waterflood of the field is expected to raise output once more, and revenue from other Sweetwater County wells soon will add to income, said president Clifford P. Hickok.

Operating income fell from $72,313 to $42,800. Profit a year ago was $9,222 and cash flow $31,063 compared with $3,992 in the more recent period.

Not included in the statement was $78,420 prepayment on future gas sales out of the Sweetwater field, which will produce $10,000 a month gross when piped.

Ocean

Directors of Ocean Cement and Supplies Ltd. have voted to wind up the affairs of the company following 98 per cent of minority shares being tendered to Genstar Ltd. Closing the books will be accomplished as soon as possible.

Genstar's $29 offer for the outstanding minority stock — with the alternative of $32 principal value in ashare exchange — was taken up by all but the holders of 21,000 shares.

These latter stockholders are now entitled to an interim payment from Ocean Cement in the amount of $25.92 a share, with the balance of $3.08 due upon dissolution of the company.

BROKERAGE FIRM CHARGED

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal brokerage firm of Holland, Andrews, Perrier and Co. Ltd. has been charged with infractions of Canadian Stock Exchange rules following completion of an investigation, Charles Neapole, exchange president, said Wednesday night.

Neapole, also president of the Montreal Stock Exchange, said in an interview that the company had been notified of the charges by letter.

"They acknowledged our letter and a hearing will be set up in the near future to deal with this matter," he said.

"If they are found guilty of this infraction, they will probably be fined."

Neapole said the company could appeal to the Quebec Securities Commission if found guilty at the stock exchange hearing.

Details of the charges have not been disclosed publicly and no date has been set for a hearing which will be held at a private meeting of the CSE management board.

Habs Win on Leaf Coaching Sin; Canucks Put Penguins to Flight

By Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs played well enough to earn a tie, but an exchange of coaching tactics in the waning moments cost them their game with Montreal Canadiens.

Rookie goaltender Gilles Meloche played well enough to earn at least a tie in Chicago against the Black Hawks but was faced with too much Bobby Hull.

As a result, the Canadiens turned their tactical advantage into a 1-0 National Hockey League win with two seconds remaining in the game and the Black Hawks rode Hull's 32nd and 33rd goals of the year to a 2-0 win over California's Golden Seals.

Elsewhere Vancouver Canucks rifled five third-period goals en route to a 6-1 win over Pittsburgh Penguins, defenceman Doug Mohns had a hand in all the Minnesota scores as the North Stars throttled Detroit Red Wings 4-1, and New York Rangers blasted Los Angeles Kings 5-1 with a three-goal second period.

FORCE FACEOFF

With six seconds remaining in a scoreless game at Montreal, the Leafs forced a faceoff to the right of Toronto goaltender Bernie Parent by icing the puck.

Rather than go with the odds that his more experienced centres, Dave Keon and Norm Ullman, had the best opportunity to get control of the puck, Toronto coach John McLellan stuck with Jim Harrison whose line was on at the time.

Canadiens' Scotty Bowman went to his best faceoff man, captain Henri Richard, and the manoeuvre paid off. Harrison, who excels in the heavy traffic, got the faceoff but failed to control the puck.

Richard, in his tenacious fashion, corralled it near the boards then swept it across to teammate Pete Mahovlich, parked in the slot in front of Parent. The string-bean Montrealer appeared to be tied up by Leaf defenceman Brad Selwood but kept swing away until the puck popped into the Toronto goal.

It ended an outstanding goaltending display by Parent and his Montreal counterpart, Ken Dryden, who was playing his first game since returning from a back injury suffered against the Leafs in their last visit to the Forum, 12 games ago.

SLAP SHOT

Hull's scores in Chicago came one minute and 48 seconds apart in two different periods, but it was enough to offset the otherwise flawless effort by California's Meloche.

One of Hull's goals came on a blistering 60-foot slap shot and the other from close-in.

Chicago coach Billy Reay said the outcome might have been different had not Meloche misplayed Hull's blueline drive at 18:39 of the second period that appeared to be directed into the Seals' net by the goaltender.

"Meloche sort of pulled it around," said Hull, "He may have been a bit off balance lunging for the puck and let it fall out of his glove.

It was a scrambly game at Pittsburgh until the Canucks ignited and the Penguins exploded.

FOUR MAJORS

Andre Boudrias' score 39 seconds into the last period broke a 1-1 deadlock and by the 4:23 mark team-mates Wayne Maki, Dale Tallon and Ted Taylor followed his example.

By the 10:53 mark the Penguins decided to take their frustrations out elsewhere and Bryan Watson and John Stewart took on Vancouver's Orland Kurtenbach and John Schella.

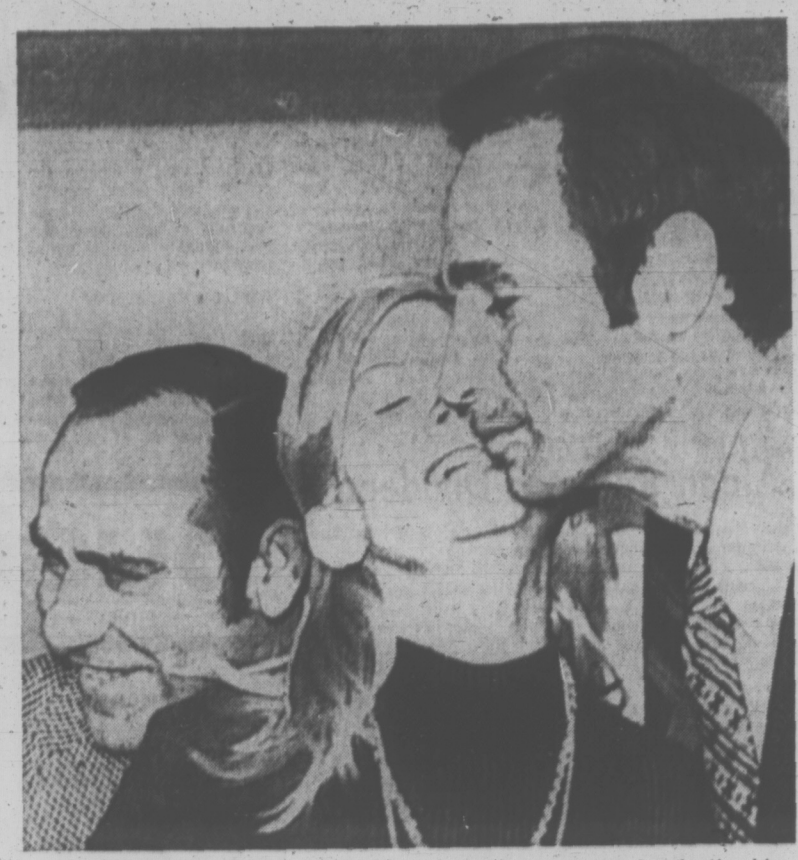
The league's hottest shooter in the last month, Detroit's Mickey Redmond, fired his 26th of the season and 19th in 16 games. But the score, early in the third period, came with Minnesota holding a 3-0 lead.



HAPPINESS was theme at New York Wednesday when Yogi Berra (left) and Sandy Koufax were announced as new members of Baseball Hall of Fame. Mrs. Yogi demonstrates her jubilation by planting kiss on cheek of Koufax. Also elected to hall, but not present at announcement ceremony, was Early Wynn, who remained at his home in Florida.

Proper Breathing Helps In Sports of All Sorts

Now that Dallas has won the Super-Dull Super Bowl, almost a mis-match, and president Nixon is a loser along with the Miami Dolphins, perhaps there are other things in life, such as: The art of breathing is very important in sports of all sorts, and perhaps, even a surprise!

Oh, sure, you say. A guy's got to have his "wind" to play basketball. He has to control his breathing in running. In swimming, it's an entirely different technique. In football, or soccer, conditioning means a lot, sometimes almost everything. It all has to do with breathing. Even jogging. Everybody knows that.

Take a man running 100 yards for example. He hasn't time to breathe. He goes all out for the distance, and is out of breath at the finish. The distance man has another problem. He must conserve some energy until the last possible moment, then make his charge.

You've seen runners literally "gasping" for air when the race is over. And it's usually the runner who has that little something left at the finish who is the winner. "Stamina" it's called.

Nonsense. It's proper breathing, and if many athletes don't think about it in that regard, they should.

Racing Drivers Take Special Care

Take swimmers. They do. They have to. If they don't, they get a mouthful of water. Have you ever stood at one of those underwater windows and watched a swimmer in action? Or even from poolside, studied their method of breathing. They gulp air through their mouth, and its done in rhythm with the stroke.

It's basic, but it does take training. Because a swimmer's form should not be upset by any extra or unnecessary body gyration. And the smoothest breathers are often the best swimmers.

But what's this?

Automobile racing drivers have to take special care with their breathing, too! Balderdash, you say. Think again.

It's a well-known fact (sometimes of life or death) that when a racing driver hits a corner at 100 mph plus, things happen. But it may be a lesser-known article of faith in the racing fraternity that you had better be ready for that corner, baby.

Because, in a turn it can be very difficult to breathe, and that old expression, "hold your breath, here we go" has much more truth to it than fiction.

Dave Cooper, who has been driving cars here for a longer period of time than almost anyone, and who is at Riverside, Calif., this week attempting to qualify for the Winston Western, a 500-mile road race, agreed: "breathing can be everything."

Knowing When to Breathe Is Vital

When discussing the preparation a driver should go through for a race, or even for a season of racing, Dave said:

"Conditioning counts. Definitely. It is most important. I do exercises, sit-ups, push-ups, use the Charles Atlas set to strengthen my arms, and shoulders, squeeze the wrist grip, and generally try to keep fit, all the year round.

"It's the arms, hands and shoulders that take the strain in a race, especially a long race. And then you must figure out your breathing."

"Breathing?" a listener questioned.

"Oh, yes, he declared. "A race driver has to learn to breathe on the straightaways, and hold his breath in the turns. If you don't you could be in trouble. Some turns are so tight at high speeds that it's almost impossible to catch your breath. That's why you should develop a proper breathing routine. Once you do, it becomes more or less automatic."

He also suggested that is why some drivers do better on some tracks than others. "They know the track, when to breathe, and when not to try."

If it was an interesting revelation to a watcher, Dave had another message of equal importance/for anyone interested in becoming a race driver.

"Not being able to breathe properly is why heavy smokers don't make good race drivers ... and also heavy drinkers," he added significantly.

Meanwhile, if Dave is "holding his breath" down at Riverside, it's only on the corners, or until he qualifies, hopefully, for the "500."

He tries today.

BETSY WON'T WAIT FOR NEXT OLYMPICS

BETSY CLIFFORD

OTTAWA (CP) — Betsy Clifford retired from competitive skiing Wednesday without realizing her dream of winning an Olympic gold medal.

The 18-year-old Miss Clifford said that she had planned to drop out of the sport at the end of this season.

"So I might as well do it now," she said.

Winner of a gold medal in world skiing in 1970 and in the news again last season when she left the national team after a dispute with the coaching staff, Miss Clifford was believed to be Canada's best hope for Olympic ski honors this year.

That hope was erased last weekend when she fractured both heels in a practice downhill run in Switzerland.

She said she had no intention of waiting another four years for the next Olympic games.

Sandy Is Youngest To Earn Hall Niche

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax thought his shortened career might dissuade supporters, but when he became the youngest player ever elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame Wednesday it was with a record harvest of votes.

Yogi Berra, former catcher for the New York Yankees, and 300-game winner Early Wynn joined the 36-year-old former Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher in gaining a niche in the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine. It is the first multiple election of players since 1955.

Koufax, whose blazing fastball produced four no-hitters, including a perfect game, and a single-season record of 382 strikeouts, received 344 votes —the most in the 40-year history of the balloting by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Berra received 339 votes and Wynn 301, with 297 needed for election. Players also had to be named on at least three-quarters of the record 396 ballots cast.

Ralph Kiner finished fourth, 62 votes short. Rounding out the top 10 were Gil Hodges, Johnny Mize, Enos Slaughter, Peewee Reese, Marty Marion and Bob Lemon.

Koufax spent 12 years in the majors, but only in the last six was he Hall of Fame material. In his last four years, from 1963 to 1966, he posted records of 25-5, 19-5, 26-8 and 27-9 with earned-run average of 1.88, 1.71, 2.04 and 1.73.

Berra, gaining election in his second year of eligibility, admitted the tension had built at his home prior to the announcement, but Wynn seemed to take it in stride after failing to make it for three years.

"Naturally, I'm happy and so is my wife," said Wynn, who was picking tomatoes at his Nokomie, Fla., home when notified.

"I don't think I am as thrilled as I would have been if I had made it the first time. I would have liked to have joined Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Walter Johnson as players who gained the honor the first year they were eligible."

Besides those three and now Koufax, others elected their first year of eligibility were Jackie Robinson, Bob Feller, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner and Christy Mathewson.

Wynn, who pitched for Washington, Cleveland and Chicago in a career spanning a record 23 years, had a 300-244 record. He is one of only 14 pitchers to win 300 games.

Berra, who hit 358 home runs, spent his entire playing career with the Yankees, batting .285. He also managed the Yankees for one season.

Forces Aid Athletes For Trip to Olympics

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Armed Forces have stepped in to help Canada's 51-athlete delegation to the Winter Olympics get to Sapporo, Japan, on time.

The athletes, scattered throughout the country, were scheduled to leave Vancouver by a commercial airliner flight Saturday. However, the strike by 1600 air traffic controllers has grounded all commercial flights in Canada, leaving athletes stranded.

Frank Shaughnessy of Montreal, chef de mission of the Canadian team, along with Capt. Jim Murray of the armed forces, has been working feverishly to assemble the Canadians and prepare for the flight to Japan.

They have chosen Comox, a Canadian Forces Base on Vancouver Island, as the departure point. The team will leave Comox on a Boeing-707 Saturday.

Athletes and officials from Eastern Canada will be flown by service aircraft to Comox today from Trenton, Ont. Others in the Edmonton area will depart from there, but a few from the Winnipeg area are the main concern.

"We're going to have to bus them to Minneapolis and fly them to Seattle," Shaughnessy said. "They'll make their way to Vancouver and then to Comox."

He said several athletes from the Winnipeg area had found it impossible to get on trains destined for the West Coast.

Capt. Murray, on loan to the Canadian Olympic Association, has undertaken a youth education program in elementary and high schools throughout the country.

He is also available to assist as liaison in emergencies such as the one now faced by the Olympic team.

Granatelli Pays Plenty For Petty Operation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Andy Granatelli and Richard Petty joined forces Wednesday in a stock-car racing deal that probably cost Granatelli at least $1 million.

Granatelli, a top dealer in auto racing for 30 years, announced in Los Angeles that he has purchased the Petty racing operation for the 1972 season, effective with Sunday's running of the Winston Western 500 at nearby Riverside International Raceway.

The deal not only includes Petty's hot Plymouth but the Dodge of Buddy Baker, No. 3 money winner on the NASCAR Grand National circuit last year behind Petty and second-place Bobby Allison.

Petty, 34, won 21 Grand Nationals last year, capped his third driving title in a 13-year career and earned a record $333,148 in prize, championship and accessory money.

Baker, 30, son of still-active driver Bud Baker, handled the No. 2 car in Petty's operation and collected $116,942, his best season ever.

The Petty and Baker cars were the only factory-backed machines in the circuit in 1971. But at season's end, Chrysler announced it was pulling out direct participation in the sport, leaving the Petty organization without a major sponsor.

Granatelli, who has campaigned cars on the United States Auto Club Championship circuit either as driver or owner for 25 years, would not say what the Petty deal cost him.

But one source close to the sport estimated that he "laid out a bundle, and I mean somewhere around $1 million."

Claremont Gains Second-Place Tie

Claremont, provincial champion for the past two years, has been struggling to stay among the leaders this season in the Victoria Senior High School Girls' Basketball League.

However Wednesday afternoon, Claremont stepped into a three-way tie with Oak Bay and Mt. Douglas in second place, just two points shy of leading Belmont, by thumping visiting Reynolds 34-25.

THIRD IN ROW

Claremont has played one more game than two of the leading clubs and two more than surging Mt. Douglas, which made it three wins in a row topping Victoria 46-31.

Douglas, clinging to a 19-17 lead at the half, increased the lead to 14, 36-22, in the third quarter behind the spirited play of Mairi-Anne Longmore, who hooped 14 points, and Jill Smith who hit for 13.

Donna Blackstock led Victoria with 12 points.

East Stars Surprise West

VANCOUVER — Despite being outshot more than two to one, the Eastern all-stars emerged with a 4-2 upset triumph over the Western stars in the annual Western Canada Hockey League all-star game before 5,783 fans at Pacific Coliseum.

The Eastern stars were paced by two members of the Brandon Wheat Kings — Robbie Neale, who scored two goals, one into an empty net with two seconds remaining, and Brandon captain Ron Chipperfield, who opened the scoring in the first period.

Alec Kogler of New Westminster Bruins scored the East's other goal midway through the third period. The tally broke a 2-2 deadlock and proved to be the winner.

Ron Homenuke and Brian Walker of Calgary Centennials scored both goals for the favored West, which trailed 2-1 after two periods.

The first period was highlighted by the performance of Regina Pat Bernie Germaine in the East nets, as the West outshot the East, 13-5. Germaine took away what seemed to be sure goals from Darcy Rota of Edmonton Oil Kings and Lorne Henning of New Westminster.

Chipperfield game the East a 1-0 lead in the first period but Homenuke tied the score with a power-play goal 44 seconds before the period ended.

Germaine (E)	12	6
Richardson (E)	—	5	12	—35

FEDORAK IN NETS

In the second period, both teams changed goaltenders with Darryl Fedorak of Victoria Cougars replacing John Davidson of Calgary for the West and Terry Richardson of New Westminster replacing Germaine.

Neale gave the East a 2-1 edge when he stole the puck from defenceman Bob Stumf of New Westminster and beat Fedorak from close range.

Walker tied the count in the third period only to have Kogler, who played for Swift Current Broncos until a recent trade, used a defenceman as a screen to beat Fedorak with a high wrist shot.

The strike by air traffic controllers prevented several East players from making the game. They were replaced by West players — including Garry Donaldson of the Cougars.

Three New Westminster players and Bill Ennos of the Vancouver Nats also bolstered the East when three Flin Flon players and two Saskatoon players couldn't make travel arrangements and goalkeeper Dave McClelland of Brandon missed the game with the flu.

Strong Staff Good Friend Of Stream-Wading Anglers

As my partner floated down the river towards me last Sunday, I braced my feet in the near chest-deep water, grabbed him by the coat and lifted him thereby permitting his fee to gain a purchase in the river-bottom gravel. The Big Qualicum River was not running fast but a slippery bottom and a greater-than-expected water depth had created a rather hazardous crossing.

Drying out on the shore later, I recalled a similar crossing of the Salmon River last winter. We had been awakened on a number of occasions by a heavy rain beating a tatto on the roof of the camper. In the morning however, we were pleasantly surprised to find the river had risen only a few inches. We crossed the river in thigh-high water at daylight and began fishing downstream.

Near noon we returned to the crossing only to find that the night rainfall, while not noticeable at daybreak, had caused a slow but steady rise in the river to the point where the morning's crossing now appeared almost impossible. Wading together, however, we forced our way across the river, bobbing in chest-high water we let the current take us down and diagonally across the river. Twice I had to grab my partner who, being 50 pounds lighter than I was swept off his feet by the current.

The river that day had given us a number of clues, but in the excitement of fishing we neglected to notice these warnings.

We should have been aware that the heavy rainfall would not be apparent in the lower reaches where we were fishing until the run-off from the watershed began to build. The clue to this was the slight rise at daybreak, followed by floating twigs and then the endless stream of twigs, sticks and other floating material. The final clue should have been the changes in coloring of the water as the day increased, from a light green-to grey and then to light coffee-cream color.

Small streams on Vancouver Island have few dangers for the wading angler, but even on these there are many changes along their courses which create wading hazards.

Larger rivers like the Cowichan, the San Juan, the Nanaimo, the Puntledge, the Campbell, the Gold and the salmon are wadable under certain low-water conditions. However, a great deal of experience on smaller rivers should preceed any wading on these large streams.

For the stream angler who wishes to be continually successful, wading is a vital aspect of his sport. To wade it is necessary that chest waders be used. There is nothing more frustrating to an angler than to know there are fish in a certain pool but to be unable to wade to position from which that pool should be fished.

Of great importance to the wading angler is the sole he has for his boots. Various commercial sandles and cleats are available, but by far the most slip-free sole is that made from indoor-outdoor carpeting material. Fastened with contact cement, these felt soles are invaluable.

Experience has taught me a number of things which I have found useful when I wish to cross a stream.

Prior to crossing, I will look for a steady flow usually at the tail-end of a pool. The water may be somewhat deeper here than over the following ripple area, but the flow will be constant, slower and the bottom is visible. The white water of the ripples, while shallower, may have hidden obstacles and an inconsistent current which make it much more difficult to keep a firm footing.

Almost without exception I will find a strong staff to give me a third pivot while I am wading. When I cross, I will start upstream from a point on the far bank where I wish to step out. This way I am crossing the stream diagonally to allow the river to assist me across. This diagonal crossing can be vital if you are in a deep run for you can take deep steps to bob across with the current.

In the water I always take a crouch position with my legs spread and almost crab across the current. Short steps in this position keep your centre of balance low allowing for a greater purchase on the slippery gravel bottom.

If I have a partner we will cross with a firm grip on each others shoulders. Should one loose his footing, the other can lift him until he has a purchase once again.

Adventure and success await the wading angler. However, caution, intuition and a strong wading staff should always be your companions.

BOWLER OF WEEK

Sizzling series of 942 has earned men's fivepin award for Tom Buckham in Times Bowler-of-the-Week competition. Rolling in B.C. Government League at Capital City Bowladrome in 13th week of ninth annual contest, Buckham fired games of 329, 225 and 378 to top male fivepinners and collect weekly award that qualifies him for Bowler-of-the-Year rolloffs in April.

Birds Replace Bears On Viking Hockey List

The strike by air traffic controllers has grounded teams in the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Association, forcing the University of Victoria hockey Vikings to postpone their scheduled weekend hockey dates in Edmonton with the University of Alberta Golden Bears.

An international volleyball tournament at the University of Calgary this weekend involving the Vikings and Vikettes was cancelled.

Mike Elcock, athletic director at UVic, announced Wednesday that the Vikings' schedule has been juggled. Hence, the powerful UBC Thunderbirds will be in town for games Saturday (1:30 p.m.) and Sunday (2 p.m.) at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

UBC, currently ranked number two in Canada but two points behind the first-place Bears in the Far West Division, were scheduled to play here Feb. 18 and 19 — now the dates for the Viking trip to Edmonton.

Meanwhile Calgary Dinosaurs will be hoping for a sweep with the Bears, which would give the Alberta rivals identical records when they meet in other rearranged games this weekend.

The strike doesn't affect the basketball Vikings and Vikettes, both without league games this weekend. The Vikettes, however, are playing host to Vancouver City College this weekend for two exhibition games at UVic gymnasium, Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday at 12 noon.

UVic Jayvees meet Vancouver Juniors in two exhibition men's basketball games this weekend also at UVic gym. Saturday's game goes at 8 p.m. and Sunday's tilt is at 2 p.m.

The Vancouver IGA team will give Victoria fans a sneak preview of the provincial finals which will involve both teams and Victoria Metropolitans.

The two Victoria clubs meet in a best-of-three series beginning Feb. 11 with the winners taking on IGA in another three-game series the following weekend. The winner represents B.C. in the Canadian championships in Calgary.

UVic's ski team, coached by Ken Greene, travels to Crystal Mountain in Mt. Rainier Park, Washington, for the Pacific Northwest Intercollegiate meet Saturday and Sunday.

Runners from UVic are competing in the fourth leg of the five-race B.C. Cross-Country League schedule Saturday at UBC.

Meanwhile in local leagues, UVic teams play four rugby games and two field hockey games, weather permitting.

MUST WE ALSO PUT HORSES ON WELFARE?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Jockey Club has withdrawn financial support from the B.C. Thoroughbred Breeders' Society.

Jack Diamond, co-president of the Jockey Club, says the decision was taken after a recent government decision to pay its bonus to B.C.-breds only. The government grants a bonus based on 1 per cent of the wagering.

For the past two years, the Jockey Club grant to breeders has been based on one-tenth of 1 per cent of the wagering, which was more than $33 million last year.

The money was used to pay a premium to the breeders, based on 5 percent of the net win monies.

The club says the new government purses structure will cause a reduction in the calibre of racing and a drop in wagering.

Diamond said the government's proposal to distribute its bonus in equal amounts among stake horses and cheap horses does nothing but "subsidize mediocrity."

"A horse shouldn't be rewarded just because he's born in B.C. He should prove himself and then be rewarded. Do we have to put horses on welfare, too?" he said.

Three Overtime Tallies By Manchester United

LONDON (CP) — Manchester United scored three goals in overtime Wednesday night to defeat Southampton, 4-1, in an English Football Association Cup third-round soccer replay.

Manchester United, English League First-Division leader, trailed 1-0, at half time on a goal by Southampton's Mike Channon. George Best evened the score in the 68th minute.

Blythe Spartans, last surviving amateur club in the FA Cup, was eliminated by a 3-1 loss to Reading.

The amateurs, who had downed two professional clubs in early rounds, held Fourth-Division Reading to a 2-2 draw Saturday, but crumbled in the third-round replay.

Leicester scored a third-round 2-0 upset over Wolverhampton Wanderers. John Varrington and Len Glover scored the goals in the replay. The teams tied, 1-1, Saturday.

Travel Problem Appears Big Barrier in Boxla Bid

Word on the Island entry, either way, will be announced at B.C. Lacrosse Association meetings in Victoria January 29th and 30th Keith McEachern, president of the Pacific Junior A League, said in New Westminster.

A Victoria group headed by John McDonald filed an official application last week and three members went to New Westminster for talks with McEachern and the circuit's four general managers.

VERY GOOD CHANCE

"Yes they have a very good chance, there are just a few technicalities to work out," McEachern said after a meeting with Bill Munroe and Murray Holmes, coach and general manager of Victoria McDonald's, 1971 junior B Canadian chmapionship team, and Jerry Roberts of Esquimalt.

"We put forth a proposal which they (junior A official) liked and seemed interested in," said Holmes.

He said one of two problems has since been solved as the group worked out a tentative contract and dates for Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Memorial Arena.

The biggest problem seems to be transportation and McEachern noted it may cost almost $5,000 for travel to and from the Island for the year. However, Holmes says they have a scheme which ties in with the schedule of Victoria Shamrocks in the Western Lacrosse Association for the use of Shamrock chartered planes by visiting junior teams.

Visiting teams would board the Shamrock plane in Vancouver, where the flight originates, as it leaves to pick up the senior team for its mainland games.

Then the junior teams would be at Victoria Airport for the return trip when the Shamrocks return home.

If the transportation hurdle is overcome, McEachern has little doubt that Victoria would be a strong contender.

DUNCAN — Outgoing Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of commerce president Ken Paskin Wednesday challenged the business community to get behind and support the chamber.

"If we are going to progress, as chambers throughout the province are, then the businessmen of the area would do well to take a look to see what benefit they could derive from the chamber," Paskin told the slim audience of 19 at the chambers annual meeting. There are 186 members.

Although the machinery is set up through the organization for businessmen to become involved, Paskin said no one is doing anything "to make ourselves heard."

GET INVOLVED

To protest about legislation and to become involved "is the main role the chamber can play. To do this it takes participation by the membership as a whole and they must be prepared to pay so we can have an active and worthwhile chamber."

Paskin said the chamber still is in a difficult financial position.

The chamber is $2,600 in debt, as it was last year, but Paskin said at least in 1971 it has been able to hold its own and has not fallen any further into debt as it has in previous years.

Members passed a resolution to increase dues which Paskin said would bring in an additional $1,500.

Paskin emphasized that even with the increase Duncan's dues are still below the provincial average and among the lowest on Vancouver Island.

The increased dues are from $6 to $15 for individuals; $12.50 to $20 for business which employs only owners; $18.50 to $30 for businesses with two to five employess; $43.50 to $50 for firms with 10 to 19 employees. Companies with 70 or more workers will still pay $125.

Paskin said he looks back on the past year "with mixed feelings."

"I have gained a lot of satisfaction in some of the achievements," he added, "but am not too happy with the financial position and lack of support."

Most progress was internal which Paskin termed as "perhaps quiet."

He pointed out that the executive set up a new bookkeeping and billing system and changed the format of the newsletter so that it can be printed in the chamber office and issued more than just monthly.

Operation of the tourist bureau, which Paskin claims drains most of the organizations funds, was more successful during the past year due to a First Citizen's grant received from the provincial government when the chamber employed Indian students.

MULLINS ELECTED

Other new executive members: Dick Gill, vice president; Ken Paskin, past president; Tom Oldfield, secretary-treasurer; and executive council members Jim Lambeth, Dave Pidcock, John Corney, Gordon Grier, Mike Worbetts, Allan Grant, R. M. Stewart, Jim Painter (Jaycees), Joseph Haddock, Dr. Don Martin, Jim Hawthornthwaite, Michael Coleman, John Elliott, Beatrice Hannah, Chief Dennis Alphonse, R. M. McKay and Ted Fox.

Maple Bay Centre at Crossroads

NORTH COWICHAN — Council will soon have to decide whether to invest money in the Maple Bay Recreation Centre which needs major repairs or just let it deteriorate.

North Cowichan aldermen decided Wednesday to refer the matter to the recreation commission until Ken Brownsey, the building inspector, is able to investigate the condition of the old Maple Bay Yacht Club facilities.

Council purchased the waterfront property two years ago when club members moved to new premises at Bird's Eye Cove.

Ald. Margaret Robertson said that when the property was bought it was for the property value only. The building was still good "and if the ratepayers didn't take it on it would be useless. The building is very old and has been added on to many times."

Along with a request for a $300 grant to help pay debts arising from operating expenses, R. A. Sherman, secretary-treasurer of the centre, asked council to look into repairing the fireplace that has been condemned by the building inspector, tiling the hardwood floor which cannot be refinished, repairing the fence and replacing part of the seawall that has washed away.

Sherman said the centre has lost rentals due to the first two items. Renting the premises is the only source of income for maintenance.

"It sounds to me like the building is tumbling down," said Acting Mayor Dennis Hogan.

"We have to decide if the sole use is the land or of we are going to put a lot of money into the building if it is only temporary," said Ald. Don Morton.

WING

Young People Cram Skaters' Special

DUNCAN — Businessman Gordon Wing has found a way to help keep young people off the street Friday evenings and promote recreation.

Each Friday he hires two buses to transport 140 Duncan teen-agers 12 miles to the Fuller Lake Arena at Chemainus for skating.

Wing, who opened a sports shop here three months ago, said the bus leaves from in front of his shop at 261 Canada Ave. at 7:30 p.m. and returns at 11. The passengers pay 50 cents bus fare and the same price for skating.

If each bus is full he just breaks even to cover the initial expenditure of hiring the vehicle.

Wing said the idea came to him after youngsters came into his shop Friday evenings complaining of nothing to do.

"When I asked them why they didn't go skating, they said they couldn't get there. Many parents won't let their kids hitch hike."

Wing then told the youths to be at his shop the following Friday with more friends and he would see that they had transportation.

"I started out two months ago with one bus and 14 kids. The news travelled so well by word of mouth that I now have two buses and 140 kids."

Tax on Grants Irks Campbell

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today reacted angrily to the discovery that new federal tax regulations require all cash awards to be classed as income.

Campbell is chairman of British Columbia's First Citizens' Fund which makes grants to Indians from interest earned on a $25 million perpetual fund.

B.C. has several similar funds. A letter from the deputy provincial finance minister dated Jan. 19 to Campbell quoted the section of the 1972 income tax deduction booklet which says "all awards received in cash or kind . . . will be included in income."

The pamphlet says these include "scholarships, bursaries, fellowships and prizes related to the recipient's normal field of endeavor."

Campbell said this means the provincial government might just as well give out T-4 slips every time it makes a grant or awards a scholarship.

"I'm going to write the minister of national revenue a letter and tell him he's out of his tree," Campbell said.

Campbell said the only way to get B.C. out of the bind the new regulations have created is for the public to "vote that tribe" out of office.

The only apparent good feature of the regulations, Campbell said, is that the province does not have to make the deductions for income tax itself when the grants are made.

Bus Controversy Disturbs Union

A Victoria union official warned today that B.C. Hydro's transit operating losses on Vancouver Island will increase and place a heavier burden on the taxpayer if the Crown corporation loses some profitable charter business to a Sidney bus line.

(See earlier story on Page 19.)

Following an executive meeting Wednesday night George Seright, president of Division 109 of the Amalgamated Transit Union, said the union was "disturbed" at the support given by Greater Victoria municipalities to the Pacific Commuter line in its application for a U.S. charter licence.

Seright said if the elected representatives knew the facts they would realize that the Hydro subsidiary, Royal Blue Line, has developed charter business over the last 50 years and that the main purpose of this is 'to help offset transit losses."

Seright claimed that Wayne McArthur, owner of the Pacific Commuter line, has suggested Hydro should be permitted to provide service only on losing routes, leaving the profitable routes to private operators.

"We are amazed to hear that municipal representatives agree with this view.

"It means, in effect, that losses on the transit system which have to be picked up by the taxpayer should be allowed to increase so that a private operator can make a profit."

On the question of whether it is ethical for a Crown corporation to compete with private enterprise in this field, Seright said: "It's not so much a matter of unethical competition but of being realistic."

Both Hydro and VICL have opposed McArthur's application for a charter licence to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Evidence Admitted

Mr. Justice John Aikens ruled admissible certain evidence in the non-capital murder trial of a 23-year-old Saanich man.

The decision in B.C. Supreme Court was made after almost two days of argument by crown counsel Alan Bigelow and defence counsel J. J. Gow.

Cairo Students Eager to Fight

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptian frustration with being suspended between war and peace has boiled to the surface for the second time in a month, this time at Cairo University.

Several hundred engineering students at the university, which has a total enrolment of 65,000, went on strike Tuesday. They demanded military training to fight Israel.

They also rejected a political solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict and called on the government to strike at U.S. oil interests in the Middle East.

The naming of a new Egyptian cabinet Monday by President Anwar Sadat appeared to be the immediate cause of the strike. "Preparing the home front for battle does not come by changing governments but by reorganizing the people and arming student militia," a statement from the strikers said.

Unrest at Cairo University apparently has been building since a speech by Sadat Jan. 13 and followed riots at soccer stadiums in Cairo and Mehalla al Kobra on Christmas Eve in which nearly 100 persons were injured.

Cairo residents said that although the riots started over the referees' decisions, they developed into an explosion of public frustration at Sadat's postponement of his "year of decision," a move he attempted to explain in his Jan. 13 speech.

The Egyptian leader said he had given orders for a resumption of hostilities in the first week of December, then had to withdraw them because the Soviet Union was busy with the India-Pakistan war.

The students seem to be asking for a practical way to make a contribution to the preparations for war. The government announced Wednesday night it would accept students in the armed forces and would send military instructors to all universities.

Surcharge Aid Successful

OTTAWA (CP) — About 500 firms hit by the U.S. import surcharge have applied for $24 million in grants from the employment support board, officials said Tuesday.

The applications involve about 27,000 jobs directly affected by the surcharge.

Of those applications, 286 involving 12,300 jobs and totalling $4.7 million, already have been approved.

About 20 applications were rejected and the remainder still are being processed. Officials said they expect few if any more applications.

The seven-member board, funded with $80 million, was set up in October to counter the 10-per-cent surcharge, which took effect Aug. 16 and was removed Dec. 20.

The surcharge had the effect of making Canadian goods mort expensive in U.S. markets—and therefore harder to sell.

ESTIMATED EFFECT

In October, when nobody knew how long the surcharge would last, the government estimated that 90,000 jobs would be affected in Canada if the trade barrier stood for a year.

In November, the estimate dropped to 42,000.

Officials now expect that—with applications dwindling to a trickle—the board will wind up its operations by the end of the fiscal year, March 31.

The board was empowered to compensate firms for up to two-thirds of the impact of the surcharge on their sales to the United States, providing they sold 20 per cent of their 1970 production in U.S. markets.

FILED TWO

Firms could receive the aid only if they maintained their labor force without lay-offs.

If, for example, a firm sold $500,000 in goods to the United States, they would suffer a surcharge burden of $50,000.

They would then be eligible for a $33,000 grant from the board to help retain their staff.

Since the grants were limited to 90-day periods, and since the surcharge lasted 126 days, most of the firms that applied for aid have filed a second application to complete the surcharge period.

Of Canada's $11 billion sales to the United States in 1970, about $2 billion was estimated to be vulnerable to the surcharge.

Certain raw materials, agricultural products, and goods entering the United States free of previous duties were not hit by the surcharge.

Industry Minister Jean-Luc Pepin told the Commons Sept. 28 that 85 per cent of the industry hit by the surcharge would be eligible for board money.

Despite the surcharge and the fears it raised for the Canadian economy fourth-quarter exports to the United States—at $3.10 billion—surpassed the pre-surcharge third-quarter mark of $3.05 billion.

'Insiders' At Kaiser Win, Lose

TORONTO (CP) — The winners among Kaiser companies "insiders" dealing in stock of a Canadian subsidiary through a holding company made a total of about $120,000 while losers lost about $40,000, statements filed with the Ontario Securities Commission show.

Jack Ashby, Oakland, chairman, Kaiser Resources, held 6,000 shares; a statement for March, 1970, said 4200 were sold at $19 and 1,800 at $19.38.

Charles F. Borden, Oakland, senior officer of Kaiser Steel, director of Kaiser Steel and Resources, held 3,000 shares; statement for January, 1970, said 3,000 sold at $17.12 to $17.25.

Thomas F. Gleed, Seattle, director, Kaiser Steel and Resources, held 3,000 shares; statement for January, 1970, said 3,000 sold at $17.12 to $17.25.

David J. Hardy, vice-president and secretary, Kaiser Resources, held 2,000; statement for January, 1970, said 750 sold at $17.12 to $17.25; statement for April, 1970, said 1,000 sold at $20; statement for June, 1970, said 250 sold at $14.12 to $14.25.

Albert P. Heiner, senior officer, Kaiser Steel and Resources, held 2,000; statement for July, 1970, said 700 sold at $14.12, 200 at $14.25, 1,000 at $13 and 100 at $13.25.

Ernest L. Ilsley, Oakland, director and senior officer, Kaiser Resources, held 3,000; statement for April, 1970, said 3,000 sold at $20.

Chalmers A. MacIlvaine, Oakland, director and senior officer, Kaiser Steel and Resources, held 3,000; statement for June, 1970, said 3,000 sold at $14.12 to $14.25.

John D. Saussaman, Oakland, senior officer, Kaiser Steel, held 500; statement for January, 1970, said 250 sold at $17.12 to $17.25; statement for June, 1970, said 250 sold at $14.12 to $14.25.

John R. Walker, Oakland, senior officer, Kaiser Steel and Resources, held 1,500; statement for January, 1970, said 500 sold at $17.12 to $17.25; statement for June, 1970, said 500 sold at $14.12 to $14.25; statement for February, 1971, said 500 sold at $6.50.

The four losers:

Jack J. Carlson, Oakland, director, Kaiser Steel and Resources, senior officer, Kaiser Steel, held 3,000; statement for July, 1971, said 3000 sold at $5.

C. Lee Emerson, Kaiser Steel president, held 3,000; a statement for November, 1970, said 200 were sold at $8.25, 2,200 at $8.12 and 600 at $8.

William P. B. Marks, Oakland, senior officer, Kaiser Steel, director, Kaiser Steel and Resources, held 3,000; statement for January, 1970, said 1,000 sold at $17.12 to $17.25; statement for December, 1971, said 2,000 sold at $3.85.

Adoniram Lee Peake Jr., Oakland, senior officer, Kaiser Steel, held 500; statement for August, 1970, said 500 sold at $10.50.

Reminiscing with the Colonel

I get fired

"I recall my first job was with a farmer called Charlie Norris. I started working for him for $2 a month, with room and board, when I was ten years old. He set me to work clearing new land behind the farmhouse. By the end of the month I'd cleared about an acre, but there were so many redbirds, squirrels and butterflies to catch a little fella's attention that I guess I didn't work hard enough. Anyway, Charlie Norris gave me my two dollars and I was fired. When I got home and gave my Mom the two dollars and told her what had happened she gave me a lecture I shall never forget.

She wanted to know what I was ever goin' to amount to if I couldn't keep a job at two dollars a month. And right then and there I made a resolve never to let the hours or the hard work interfere with doing the best job I could, whatever I did."

His Mom's words made a great impression on the Colonel, and the philosophy of life he developed then hasn't changed to this day. And along with his secret recipe he passes this along to his boys. So you can be sure that when they cook Kentucky Fried Chicken they do it with the same careful attention and pride as the Colonel. That's what makes it 'finger lickin' good' every time.

Financial Woes Force Festival To Cancel Out

The three-year-old Victoria Fair summer festival of the arts has been cancelled for this season because of a lack of financial support its University of Victoria directors say is needed for an expanded program.

The announcement was made at a press conference this morning called by fair general manager Peter Garvie, UVic dean of arts, and director Ralph Allen, chairman of the theatre department.

Garvie said "it remains to be seen" whether the fair is finished permanently.

He said the decision was made to cancel because it became "increasingly clear to the directors that more support is needed to accomplish the next phase of growth: in quality and in promotion to draw more visitors here."

And "despite the help from individuals and business and from radio, television and weekly newspapers, there is unlikely to be financial support available in 1972 to achieve the level expected of the fair."

The 1972 plans were for productions of Shakespeare's The Winter's Tale, Bernard Shaw's Heartbreak House and Wycherley's The Country Wife, plus an expanded music season, including eight chamber orchestra concerts, "and a wide variety of other events."

Big Publicity Campaign

Garvie said the envisioned expansion was to hire three or four more professional actors and to launch "a massive publicity campaign" right down the west coast of the U.S. and in Vancouver.

With between 12,000 and 15,000 persons attending 45 play performances and 15 concerts last year, Allen said it had become apparent that the fair had reached the basic Victoria audience and needed to draw people from outside the community.

Asked whether they would revive this year's plans if the announcement of the cancellation elicited necessary government and community support, Garvie and Allen replied it wasn't impossible but it was unlikely.

Garvie said it was a "sad announcement" to make because the fair was a success artistically and it had become financially responsible.

With a budget of $65,000 in its first year, the fair suffered a deficit of $18,000, moving to a deficit of $1,000 with a budget of $70,000 last year.

Last year, they said they broke even by spending $68,000 of an authorized budget of $81,000.

Allen said that he, his wife, Garvie and co-director Wandalie Henshaw didn't get any salaries last year in the heavy cutback on budget.

Allen said his recently-announced resignation from UVic to take up a theatre post at the University of Tennessee had nothing to do with the cancellation of the fair.

But he added that the "very fact that the fair was going to grow smaller made me wonder about my future here."

Garvie said that between 150 and 200 students, professional actors and technicians will lose out financially and artistically by the cancellation.

Garvie and Allen laid a lot of blame on the fact they have never received aid from the provincial cultural fund. They were told that the fact that the fair was a university-run affair made it ineligible for a grant.

Rain, Rain, Rain and More Coming

Rain, rain and yet more rain — that's the continuing story for Greater Victoria this week.

Since the big soak started Tuesday evening 1.06 inches has been recorded at the airport and 1.07 inches at the Gonzales weather station.

Weatherman Allan McQuarrie said the downpour should ease off to showery conditions this evening, but we can expect more general rain Friday as another storm system moves in.

Although nearly half in inch of rain had fallen in the six hours since 4 a.m., the only Greater Victoria municipality which reported any problems this morning was Saanich.

A spokesman for the drainage department said the complaints started coming in fairly steadily soon after 9 a.m., but most of the 40 or 50 calls concerned plugged ditches and catch basins rather than flooded basements.

The department was inundated with 350 complaints following the severe Dec. 8 storm.

Waterlogged Victorians can at least console themselves that they escaped the wintry onslaught which disrupted highway traffic and caused power failures in widely separated areas of the province Wednesday.

Heavy drifts closed the southern Trans-Canada Highway at the Crowsnest Pass on the B.C.-Alberta border, while snowslides closed the Rogers Pass highway in southeastern B.C. and the Fraser Canyon highway in the west.

Coalminers were stranded at a minesite near Sparwood and a busload of schoolchildren were billeted in the community overnight when they were unable to return to their homes in the surrounding area.

Parking Lot May Double For Sports

City hall may build tennis courts or an outdoor basketball court on the land it originally bought for a parking lot for the New Crystal Pool.

The suggestion came up today as proposals came forward to pave the lots which lie between Green and Caledonia Streets at Vancouver.

The lots were bought for about $200,000 about two years ago when the pool was being developed, and some officials have been worrying about future parking problems around the pool.

Ald. Ove Witt, parks and recreation chairman, said his department is going to look into the idea of making the lots double as tennis courts.

When the lots were not being used for parking, the tennis nets could be set up, and a basketball hoop could also be set up.

FAST-GROWING

Parks director Cliff Bate said the two tennis courts in Central Park are not adequate for the surrounding residential area, especially when tennis is becoming the fastest growing sport in the city.

Another way to develop the lots would be to build permanent courts as well as permanent parking space.

Development of parking for the whole area would cost about $25,500, officials estimated, and landscaping and beautification with screen hedges would add another $4,000.

'Confusing' Vote Procedures To Get Review by City Hall

Balloting procedures in the city of Victoria will receive a thorough review, aldermen decided today.

A letter from a citizens' group precipitated the move, and complaints from some elected officials who ran in the Dec. 11 election backed up the request.

Mayor Peter Pollen, who suggested a full review, said it seemed to him the actual ballot used in the election is designed to "assist the clerical counting rather than the voter."

Council's legislative committee also indicated it might review the voting list and methods of informing eligible voters of their rights.

The letter of complaint came from the Committee of Concerned Victorians, a group formed before the election.

It said there were "many factors at work which left the citizens of Victoria at a decided disadvantage.

"The Hunter Ballot was a confusing, ineptly constructed ballot. Many citizens apparently completed only one portion as they were afraid of turning up the sheet being reminded that to detach same would invalidate the ballot.

"Conditions in the polling booths were certainly disadvantageous to the elderly — small writing space, poor lighting.

"However, perhaps the most glaring fault lay in the inaccuracies within the voters list. It appears that there are many citizens whose names should appear on the list and do not, there are those whose names appear twice and other inequities.

"We feel strongly that the voters list must be revised at the earliest possible time and that tenants must be notified in a clear, distinct manner of their rights as well as their responsibilities."

Pollen said he believed there were more than 300 ballots on the aldermanic section that were not marked at all.

He called the notification procedures "most inadequate and quite obscure" and said the polling booths are "quite inadequate."

Ald. Ove Witt, who also ran in the last election, said he had 11 calls "complaining bitterly" about the ballots "and the way they were set up."

One man, he said, called up Witt to tell him he lost a vote because he couldn't find his name on the ballot.

Boy Burned In Lab

A 14-year-old student at Colquitz junior secondary school was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital today suffering from burns after an accident in the school's laboratory.

Principal Jack Drummond said the boy, Doug Murray, was in a Grade 8 group experimenting with the colors produced by burning chemicals, when he got too close to a "flare-up."

A hospital spokesman said the boy's condition was satisfactory.

VMD GETS 90 DAYS TO END 'DISGRACE'

The "industrial wasteland" of Victoria Machinery Depot on Dallas Road today was given 90 days by city hall to rip up old tracks, paving and a fence situated on city-owned land.

The city solicitor was instructed by council's parks committee to write an "extremely firm letter" with a warning to move off the land which the city wants to develop into a boulevard.

Solicitor Terry O'Grady said a similar letter had been sent two years ago, outlining the city's legal position to force VMD off the land, but the company "prevailed upon the administration of the day. . . ."

Mayor Peter Pollen said that "I assure you they won't be able to prevail upon this administration . . . it's a damned disgrace."

Ottawa Accepts Barnard Offer

Victoria's $150,000 bid for the Barnard waterfront estate was accepted Wednesday by Crown Assets Disposal Corporation.

The telegram of acceptance stipulates the sale is made "In light of the proposed new use of the complete Sea Terrace (Barnard) property by the city of Victoria for park purposes only . . ."

It was learned that the city was considering sale of a small portion of the 3.77-acre property for residential development. The waterfront portion of the property would remain as park.

Terms of the sale are $40,000 cash and the balance paid over five years at nine per cent.

Crown Assets Disposal's telegram says it will try to have the property cleared of debris at no cost to the city. Mayor Peter Pollen had urged the corporation to ensure the property was cleared of debris before the sale.

Neither the city nor Crown Assets Disposal have admitted who used the Barnard property as an earth fill dump but it is believed the dumping was in connection with an adjacent development project.

Earlier, Victoria's bid was turned down by the corporation and sale of the land to Diamond Developments Ltd. for $253,205 was announced. Diamond Developments intended to use the land for an apartment development.

The about-face apparently stemmed from Crown Assets dropping the price to what the city had offered. At one time the property was offered to Victoria for $184,00 its appraised value, and later for $165,000.

Nitro Poisonings Probe Starts

A board of inquiry got under way at Work Point Barracks today on the poisoning of six men of the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The poisoning occurred Tuesday during a training exercise at Mary Hill when they were instructed by Sgt. H. F. Hurford to chew a plastic explosive, named C4.

This is normal procedure. Soldiers are ordered to chew the explosive and spit it out, in order to demonstrate the safe characteristics of the explosive while it is being handled.

Tuesday, however, 45 minutes after the chewing, the six men began vomiting and having convulsions. They were taken to hospital on CFB Esquimalt.

Pte. D. W. Duthie, 21, of Stoughton, Sask., was in serious condition Wednesday but has now been placed on the satisfactory list.

Also in satisfactory condition are Cpl. J. L. Bouffard, 28, of Gravelbourg, Sask.; Pte. H. O. Leduc, 18, of Montreal; Pte. H. F. Abromeit, 21, of North Kamloops; Pte. D. J. McRoberts, 18, of Vancouver, and Pte. M. G. Cratty, 21, of Rosetown, Sask.

The other nine members of the assault pioneer course were also taken to the hospital for observation.

The lot of explosives used in the test is being chemically analysed and the practice of having the men chew the explosive will be discontinued, pending the findings of the board of inquiry.

It is believed the toxic agent in the explosive was nitroglycerine.

3's Crowd, Says Hydro

There isn't enough bus charter business between Vancouver Island and the United States for three operators, says B.C. Hydro.

In a brief statement Wednesday a Hydro spokesman said this is the reason why the crown corporation has lodged an objection with the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission to a charter licence application by the Pacific Commuter bus line.

The spokesman said Hydro has developed its charter business over many years, and already shares this with Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd.

"There really isn't enough charter business for three operators," she added.

"The revenue from the charter business is necessary to help defray losses on other transportation services we provide on Vancouver Island."

Wayne McArthur, owner of the Pacific Commuter line, has charged that it is unethical for a crown corporation to compete with private enterprise in this field, but the spokesman declined comment on this aspect.

Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said in Vancouver today he was unable to comment because "I have been away on business and I don't know anything about this."

Mostly About X, the Unknown Factor

EVERY SO OFTEN, SOME enterprising scribe calls on sociologists, marriage counsellors and the like for a preview of the husband-wife relationship of the future. Trends are inspected, projections made and conclusions arrived at. The wedded state, always provided it survives, will be different then.

Partners in marriage will be much more realistic and reasonable than they now are. Even the song-writers — if there's anything worth singing about — will shun any mention of love.

Marriage, in short, will be a limited contract available after a trial period of qualified togetherness to those who insist on it.

Perhaps that's as it should be. But unless human nature changes more than it's likely to, people in marriage will remain a mixed bag. It's even possible that along with the short-term contracts the future will have its share of till-death-do-us-part unions.

Certainly there are any number of those around today, maintained by men and women whose chief hope is that they will be permitted to go the course together.

I've known such couples. These last few days, one of them has been much in my thoughts.

The man of this pair was born in South Africa, the woman in England. They met in Vancouver — two tall, dark young ones of independent mind. Each had a job. Neither had any wish to be tied down, and least of all by marriage.

I like to learn how well-married people met. There was nothing noteworthy about this meeting. One evening, Gladys' brother introduced a friend who worked in the same machine shop — a quiet-spoken fellow by the name of Bert.

The thing that happened between them defies analysis. Enough to borrow a quaint and hokey term from a less analytical era, and call it love at first sight.

In any case, from that time on, it was Bert and Gladys, Gladys and Bert.

The depression of the Thirties was coming up hand over fist. Looked at logically, it was not the best of times for marrying. But marry they did — eloped over the border one night, and returned to take their chances as a couple in a world where silver linings were becoming harder to find than a popular song of the period implied.

Their next stop after Vancouver was the Yukon. Later, they lived and worked in Montreal. Finally, with their three children, they put down roots in one of those California communities that trail away from San Francisco.

They made a fine team. They were always planning, always taking on more than they could comfortably handle, and surprising their friends and sometimes themselves by making a go of each new project.

There was no merging of personalities. Each remained very much an individual. Yet I find it hard to think of them except as a couple.

Last year, Bert and Gladys reached their 40th wedding anniversary with their zest for living undiminished. When they came up to Vancouver Island for a salmon-fishing holiday as they liked to do each summer, they were full of plans for the little ranch they were establishing by weekend labor on sparse grazing land.

The difficulties and frustrations were many, but the potential was there. They looked forward to the time when they could make beef cattle raising a full-time occupation.

Bert, a designer of super-complex laboratory equipment, planned to retire from his city job this year. But last Saturday, while he was working on the ranch, a heart that had never troubled him before gave out.

He and Gladys had 40 good years and a few months together before death did them part. Knowing them, I also know that what kept their marriage intact through those years wasn't religion or a sense of duty or dependence, even though they did depend on one another.

I have never managed very well at defining love. I only know that as those two shared it through good years and bad, love was more than a romantic interlude or the product of clinically matched compatabilities.

Call it X the unknown factor . . . and allow for it in any calculations bearing on the human future.

Cooks Compared

PARIS (UPI) — Italian cooking still does not match that of France and if anything is getting worse, according to the new Michelin travel guide for Italy.

The 1972 guide lists no three-star restaurants — 12 are named in France — and only 13 two-star establishments. Overall 189 restaurants receive stars — one fewer than in 1971.

The only new restaurant in the Two-star category is the Alfredo in Treviso. The 84-page Michelin Lists its specialities as marrow steak and salmon risotto.

The food in West Germany, however, never rises above a single star, according to the 1972 guide for Germany.

Cancer Detection Pioneers to Speak

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

One of two Canadian medical researchers who have pioneered a breakthrough blood test for one kind of cancer will address Greater Victoria doctors next month.

Dr. S. O. Freedman, director of the division of clinical immunology and allergy at Montreal General Hospital and McGill University, is expected to attract most of the area's 300 doctors when he speaks to a meeting of the Victoria Medical Society Feb. 9.

Last year Dr. Phil Gold, also of Montreal General and McGill, and Freedman devised a blood test which can positively detect one of the most common types of cancer — cancer of the bowel — before it can be spotted by any other means.

Hoffman-LaRoche, a major American pharmaceutical company, believes their method can be adapted for early detection of other types of cancer, including cancer of the lung. The intial findings of the Canadian researchers have been duplicated in field trials at five laboratories, two Canadian and three American.

Trials First

The drug firm believes that after completing its own clinical trials at 20 medical centres, the testing technique will be ready for routine use on a mass basis for detection of bowel cancer.

The technique Gold and Freedman have developed has attracted international interest in medical communities and a society spokesman said Wednesday it probably ranks in importance with the introduction of cortisone a few years ago.

A test using a similar principle has already been developed which will detect primary cancer of the liver and blood samples from local patients have been sent to California for the new form of screening.

The spokesman said that the work of Gold and Freedman will very likely open the door to many new developments along similar lines in early detection of other kinds of cancer.

The sooner a cancer can be detected, the more successfully it can be treated.

The test of Gold and Freedman, developed over eight years of research, is so sensitive it can be positive long before there is any other sign of cancer.

During initial testing the researchers first thought they had a large degree of error because so many patients with positive tests showed no sign of having a tumor.

But in following the positive cases, the doctors began to find lesions so small they might have been missed had there not been a suspicion they might be there.

Tumors that small are not difficult to remove and the patient stands an excellent chance for a cure.

What the Canadian research revealed is that the presence of a cancer tumor, no matter how small, is signalled in the body by the release of a unique substance, a submolecular protein called an antigen.

In the case of cancer of the bowel, Gold called the antigen CEA. When it enters the bloodstream, it sparks the production of antibodies to fight the intruder, the same reaction triggered by any germ or infection.

The test, which has added appeal because of its simplicity, is based on this normal antigen-antibody reaction in the body.

The three components involved are a sample of the patient's blood, a sample of goat blood known to contain antibodies and a sample of CEA which has been radioactively "tagged."

Pair Up

These are combined in a test tube and put through a centrifuge.

A critical factor is that antigens and antibodies will pair up and collect at the bottom of the tube.

The tube is then scanned by a sensitive geiger counter. If all the "tagged" radioactive antigens are at the bottom, it means there were no antigens in the patient's blood to compete for linkups with the available antibodies.

But if the counter finds only some of the radioactive antigens among the antigen-antibody pairs, then there is a positive indication of cancer because there must have been antigens in the patient's blood.

The society spokesman said Wednesday the test does produce a few false positive results, for example in patients with cirrhosis of the liver, but always in conditions which can be easily otherwise detected.

Since the work of Gold and Freedman has been publicized, there has been a heavy demand for them as speakers. At the invitation of the Victoria Medical Society Freedman agreed to come to Victoria between two speaking engagements in California.

Federal Union Readies First Day Care Centre

The first day-care centre to be operated by a federal government employees' union will open in Esquimalt Feb. 1.

The centre, to be located in the Esquimalt United Church hall, is being organized by the Union of National Defence Employees with the help of church members.

Mrs. Joan Mackwood, organizing secretary for the union, said that the centre, to be run on a non-profit basis, is being set up to alleviate the difficulties that the lack of day-care facilities in Esquimalt has posed for mothers working at the CFB dockyard.

The United Church, on Admirals Rd., offered to house the day-care centre, since their classrooms were being used only two hours a week for Sunday school, said John Redfern, a parishioner and a member of the day-care board.

"The building is heated all day, so the day-care centre will add no expense to the church," he said.

The enrolment is not restricted to children of union members, said Mrs. Mackwood. About 20 children will be accepted. Fees are $70 a month per child. Parents who cannot afford to pay the fee can apply to Family and Children's Service for financial aid.

One mother, Mrs. Sylvia Caley, is anxiously awaiting the opening of the day-care centre. A month ago she took a full-time job as a saleselerk, because "one pay cheque in the family wasn't enough and I felt stifled in the house."

"I wouldn't have started work, however, if there were no day-care facilites in this area," she said. Although she has been leaving her daughter, Angela, 4, in the care of a sitter, Mrs. Caley does not want to rely on babysitters permanently.

The turnover among sitters is high, she said, and a child needs the settled atmosphere that day-care provides. Mrs. Caley also feels children are better looked after by a qualified supervisor.

As yet the centre has not named a licensed supervisor, although several are under consideration, Mrs. Mackwood said. Otherwise the centre is ready to start. Two part-time aides have already been hired, and classrooms and equipment have passed inspection.

More unions will become involved in establishing day-care centres as the need for them increases among workers, said Mrs. Mackwood.

Claims To Include Receipts

OTTAWA (CP) — Child-care expenses to working parents are deductible from taxable income this year, but the government is making sure its revenues won't suffer as a result.

Claims to deduct such expenses must include receipts showing the name, address and social insurance number of the person paid to care for the child. That way the government can verify he pays income tax on the money he is paid.

This requirement, along with other ground rules for the new deduction, are spelled out in a pamphlet issued by the revenue department at all local income tax offices.

The new Income Tax Act came into effect Jan. 1 this year. Claims for child care expenses and other new allowances won't be felt by taxpayers, however, until they file tax returns in 1973 for this year's income.

The allowable limit on child care expense allowances is $500 a year per child, or $2,000 for a family, or two-thirds of a taxpayer's earned income for the year — whichever is the least.

The allowances cover costs of baby sitting, day nursery care, or up to $15 a week per child for lodging paid at boarding schools or camps.

The expenses must have been incurred to enable the mother to be employed or carry on a business. Expenses must be for care in Canada, and they must be for children under age 14, or dependent because of physical or mental infirmity if 14 or older.

The allowances are mainly designed for working mothers. Fathers may claim the allowance if they are the only parent in the family or if the mother is unable to care for the child because of mental or physical infirmity or confinement.

"To be allowed, deductions claimed for child care expense must be supported by receipts," says the pamphlet.

A Word On Behalf Of Psychiatrists

DEAR ABBY: Your comment to "Lady Dreamer" reminded me of a cute saying I'd like to share.

"The neurotic BUILDS dream castles. The psychotic LIVES in them, and the psychiatrist collects the rent."

Mrs. L.P.

DEAR MRS. L. P.: A competent psychiatrist doesn't "collect the rent" for anyone's dream castles. Instead he helps his patient to find a dwelling he can actually LIVE in. And his fee is more appropriately the cost of moving.

DEAR ABBY: We have a very surly, selfish son in law who is married to our only child.

She is a wonderful girl and we love her very much, but we just can't understand him. He treats our daughter all right as far as we can see, but he treats us terribly.

When we invite the two of them for supper, she usually comes alone. She's embarrassed, but confesses she couldn't get him to come with her. When he does come, he eats fast and wants to run away right after the meal is over.

We have given them a lot of financial help. We bought them a nice little house and are helping them furnish it. We even bought them a second car.

I was in the hospital for two weeks and he never came to see me, once. He didn't even send me a card!

Would it be childish for us to treat him like he treats us? I mean stop all financial help? I wouldn't want to hurt my daughter, but someone should teach this fellow a lesson. Hurt

DEAR HURT: Any financial help you gave him was undoubtedly more for your daughter's sake than his. Don't reward his indifference and rudeness with generosity, but be careful how you "teach him a lesson" or your daughter might wind up paying for the lesson.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Tall Boy" who was tired of having people ask him, "How's the weather up there," hit home with me because I, too, was tall in school. Being a girl it was even worse.

When kids would ask me how the weather was up there, I'd give them the answer my Dad suggested: "Why don't you grow up and find out?"

That shut them up, and they respected me more for telling them off instead of pouting. — Tall

Health Education Centre helps smokers

Money, Ego And Health At Stake

Get a smoker to pay to quit and chances are he'll beat the habit.

The Five Day Plan to stop smoking, an anti-smoking course now offered by the Health Education Centre on Shakespeare St., used to be free. It was discovered, however, that there was a high dropout rate.

When a $10 fee was tacked on to the plan, most people stuck it out to the bitter end.

Hopes for Success

This week Ferris has been telling 60 Victoria smokers how they, too, can give up cigarettes. Friday, the last day of the course, he hopes to see success.

Physical withdrawal from nicotine takes at least five days, explained Ferris. Therefore, his plan to ban the butt runs for five consecutive evenings and helps people through headaches, muscular cramps and jittery nerves. Each one-hour session consists of lectures, discussions, and films.

Once this crucial period has passed, the addiction is psychological, Ferris said. And whether or not a person smokes is completely his own choice.

Ferris said periodic checks are made to determine how many graduates are still "clean". The success rate after six months is about 70 per cent.

"We don't try to force or scare anyone into quitting smoking", Ferris said. "The key to the whole thing is will power."

But there are subtle little ways of activating that will power, he added.

Besides the money, participants invariably end up investing their ego in the deal. Ferris calls it the "psychological double-bind".

Technical terms aside, what it means is that each person is given buttons to wear and signs to stick up, advertising the fact that he's quitting smoking. After telling this to everyone at home and at the office, a person feels ashamed to be caught with a fag dangling out of his mouth.

"Nobody comes out unscathed", Ferris said.

"Participants are also educated on the harmful effects of smoking" he said. "Most people see films on the subject, but they don't take the message personally.

"So, during the sessions, colored photographs of nicotine-stained lungs are passed around for people to have and hold. This gives it impact. Doctors and nurses in uniform are on hand to answer questions as well.

"We also get down to the nitty gritty of what to do to quit. During the five days, people are told what to eat and drink, when to go to bed, and who to associate with."

Keep It Together

Group dynamics keep the whole plan together, Ferris said. The success ratio would be cut in half if people tried to do it alone, he added. Participants discuss and share their trials and tribulations. The feeling of togetherness gives the individual added strength.

Ferris said everyone is paired up with a phoning partner. The partners boost each other's morale during the long, cigarette-free day.

The anti-smoking course is part of the Health Centre's program to present medical knowledge and research to the public. Lectures on nutrition, weight control, marriage growth, child development, and drug and alcohol information are offered as well.

Fashions Grim Reminder Of Winter Weight Gain

● This is the fourth in a series of 15 articles in which Josephine Lowman, author of Why Grow Old? and leading authority on health and beauty, tells you exactly what to do to lose 20 pounds in eight weeks.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Spring clothes appearing in stores make women with figure problems nervous. But there is still time to lose from 15 to 20 pounds, streamline your measurements, improve your complexion and hair and put some spring in your step.

Even seven or eight pounds to many make a big difference and 15 or 20 can give the most beautiful garment an inferiority complex. Why not shop for your Easter outfit with pleasure instead of frustration this spring?

This is the fourth day of my eight week Beauty Improvement Plan. Most of those who join wish to lose weight. Others just want to see how much they can improve their appearance generally in eight weeks or wish to correct out of proportion measurements or increase their energy.

This is a carefully planned course. If you have been following it, you have weighed and measured yourself and know what goals you are shooting for.

The most pleasant and succesful method of losing weight is to increase your physical acitivity and decrease your food intake. This does not mean that you have to exercise strenuously for long periods of time or starve yourself. A moderate decrease in calories and modest increase in exercise add up to an impressive total.

For instance, if you cut four food intake 500 calories a day (you can do this by leaving off one very rich item or two fairly rich ones) and walk briskly for an hour five days a week, this adds up to about 1½ pounds a week. If you bicycle for an hour or do some other vigorous exercise, your loss will be greater.

Tomorrow there will be more about the benefits of exercise when reducing and also about the boost it gives health.

Here are today's menus.

BREAKFAST

½ cup diced cantaloupe
1 slice zwieback toast with 1 tsp. cream cheese
1 large egg, soft cooked

LUNCH

Mushroom soup
2 oz. cheese (your choice)
1 slice whole wheat or light rye toast
1 glass skim milk

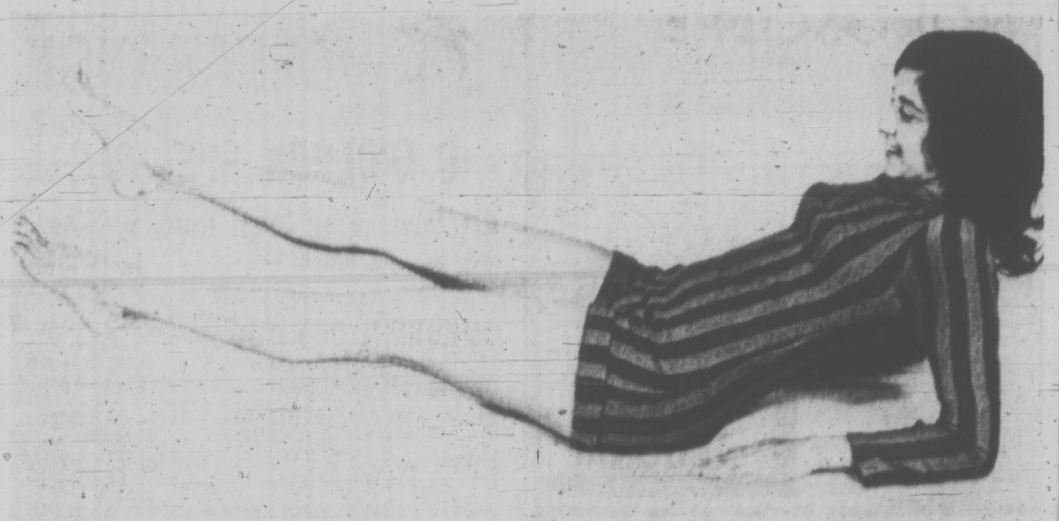
Simmer until done ½ cup chopped fresh mushrooms and 1 tbs. dehydrated soup greens in one cup beef broth. Season with parsley (fresh or dry), salt and pepper.

DINNER

Spaghetti and Meatballs
Spinach or lettuce leaf salad with low calorie dressing
1 glass skim milk
½ cup vanilla ice milk, 3 per cent fat

Mix ½ lb. ground round with ½ cup parboiled or cooked white rice (left over from dinner yesterday?) and season with garlic salt and pepper. Shape into meatballs about 2 inches in diameter. Drop them in the following sauce and simmer about 20 minutes until done. Sauce: 1 can tomato sauce, ¾ cup water, 1 clove garlic minced. Serve only half these meatballs and sauce over ½ cup spaghetti. You will have the remainder tomorrow for lunch. Total calories 1160

It is not too late to join BIP. If you missed the first part of this series or if you would like to have the whole course, send for my Bip Kit. The booklet gives you complete directions, plus menus for two weeks, 14 spot reducing exercises and a unique chart on which you can plot your progress and see your beauty line rise as your weight line drops. If you would like to have this kit send 50 cents (includes postage and handling) and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of Victoria Times, 2631 Douglas St., Victoria, B.C.



Sit on the floor and lean back on the lower half of your arms. While in this position raise your right leg with a stiff knee. As you lower your right leg raise your left leg. One leg moves up as the other moves down. Bring the heels close to the floor but do not touch it. Toes pointed. This is good for strengthening your abdominal muscles.

Twins Recovering

EDMONTON (CP) — Christine and Cynthia, Siamese twins separated in a 2½-hour operation on Jan. 9, have one more hurdle to clear in their recovery from the surgery.

The thriving baby girls have shown no sign of post-operative shock, infection or primary internal bleeding, their pediatrician, Dr. Reuben Weinberg, said Wednesday.

If no indication of secondary internal bleeding is evident in the next four or five days — and the odds are it won't be — then the twins can be said to have made a "perfect" post-operative recovery, Dr. Weinberg said.

Christine and Cynthia were born Oct. 28 at University Hospital joined above the navel by a bridge of skin, muscle and cartilage three inches long.

The bridge also contained liver tissue, but none of this was removed in the operation.

The twins were taken out of separate incubators last weekend and now are in separate cribs, "feeling well and eating well."

Dr. Weinberg said he expects the babies will be ready to go home soon, possibly as early as a week or 10 days.

Potholder Vests In Style

By LOIS HOLMES

One of the hottest items in the ready-to-wear departments is a cute potholder vest. Duplicate it with an improved version in no time at all for the price of three skeins of bulky yarn. You'll even have enough left over for a matching cap.

Three more skeins of yarn yields a stunning shoulder bag and beret built around the same motif. Small, medium and large sizes are made by a change of hook. Children's sizes are made by using knitting worsted yarn.

As if all this were not enough, complete instructions are also included for a jaunty tote bag and hat. All of them make very handsome gifts and especially when time and money are factors which must be considered.

To order: Crochet 739 potholder vest, cap, bag and beret, send $1.50 in American funds, to Lois Holmes of California, Victoria Times, Box 6002, Inglewood, Calif., 90301.

Please print your name, address, and pattern number plainly. Send 15 cents for each pattern for first-class mail and special handling or 25 cents each for air mail.

New Plans For Turkey Meat

EDMONTON (CP) — Turkey sausage and bologna?

It is not beyond the realm of possibility if the Alberta Turkey Grower's Marketing Board has its way, says Don Potter, the board's secretary-manager.

"It is obvious that we must do a much better job of merchandising turkeys if we are to increase sales and profits to growers."

Mr. Potter said turkey meat will have to be made available in convenient, easy-to-serve forms with the possibility certain parts of the birds could be sold at premium prices with the remainder being made into sausage or bologna.

And in this direction, the turkey growers national co-ordinating committee has agreed there is a great need for research into product development and is examining ways to finance such a project.

Mr. Potter said Alberta turkey production has been in line with anticipated marketing, but that prices have been kept down by the threat of imports from other provinces.

Retired But Not Dead

Four busloads of more than 150 senior citizens, averaging 78 years of age, recently spent an evening watching the nude male and female revue at the Sunset Boulevard night club.

The girls at the Classic Cat usually work totally bare but they donned G strings for the special performance which led to the only gripe of the evening from Nels Teeters, 68, who played piano in burlesque half a century ago and who organized the excursion.

"What's with these G strings?" said Teeters. "Shucks, we're retired, not dead."

Not one of the oldsters, residents of five Casa Bonita retirement homes in the Los Angeles suburbs, seemed offended at the loud rock music, flashing lights and topless gyrations.

"I should say not," said 94-year-old Katie Quarton when asked if she disapproved. "That operator (topless dancer) up there is very graceful."

Club owner Al Wells said the G strings were worn because "we planned a nice middle of the road show they could enjoy."

"We just don't want any heart attacks," he said.

"If something like a naked woman was going to make my heart attack me, how do you think I ever lasted long enough to make it to a retirement home?" she said.

Teeters said the group had already seen Disneyland, Marineland and similar attractions and were ready for stronger stuff.

"This sure does beat those prayer meetings," he said.

The highlight of the show was an audience participation number in which half a dozen of the men ended up dancing on stage with the girls. They got souvenir sets of panties.

Church Challenged

TORONTO (CP) — The real meaning of the abortion issue is to challenge such male-dominated societies as the church and government, says Dr. Esther Greenglass, a York University psychology professor.

She says the two institutions see women as sex objects for child-bearing.

"Religion has put women down over the centuries. All the churches have seen them as vessels to bear children.

"The abortion issue crystallizes the feminist movement. Abortion until now has been regulated by male-dominated societies like the church and the state but should be the concern of the woman alone.

"What I say challenges the church's religious assumptions about women. For many years we've had no control over our own fertility. Now women need no longer have children. Now they have a choice."

Dr. Greenglass, who received a Canada Council grant to do research on the psychological effects of abortion on women, is a member of the government commission on the status of women.

She says there is an urgent need for a morality or abortion which should consider not only the factor of the destruction of the fetus but the kind of life — ecomomic, physical, psychological — the mother can give her child.

"Abortion should be a private decision between the woman — or the couple — and the doctor."

The Feeding of Egos

JELLY SIDE DOWN
nancy stahl

Over the years, I've discovered that being a mother involves a whole lot more than keeping the children from chewing on electric cords when their diapers are wet. Aside from insuring that they make it through puberty relatively intact, motherhood also includes the care and feeding of egos. This calls for providing comfort and consolation when:

- Your brand new, personally autographed, souvenir baseball gets run over by a moving van.
- You lose your front tooth the day before you're to be a whistling gypsy in the school play.
- You have to come home after the first hour of kindergarten because you've wet your pants.
- You get your big toe wedged in the bathtub hot water faucet, and your dad has to call the plumber to get it out.
- You get bubblegum in your bangs and have to have them cut off the day before they take the school picture.
- You take your pet mouse to school, and he gets loose, and you have to write, "I will leave my pet mouse at home where he belongs" 100 times.

These situations are too tragic for "I told you that would happen if . . .", which is effective only when a whole bottle of grape pop erupts on the out velvet love seat. "I told you that would happen if" offers no solace to the one who shook up the grape pop, but it makes you feel a teeny bit better, and is preferable to hitting him with the waffle iron, especially since the warranty has run out.

For the purposes of comfort and consolation, I generally employ random combinations of "Aw", "Poor Baby", and "Well, we still love you", accompanied by a lot of sympathetic head shaking. Even mothers and fathers need a bit of comfort and consolation at times. When one wakes up with the gnawing certainty that one spent the greater part of the previous night sitting on an ironing board doing an imitation of lighthouse, it helps to have someone say, "Poor baby. We still love you."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By SYDNEY OMARR

(Forecast for Friday, January 21, 1972)

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Take initiative. Opposition is not well organized. You get aid from those you helped in recent past. Money needed will be forthcoming. Trust your own judgment. Intuition now is on target.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Some undercover activity affects you. Be discreet. Play cards face down. Someone who is envious would like to start rumors. Maintain aplomb, dignity. Work in conjunction with established organization.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): What was a casual friendship could develop into meaningful relationship. Don't play games with emotions. Stakes apt to be high — and for keeps. Capricorn person plays paramount role.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Conditions in domestic area apt to be less than stable. Key is to ride with tide. Plan ahead for vacation, special journey. Finish project. Have frank discussion with family member.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Journey may have to be postponed. Relative makes unusual request. Key is to heed inher voice. Means don't go against personal principles. Messages now exhibit tendency to go astray or be garbled.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Money situation requires clarification. Applies especially where partnerships are concerned. Find out early what you are supposed to give — and receive. Joint efforts now may create friction.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Get bearings. Avoid committing yourself to definite course. Some contracts, agreements subject to sudden revision. Key is versatility. Expand horizons; see beyond the immediate. Gain indicated through social affair.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Check out individual who claims to speak for group, organization. Be sure others are what they represent themselves to be. Refuse to be boxed in. Leave room for creative thinking, changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be ready for message, call which harbors chance of direction. Friend who has been incapacitated now is able to be participant. Some of your hopes and wishes are fulfilled in unorthodox manner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be a horse-trader. Means strike a hard bargain. No one intends to give you something for nothing. In turn, you should be sure to get your money's worth. Be fair but firm. Adhere to basic principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Be quiet within for answers. Specifically, conflict exists which involves neighbors, relatives. Ideas simply are not developed. You are premature. Take time to know — and grow. You will comprehend.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Money situation is spotlighted. Stick with experience. Those in authority aid. If you veer off course, you learn lesson — and it will be expensive. Obviously, word to wise here should be sufficient.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have bright sense of humor, have tendency to try doing too much at once; your charm, however, usually overcomes any faults. You are spoiled in sense that people would rather laugh with you than become angry at you. If single, marriage is on horizon. Married or single, you make some wonderful moves this year.

Saskatchewan Hires Dissenter

REGINA (CP) — Brian Hill, one of the co-authors of a dissenting view on the federal report on poverty, has been hired by the Saskatchewan government.

Premier Allan Blakeney announced Wednesday that Hill has been appointed as a research officer for the government's advisory committee on planning, priorities and management. Initially he will concentrate on the area of northern development planning.

Subsequently Hill, Ian Adams, William Cameron and Peter Penz, published a book called "The Real Poverty Report," based on their findings.

Edmonton 'Pauper'

EDMONTON (CP) — Mayor Ivor Dent Wednesday described Edmonton as "a relative pauper who has run out of manoeuvring room to pay his own way."

A mill-rate increase in unavoidable in 1972, he told a Chamber of Commerce meeting. The solution to municipal financial problems is a "reordering of our national financial resources."

Dispute Flares

EDMONTON (CP) — A dispute over money erupted Wednesday into the first major political blowup in Alberta since the Aug. 30 provincial election.

The Progressive Conservative government — which defeated Social Credit — struck the first verbal blow, saying that the previous administration was guilty of "obvious under-estimating" of the current year's budget requirements prior to the election.

Opposition Leader Harry Strom fought back several hours later with a statement calling the Conservative approach to government two-faced, dishonest and inexperienced.

Salaries Set

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg city council gave approval Wednesday to a salary range of $29,500 to $38,850 a year for the city's four top administrators.

ALBERTA DOUBLES DRIVER FEE RATE

EDMONTON (CP) — The government has doubled the cost of a driver's licence to $10 for five years from $5.

The increase in the fee was contained in a cabinet order-in-council Wednesday.

Clarence Copithorne, highways and transport minister, had said earlier that the government was considering an increase because the $5 did not cover administrative costs.

The cost of a licence is actually set out as an annual fee — $2 a year under the new rate — although licences are usually issued for five-year periods.

However, the government will be departing from this procedure during 1972 and issuing licences for one, two, three, four and five years on a random basis.

This is because almost half the 800,000 driver's licences come up for renewal this year due to a change made in 1967.

"It is another indication that the Lougheed administration must raise substantial taxes in order to have the funds to fulfil a few of the lavish promises made during the election campaign," said the Social Credit leader.

He said it appears the Conservatives intend to increase spending and to hit the taxpayers harder.

Fill Greenhouses With Early Vegetables

Each January as empty unheated greenhouses catch my attention I hope the owners will soon get them ready for growing a few early vegetables.

With the greenhouse a reality, the next item of importance is soil. Since we're always talking compost heaps, you probably have one that was started early last fall.

At the bottom, by taking away the outer shell, you should find brownish-black soil, full of humus and not nearly so wet as the open garden soil.

This is the compost to take into the greenhouse for putting through a wire screen, then spreading either on a solid wood bench or thinly in flats to dry a little more if this is necessary.

If you have a space of ground bed vacant in the greenhouse, get the digging fork to work on it to improve drainage. Water will be unable to get away if the soil is packed hard even though you add several inches of compost on top where the seeds are.

The ground bed to choose is where the low winter sun shines in from southeast to southwest without being shaded by a bench or other obstruction.

While the compost is drying out a little, see that you have a half dozen rather deep wooden boxes, like flats, but four inches deep. Other dimensions 24 by 12 inches unless you want them smaller for easier lifting. The bottom pieces spaced a quarter inch apart for drainage.

Lettuce, parsley, green onions may be sown in the flats. Sow in rows two inches apart, and space the seeds an inch apart; less for the onions.

In the ground bed if you prepare one, you can sow stump rooted carrots, broad beans, dwarf early peas, spinach or swiss chard, and a half dozen seed potato tubers, just for the fun of a few earlies.

On cold nights, newspaper sections keep the soil from freezing. Put these on when frost seems likely; about 5, just before dark, and be sure to remove in the morning as temperatures rise.

If no ground bed can be arranged, sow the beans and peas one to a small peat pot for later transferring to the open garden.

The little plants will be quite well developed by April and hardy enough in the cold greenhouse to stand the move. They will also be far ahead of those you sow later outdoors.

Even a few of each kind of hardy vegetables will be well worth the work entailed in their growing.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

On most of the game and slam deals that one encounters, winning play demands that the opponents' trumps be gathered in as quickly as possible. On some deals, correct play necessitates deferring the drawing of the opponents' trumps until more pressing matters are dealt with. And on still other hands, proper play requires that the commencement of the picking up of the adversely-held trumps be initiated at once — but not consummated until more important matters are taken care of.

In the deal which follows, we have an example of the importance of not completing the drawing of trumps until a "more pressing matter is dealt with."

Both sides vulnerable. South deals.

NORTH

♡ K 10 2
◇ A K 8 6 4

◇ 5 3

EAST
♠ 9 4
♡ 6 3
◇ J 10 9 7
♣ Q J 7 4 2

SOUTH
♡ A Q J 9 4
◇ Q 2
♣ A 10 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	1♠	2◇	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3♡	Pass
4♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠.

On West's lead of the spade king, East dropped the encouraging nine. The ace of spades was led next, East completing his high-low signal by playing the four. A third spade was then made, East ruffing as South's queen fell. East then shifted to the club queen, South winning the trick with his ace.

It was obvious to South that he could get rid of a club loser on one of dummy's high diamonds. It was equally obvious that if dummy's diamond suit did not provide a discard for South's other losing club, his four-heart contract would be defeated. And South was also aware of the fact that the six outstanding diamonds did not figure to divide 3-3.

After winning his club ace, South cashed the ace of hearts, after which he led the queen of hearts to dummy's king. He now stopped playing trumps (leaving West with one trump), thus preserving the board's ten of trumps as an entry to dummy.

He then laid down the diamond queen, and followed up by leading another diamond to dummy's king. Next came a low diamond, which he ruffed with the jack of trumps (to eliminate the possible danger that West might overruff).

Tre four of hearts was now led to dummy's ten, picking up West's remaining trump en route. On the ace of diamonds, South discarded the three of clubs. And on the established fifth diamond, South tossed away the ten of clubs.

Oxygen Supplied

KELOWNA (CP) — The provincial health department has agreed to supply oxygen worth $11.25 a tank to a Kelowna man with a heart condition who can't get a supply from welfare officials. Cyril Pearce, 62, was informed by the health department last week that he will no longer have to pay for the oxygen out of his welfare cheque. He cannot leave his home because of his condition.

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

9 IN MEMORIAM

HUGHES — In memory of our beloved husband and grandfather George Hughes who passed away Jan. 20, 1961.
Sadly missed and always remembered. Eleanor, Lorraine and Al.

One year has passed since
That sad day.
When one we loved was called away.
God took her home, it was
His will;
But in our hearts she
Liveth still.
Sadly missed and never forgotten by daughter, Marie-Louise, son, Fred and family.

YOUR HEALTH: Dr. Walter Alvarez

How to Stop Hiccups

When I was a boy, I often got attacks of hiccups, usually after I had been laughing heartily. I could practically always get relief quickly by sipping water. The wise old Scotswoman who somethimes took care of me suggested that the sipping would work beter if I would drink, not from the near side of the glass, but from the opposite side of the glass.

Interestingly, in the fine New England Journal of Medicine, I read a suggestion by Drs. E. G. Engleman and James and Barbara Lankton who say that one teaspoonful of ordinary white granulated sugar, swallowed "dry," stopped hiccups in 19 of 20 patients.

What happens, when a person has hiccups, is probably that the phrenic nerve, which goes from the neck to the diaphragm (the muscle which separates the chest cavity from the abdominal cavity), for some reason becomes irritated and causes a spasm.

During my long medical life I can remember seeing only a very few people with hiccups that did not clear quickly with sipping water. The most interesting case I ever saw was that of a man who came to the Mayo Clinic after a year of working extremely hard in one of the booths at the world fair, and was at the point of exhaustion. Apparently his hiccups were in some way associated with his psychic upset from being so weary, and he had been hiccuping for four days when I saw him. I gave him a good-sized dose of a barbiturate which gave him a good sleep, and wen he woke up he was free of his hiccups.

GALLBLADDER OPERATIONS FOR THE ELDERLY

During my long medical life I have advised hundreds of people with what I call "silent" gallstones, that is, stones not producing any noticeable symptoms and often discovered accidentally during a routine physical examination, not to rush into an operation. As long as the stones are not bothering them, why not wait and see if they ever produce symptoms? This is what I have done; 50 years ago, I learned that I have some gallstones, but they have never bothered me, so I have never bothered them. My surgeon friends have not been so sure that this is wise, because they felt that it would be better for me to have the operation while I was young, rather than waiting until later, and perhaps getting a gallstone colic when I could not so successfully tolerate the operation and perhaps would die on the table.

'Ottawa Policies Led to Recovery'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Albert Hall, president of the Bank of British Columbia, said Tuesday that the nation is on the threshold of a strong economic performance that should continue through most of the seventies."

But he warned this doesn't mean the country isn't without serious economic problems, including inflation and unemployment.

Hall, speaking at the bank's annual meeting, said the federal government's fiscal and monetary policies were instrumental in the country's economic recovery in 1971.

"The expansionary economic policies of our federal government have well established the recovery in our province; however, a series of extraneous influences have kept it more modest than it might otherwise have been," Hall said.

He said these included new tax legislation and the white paper on foreign investment. New economic policies of the U.S. further created uncertainty and slowed down federal government measures aimed at stimulating the economy.

Hall said international monetary stability is more important to British Columbia than to other sectors of the country, because B.C. exports about 53 per cent of its commodity production.

'Young Girls Forced To Be Prostitutes'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A sauna parlor has served for about nine months as a cover for prostitution operation involving forced participation and torture of young women, authorities say.

Grand jury indictments containing 38 counts and naming six persons were issued while persons identified as affiliates of the sauna establishment were preparing to open a branch sauna in Milwaukee.

Wisconsin Attorney-General Robert Warren and Dane County's district attorney, Gerald Nichol, issued a statement Monday night, describing a "kidnap-torture prostitution ring between Minneapolis and Madison."

They said about 20 young women, most of them imported from Minneapolis, had worked at the sauna parlor in suburban Monona.

The complaints also spoke of use of a heated burning iron, and a woman having been "beaten and kicked for four hours."

Nichol said some of the girls forced to participate were less than 18 years old.

'VICTIM' RECOVERS, THEFT DISCOVERED

LONDON (UPI) — Three customers at the First National Bank of Boston clustered about the man who had just fainted on the floor of the bank in Cadogan Place, Belgravia.

"Get him some water," said one.

"Looks like a heart attack," another added.

To the side, a fifth man lifted two boxes containing $39,000 in currency and travelers cheques from behind a counter.

The man on the floor, "recovering," muttered "I must get home to my wife" and was helped out the door.

Police said the theft was discovered after the five men believed to be Australians had disappeared.

Fumes Kill Envoy

VIENNA (AP) — Security police were investigating today the death of Grant Laverne Arnold, 47, an employee of the Canadian embassy, whose body was found Tuesday in a car filled with exhaust fumes in the garage at his home near Vienna.

Arnold had returned home after duty shortly after midnight Monday night.

The house, accommodating Arnold, his wife and a son, used to be the residence of the Canadian ambassador himself.

Police sources reported that upon arrival, Arnold told his wife he would go briefly to the garage but did not return.

His wife found him at 8 a.m. Tuesday dead in his car with the engine still running.

Terra Mines To Pay Back Wages

EDMONTON (CP) — Terra Mining and Exploration Ltd. plans to re-open its silver mine on Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories by the end of the month, says Patrick Cronkite, company secretary.

Cronkite said in an interview that about $19,000 in back wages is owed to about 35 employees but this should be paid by Friday night.

He was commenting on a report from Yellowknife, N.W.T., earlier in the day that miners had been stranded without pay when a problem with a generator shut down the mine last Friday.

Five miners employed by the company showed up at the N.W.T. council meeting in Yellowknife Tuesday asking for help.

Floyd Belisle 42, of Edmonton, a spokesman for the miners, said they were evacuated from the mine site by charter aircraft after the generator broke down. He said the men had only $1.50 between them and were owed considerable amounts of back pay.

Another company spokesman said arrangements were being made to provide hotel accommodation for the men and to return them to Edmonton.

CENTENARIAN FINDS MATE

"The staff did everything in their power to stop our secret meetings," he said of his courtship with Magdalene Klein, 72. They will be married Jan. 31 — Koch's 100th birthday.

OIL RATE HIKED BY DEVALUATION

GENEVA (UPI) — Persian Gulf oil states and major petroleum companies today announced an 8.49 per cent increase in the posted prices of crude oil to compensate the producing countries for loss of revenue due to devaluation of the dollar.

The agreement, reached in 11 days of hard negotiations between the six countries and representatives of the 16 major oil companies, also included provisions for further adjustments in oil revenues depending on any further significant change in the dollar's value.

The producing countries said the oil companies had conceded that producers were entitled to compensation while the companies, in a joint statement following signature of the agreement, said there had been "a realistic settlement."

Guards' Tactic: Work-to-Rule

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Prison guards at the British Columbia Penitentiary said Wednesday they will inform the acting director of the penitentiary today of their intention to "work to standards" because of the government's "forcing of bilingual shoulder flashes" on the guards.

The guards, members of the Public Service Alliance of Canada, said they would meet F. R. Graves, acting director of the B.C. Penitentiary, to inform him they would work to standards beginning Friday.

A meeting of the guards decided to take the step because of the "forcing" of the flashes on the men.

ing of the French phrase over the English as symbolic of a plan by Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer to give preference to French-Canadians in the penitentiary service for which his department is responsible.

Russian Vessels End Resistance

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Two Soviet fishing vessels accused of violating U.S. waters are plowing through Bering Sea pack ice with their U.S. Coast Guard escort towards Adak Island and an uncertain reception by federal legal authorities.

Coast guard spokesmen said Russians aboard the 362-foot factory ship Lamut, flagship of an 80-vessel Soviet herring fleet, and the trawler Kolyvan abruptly agreed Wednesday to leave the St. Matthew Island area after more than a day of delay.

Accompanied by the icebreaker Storis, the two Soviet vessels transferred excess crew members to nearby Russian boats and took on water before beginning the 600-mile voyage to the Aleutian Islands naval station. They are due there Friday.

Both were taken into custody late Monday by the Storis about 9½ miles from St. Matthew, some 200 miles west of the Alaska mainland. They were accused of conducting illegal fishery support activity within the U.S. 12-mile fishery zone.

U.K. Jobless Total Passes Million Mark

LONDON (AP) — The number of British jobless jumped more than 56,000 this month to go above the million-mark for the first time in 25 years.

The department of employment said today there were 1,023,583 persons without work on Jan. 10 in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. The last time the total was above a million was during freak winter conditions in February, 1947, when there were 1,911,461 idle.

The number out of work in England, Scotland and Wales alone, the department said, was 977,538—4.3 per cent of the total work force.

Eric Varley, Labor party member of Parliament, immediately lashed out at Prime Minister Edward Heath. The British people, he said, were "seething with anger at the havoc he has heartlessly created."

Bangladesh Counting On Canadian Aid

BOMBAY (CP) — Bangladesh political workers in India are hopeful that the government and people of Canada will give substantial assistance to the new republic.

Before leaving for their homeland after a stay of 10 months in India, a spokesman said: "Many Canadian citizens have voiced sympathy for our liberation struggle."

"They have assured us that their government will earmark generous funds for the task of economic reconstruction."

Indian and Bangladesh political circles expect Canada to recognize the new government in Dacca "pretty soon," the spokesman said.

Officials have taken note of External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp's statement that it will be difficult to consider Bangladesh as being in full control of the former Pakistani province of East Pakistan so long as Indian troops are maintaining local law and order.

Bangladesh political workers seem to feel that the Canadian government was "unduly hesitant" in its approach to the freedom struggle in their country.

One young man said: "I thought the Canadian government would have come out strongly against the genocide in Bangladesh. One can understand the American government's attitude since it is committed to supporting Pakistan. But Ottawa's silence was painful, to put it mildly."

Officers Elected

Others elected are: first vice-president, Edmund Allan; second vice-president, A. J. Bowering; treasurer, Dr. J. F. Mercer and secretary, Mrs. Evan S. Jones.

Committee chairmen are: Medical board, Dr. C. Y. Brown; women's auxiliary, Mrs. George Steele; CARS clinic, Mrs. Judy Loretan; hospitality, Mrs. E. C. Carson; drivers, Walter Fletcher; welfare council, Mrs. N. B. Fatt, and building, Evan S. Jones.

Hospital Appointment

Alvin S. Bowes has been named to replace Allan Forsyth as a government appointee to the Clearwater Hospital Board.

Bowes' appointment took place Wednesday for a two-year period. Forsyth quit the board last March and resigned from the B.C. Social Credit League in protest of government hospital policies.

Forsyth had served on the board two months. Board chairman John Harwood also quit the Social Credit League Oct. 1 but did not resign from the board.

N. Cowichan Development 'A Mess'

NORTH COWICHAN — Newly-elected Alderman Ron McKinnon's suggestion that council set up an advisory planning commission drew little support Wednesday.

He urged council to think five to 10 years ahead "because, let's face it, the municipality is in a mess."

McKinnon said the commission is vital to ensure orderly development.

He said the planning group could be set up similar to the recreation commission which has been so successful.

The commission would help take some of the workload off council members, McKinnon said.

Ald. Don Morton agreed that planning has to be done but stressed that commission people devoid of personal interest are hard to find.

He said that the responsibility still lies with council and that a planning commission "gives us a scapegoat without us having to stand up and be counted. I know of one municipality that gets rid of everything by referring it to the town planning commission."

Negligence Trial Ordered

Michael Lovejoy, 19, of 1480 McTavish, North Saanich, will stand trial in Supreme Court on a charge of criminal negligence as a result of a traffic accident in North Saanich Oct. 31, 1971.

A Sidney youth, Michael Villers, 20, of Beacon Avenue, was fatally injured in the accident. Lovejoy was committed for trial after a lengthy preliminary hearing in Sidney Monday.

Fallers Needed

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — $100-a-day jobs are going begging in the cold, snowy central interior of British Columbia.

Canada Manpower said that logging outfits can't find tree fallers, with about 30 such jobs available in the Prince George area alone.

COPPER MINERS REMAIN IDLE

PORT HARDY — Just over 300 copper miners stayed away from work today in a walkout protest over the cost of living in this remote northern Vancouver Island community.

"I am disappointed we had to go on strike in order to live," said Wayne Fox, a spokesman for the employees at Utah Mines Ltd.

He said officials of the International Union of Operating Engineers were flying in from Vancouver today.

While he expected union officials would order the men to return to work, "we are not prepared to go back."

The men want a housing subsidy or a cost of living allowance. Their union contract, however, has just passed the first-year point in a three-year term although there is a wage re-opening clause next year.

As an example, he gave his own case in the cost of living issue.

His total monthly expenses come to $585, with the biggest amounts being $200 for a mortgage and $200 for food. His monthly take-home pay is $520.

The top take home pay at the mine is $135 a week, he said.

He said the walkout which began Wednesday, is only over the cost of living and is not an internal union dispute.

"We can't live on what we make," he said.

He said new potatoes, for example, sold last summer in Vancouver for 33 cents for 10 pounds. In Port Hardy, they cost $1.25.

Mine manager Mort Pratt was not available for comment and other company officials declined comment.

BEFORE THE JUDGE

A woman hotel employee pleaded guilty in provincial court Wednesday to obtaining money from the Victoria welfare office by fraud.

Rose M. Ek, 42, of 801 Front St., was remanded to Jan. 24 for pre-sentence report and sentence.

Evidence showed Mrs. Ek obtained $555 in assistance in September and October last year while failing to declare earnings of $445 from the Empress Hotel. With the earnings, she would have been entitled to $341 assistance.

A 41-year-old Songhees Reserve man was ordered to pay a $50 fine or spend a week in jail after he pleaded guilty to hitting his common-law wife over the head with a stereo record player.

Edward Dick, of 1 Coopers Rd., was charged with common assault. Judge William Ostler said he was surprised the charge hadn't been assault causing bodily harm in view of the injuries suffered by Ada Monica Charlie.

The incident occurred Jan. 2. Dick was given until the end of the month to pay the fine.

Five city men were fined $50 each after they pleaded guilty to failing to file income tax returns for two years.

Fined $25 on each of two counts of violation of the Income Tax Act were William F. Coburn, Michael A. Cochrane, Terrance S. Crocker, Lloyd E. Good and Allan R. Heater. All were offered time to pay the fines.

David Michael Edwards, 21, of 3587 Happy Valley Road, was fined $300 and placed on two years' probation after he pleaded guilty to theft of a credit card.

The card was stolen from a Saanich service station where Edwards had once worked. It was used in November to get gas and oil in Vancouver and California.

Judge E. F. N. Robinson sentenced Lloyd Harris, 47, of 1330 Pembroke to two weeks in jail and fined him $250 after he pleaded guilty to impaired driving and driving without insurance. Harris was also given a six-month partial driving ban.

A charge of possession of narcotics for purposes of trafficking against a 24-year-old Lake Cowichan man was withdrawn and the accused pleaded guilty to a charge of possession.

Victoria RCMP said Nicholas George Orton picked up a chocolate box at Box 526, Lake Cowichan, Nov. 17. Orton was followed by police to a Saanich address, where the box was found to contain chocolates in the top layer, and a pound of hashish in the bottom.

The accused was remanded to Feb. 1 for pre-sentence report and sentence.

Judge E. F. N. Robinson in traffic court fined William Jacowenik, 43, of Mill Bay, $350 and gave him a four-month partial driving ban after Jacowenik pleaded guilty to impaired driving in Colwood Dec. 19.

SEER SAYS TOT DEAD

PENDER HARBOUR (CP) — A clairvoyant has told the parents of a missing four-year-old girl that she is dead in a water-filled hole.

Maria Mul of North Vancouver said Wednesday she was called to this community north of Vancouver by the girl's parents because of her reputation.

She said Rene Van Arsdell, who has been missing since leaving her home Jan. 9, to visit neighbors, fell into a brush-covered hole near her home, lost consciousness, but was alive for 36 hours.

An RCMP spokesman said police have a man in the area with a tracking dog but that this "has nothing to do with the clairvoyant." Police earlier had ended a widespread search for the girl and have been concentrating on an investigation to determine whether she might have been abducted.

Meantime, police in Nanaimo are seeking a woman with a small child seen aboard a ferry Jan. 10 en route to Nanaimo from Horseshoe Bay. The child was crying and asking for her mother.

It was reported in Toronto Wednesday that relatives of the missing girl had posted a $5,000 reward through the Ontario attorney-general's department for information on the disappearance.

Language Expenses Defrayed

OTTAWA (CP) — New measures designed to help provinces defray supplementary costs of providing second-language instruction in one of Canada's official languages were announced today by State Secretary Gerard Pelletier.

The measures primarily affect university level education.

They cover grants for teaching in minority languages in eligible universities, bursaries and fellowships to help individuals either improve their language skills or get instruction elsewhere than their home province in their own language and assistance in creation of language centres.

They supplement measures announced in 1970 for lower levels of schooling.

Mr. Pelletier said the measures will cost between $7 million and $8 million annually and will be financed from funds already allocated by the government for co-operative programs with the provinces in relation to education in Canada's two official languages.

It said the new measures have been prepared in close federal-provincial co-operation and that the provinces will administer them.

'GOOD NEWS'

Dr. O. M. Abrioux, head of the 500-student-plus French department at the University of Victoria, said the new aid is "very good news as far as we're concerned."

He said he will be investigating the details of the program as soon as possible.

To date, through other grants, the federal government has always been co-operative in supplying funds for French instruction, he said.

For instance, three graduate students here were given a $3,500 Opportunities for Youth grant last summer, and with this they made a study on adults who want to learn French to improve their job situations.

DEMAND HIGH

As a result, UVic's continuing education department, with the help of Abrioux, set up in September a three-year adult diploma course.

"We were surprised by the number of applications," he said. Out of the 90 applicants there was only room in the course for about 60.

Abrioux said UVic's "highly reputed" French summer school was attended by 50 students last year, which was more than double 1970's enrolment, and most of these are helped by federal grants.

Spring Recreation Booms in Sidney

Sidney recreation commission has had to put skates on to keep up with the flood of registrations for the spring activities program.

More than 70 youngsters were roller skating on Saturday morning in Sanscha and many others had to be turned away because equipment was lacking.

Commission president Chuck Harvey said this week that several dozen skates will be purchased immediately.

About 80 youngsters between the ages of six and 20 have registered for a new self-defence course given by two RCMP constables and numbers have doubled in registrations for basketball, badminton and gymnastics.

ADULTS, TOO

Adults are also turning out to the second organized community recreation program.

There is a waiting list for three yoga classes held each week, floor hockey teams and keep-fit sessions.

Well-attended dances and drop-ins complete with chess, volleyball and ping pong are providing off-the-street activities for Sidney teenagers.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The biggest need, says commission secretary Eleanor Sowerby, is for volunteers to supervise the hordes of youngsters. Commission members themselves and about 50 other adults are already involved with course instruction and supervision.

"Everything has mushroomed," says Mrs. Sowerby, pointing to preliminary registrations of more than 400.

Sewer Cost Overrun Disputed

A contractor on a major part of the Macaulay Point sewerage work is seeking an extda 26 per cent over the bid price, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Dennis Young, executive director of the Capital Regional District, told the board that Dillingham Corp. Canada Ltd. has claimed $585,378.29 "for extra 26 per cent over the bid trunk sewer contract which was worth $2.25 million.

Young said the claim was rejected by district engineer Bill Gerry and consultants Associated Engineering Services Ltd. "as being unrealistic and without substance."

However, the company wanted to have the matter arbitrated under a section of the contract and the district had been advised legally that this is "the wisest course of action."

The name of Charles Brawner, a Vancouver engineer, was put forward as the district's nominee on the arbitration.

The regional board decided to defer the matter to the next meeting, next Wednesday.

Sooke director Howard Elder commented, in a question, "isn't this the standard play they make, many times in the U.S.?"

And in answer to one question, Young said Brawner's fee would be $300 a day plus expenses which lawyer Louis Lindholm had considered "not inappropriate."

Victoria director Tom Christie said $300 a day is "a pretty high fee, a very, very high fee."

Victoria Mayor Peter Pollen said he found it "extremely alarming" that a contract would have an arbitration section for claimed extra expenses and North Saanich Mayor Trevor Davis said arbitration clauses are usually over interpretation and not substance.

Young said arbitration clauses such as the one in the sewer contract are "fairly standard" in construction contracts.

Most of the work on the northwest sewer, which runs through Vic West and Esquimalt, was underground and it was "not unexpected to find some extras, but the magnitude of the extras claimed by Dillingham is out of all reason, our consultants say."

MAYOR CURTIS UNOPPOSED

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis was re-elected without opposition Wednesday as chairman of the Capital Regional District board.

Curtis has been chairman of the board every year except one since 1966.

The election for acting chairman saw two consecutive ties between Victoria Mayor Peter Pollen and Central Saanich Mayor Archie Galbraith.

Nominations were then reopened and Oak Bay Mayor Frances Elford joined the other two. The ballot returned Galbraith as acting chairman.

Curtis was nominated as chairman by Pollen, while Langford director Earl Pallister nominated Galbraith as acting chairman.

Curtis promised a "very active year" in which a great deal can be accomplished "with cohesiveness."

The 18 directors were sworn in by Judge William Ostler of the Provincial Court of B.C.

Ferrill Adds To Point Lead

Dennis Ferrill scored a goal and helped on two others Monday to pace Stockers North Americans to a 3-0 victory over Empress Paint and boost his scoring lead in the Stuffy McGinnis Hockey League.

Ferrill now has 25 points from 11 goals and 14 assists while runner-up Tom Allen of Ingraham Buckaroos trails with 20 points from 15 goals and five assists.

Pipeline Spending Approved

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Energy Board Wednesday authorized a $54-million pipeline construction program in British Columbia, the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Westcoast Transmission Ltd. of Vancouver had sought approval for the additional facilities to meet increased domestic and export commitments for natural gas.

The construction program includes 62.6 miles of 36-inch pipeline to be added to existing facilities throughout British Columbia, additions to gas treatment facilities at Fort Nelson, B.C., and 36 miles of 20-inch pipeline to the Beaver River gas field in British Columbia through a corner of the Yukon from the Northwest Territories.

The energy board noted that the Indian Brotherhood of the Northwest Territories had objected to their not being consulted before the granting of land rights to Westcoast Transmission in the Yukon and the Territories.

The board said it should not "take a position in this disagreement which is entirely between the Indian people and the department of Indian affairs."

The board also said it believes Westcoast "has the experience and ability to construct the facilities in the northern regions in a manner which will protect the ecology and environment."

The board stated it would "maintain close surveillance of the project" to ensure the ecology is protected.

Hydro to Abide by PUC Ruling

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Hydro chairman Gordon Shrum said Wednesday that although Hydro wants to distribute natural gas on Vancouver Island, it will abide by a decision of the Public Utilities Commission on this question.

In an interview Shrum said this does not represent any change in Hydro's position.

In a letter to the commission last month, he said Hydro intended to distribute gas on the Island. He later was reported as saying this meant Hydro would distribute all natural gas on the Island regardless of which company builds a pipeline to the Island from the mainland.

Shrum said today the report had "strengthened his statement a little bit."

He added that Tuesday's government order-in-council — place Hydro under the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission concerning construction, operation and maintenance of a pipeline to Vancouver Island — is a good idea.

He added it doesn't make any difference to Hydro, which will make the same submission to the commission it had planned to make anyway.

This gave legal effect to an earlier promise by Hydro to accept a commission decision on who should built the pipeline. Hydro had earlier taken the position it did not need commission approval to build a pipeline.

Premier Bennett said the order-in-council places Hydro under the authority of the commission for construction of the pipeline — but not for any other part of the pipeline's operations.

Bus Rolls on Side

SUMAS (CP) — A Greyhound bus, with eight persons aboard, rolled over on its side Wednesday night in trying to avoid a collision with a truck at an intersection in this community, about 40 miles east of Vancouver.

The bus driver hit the brakes and the bus slewed to one side and tipped over into a ditch.

Ward System Urged

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Citizens' Committee on Civic Development said Wednesday it has written Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell asking him to sponsor an amendment in the legislature to provide for a ward system of civic government for Vancouver, rather than the at-large system of electing aldermen now in force, if city council declines to make the change.

Church Asks Probe

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Native Indian Committee of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church has called for a full investigation of the recent inquest at Williams Lake into the death of Frederick Quilt, 55.

The request was contained in a telegram sent Wednesday to Attorney-General Leslie Peterson.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death after RCMP officers denied beating Quilt in an incident last Nov. 28. The man died two days later in hospital.

Decision Reserved

VANCOUVER (CP) — Decision was reserved Wednesday on an application by the Vancouver local of the Office and Technical Employees' Union for an injunction to prevent British Columbia Hydro from suspending employees who refuse to fill out efficiency study forms. The union wants an injunction until a union grievance on the question has been settled.

Latin Air Service

VANCOUVER (CP) — CP Air announced Wednesday that it is resuming its Latin American service, and has received permission to operate three charter flights from U.S. airports.

A spokesman said the Latin American service involved three flights a week between Mexico City, Lima, Santiago and Buenos Aires.

Sniffing Protest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forty mothers and children marched along downtown streets with a police escort Wednesday to bring attention to the sale of nail polish remover to children.

There has been increasing concern in recent weeks among police and parents over the use of the remover by children as an intoxicant.

Straight Sit-In

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 15 members of the staff of the Georgia Straight occupied the newspaper's office in a dispute with owner-publisher Dan McLeod.

Peter Burton, a reporter for the non-establishment weekly, said the group took control because two months of negotiations with McLeod failed to get him to turn over the ownership to a co-operative of staff members.

The group said in a statement that the entire staff, including McLeod, agreed in principle Nov. 19 that the Straight should be run as a collective but McLeod then refused to turn over legal ownership to the co-operative.

NITRO BOMB THREAT

An anonymous caller today told the Times he may throw a bottle of nitroglycerine onto the floor of the legislature during opening ceremonies.

The male voice said, "I am hoping to hear some good words about unemployment . . . if not, I am taking down a little bottle of nitro and I may throw it on the floor."

Asked to identify himself, the man replied, "you could call me the prince of ponces."

Local RCMP detachments admit they have received similar calls in the last 24 hours.

RCMP Inspector H. A. Johnson said appropriate measures have been taken and ample security is in effect for the opening.

Cabinet Acts, Bans Strikes At Hospitals

The B.C. cabinet today invoked the Mediation Commission Act (Bill 33) to provide for compulsory arbitration in the current hospitals labor-management dispute.

Labor Minister James Chabot told a press conference the act was invoked because of the "grave danger to the health and well being of the public" in the event of hospital strikes.

The order applies to the 10,500-member Hospital Employees' Union, which has been taking strike votes at a number of hospitals, and the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., which agreed Wednesday to voluntarily go before the B.C. Mediation Commission for a binding settlement.

Chabot said this was to ensure that the nurses have equal opportunity to appear before any commission hearings.

Under the terms of the act, the commission's decision will be binding on all parties.

STRIKE VOTES

The cabinet's decision came just after employees of Port Alberni's West Coast General Hospital voted 94.7 per cent in favor of strike action and just as balloting was being concluded on a strike vote at St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria.

Strike votes had been approved earlier by employees at hospitals in North Vancouver, Kamloops, Trail, Kelowna and Kimberley.

Shortly before noon, a strike notice was delivered to St. Joseph's Hospital by Ray McCready, secretary-manager of the Hospital Employees Union.

A hospital source said just over 70 per cent voted in favor of strike action. McCready could not be located for comment.

Chabot said this is the first time the Mediation Commission Act has been used by the cabinet before a strike took place.

"This is one of those problems when we can't tolerate a strike to begin and under these circumstances we can no longer gamble with the health of the public," he said.

TALKS COLLAPSE

He added that the order for employees to remain at work was not made at the request of either side in the dispute.

The government announced earlier that it will not share in increased wage and fringe benefit costs in 1972 beyond 6.5 per cent. Negotiations with both HEU and RNABC and the B.C. Hospitals Association collapsed at this point, with HEU proceeding with strike votes and the RNABC calling for a government mediator.

The Hospital Employees' Union, which represents non-professional hospital workers, had been seeking a 25 per cent across-the-board wage increase over two years and other improvements which BCHA said would be a 50 per cent cost increase. The RNABC has declined to disclose its demands.

B.C. Stalling On Fee Hike

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

The new fee schedule of British Columbia doctors is going to be ignored — for the time being — by the provincial government.

The reason is the Medical Services Commission, the provincial agency which administers medicare, has had no instructions from government to alter its current scale of payments to doctors.

Word came from the commission to the B.C. Medical Association and was passed along to local delegates Wednesday. It was posted in hospitals for the information of doctors today.

It is the first indication from any source on how the government has responded to the new fee schedule which doctors put into effect Jan. 1.

The schedule represents an overall increase of 8.2 per cent, all allocated to the six groups of doctors, including general practitioners, earning the lowest incomes in the medical profession.

The latest development means little to the public at the moment. Almost all provincial residents are covered under medicare and almost all doctors bill the Medical Services Commission rather than their patients.

It does mean there has been no break in the stalemate between doctors and government on fees, despite the new schedule of fees the doctors have introduced.

Doctors, through the B.C.

Recall Out —PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said today the government has no immediate plans to recall Parliament to deal with the strike of air traffic controllers.

There would be no interference, at the moment at least, with the bargaining process, he told reporters on his way into the regular Thursday morning cabinet meeting.

Mr. Trudeau said the cabinet would discuss the strike.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson and C. M. Drury, president of the treasury board which is negotiating on behalf of the government, both declined comment.

The strike has grounded virtually all commercial air traffic in Canada since Monday.

RESUME BARGAINING

The cabinet met at the same time as negotiators for the government and the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association started their fourth day of talks under mediator Noel Hall of Vancouver.

In negotiations that have gone late into the night there have been no indications or a narrowing of critical differences over pay claims.

Representatives of both sides gave muttered "no comment" when asked late Wednesday about progress.

Cabinet discussion on the strike had been expected to cover several possibilities aimed at ending the dispute that has virtually closed 116 airports.

These were a request for resumptions of Parliament, now in recess; authorization for a beefed up treasury board offer, imposition of a deadline for talks or a decision to let the collective-bargaining process continue unhindered.

Police Slay 3 in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (CP) — Three black Africans were shot dead by police during rioting Wednesday evening and early today.

A government statement issued late today said the slayings took place in the black township of Harari, near the city's industrial areas.

Those arrested totalled 44, of which two dozen suffered gunshot wounds. At least 13 were being treated in hospital.

Before the rioting was quelled, thousands of blacks stoned cars and shops and set fire to buildings and automobiles.

RIOTING BEGAN SUNDAY

Black riots began Sunday in Gwelo, an industrial city 200 miles southwest of Salisbury, the capital. The unrest was touched off by the arrival of a British commission to canvass public reaction to the proposed British-Rhodesian settlement.

The rioting is widely interpreted in London as dooming the settlement worked out by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government and Rhodesia's white rulers last November. The agreement stipulates that it will not go into effect unless the British determine it is acceptable to a majority of the Rhodesians.

SMITH PLANS MEETINGS

Prime Minister Ian Smith was understood to be planning emergency meetings with his security chiefs to discuss the increasingly tense situation. A senior British official was on his way from London to make an on-the-spot assessment of the situation for the British government.

Raiding at one point into the capital itself, marauding groups burned cars, set fire to buildings, stoned passing vehicles and smashed and looted shop windows in this first eruption of mob violence in the Salisbury area since the African nationalist party wars in 1963 and 1964.

Police used tear gas to break up groups of the rioters in Harari, home of 60,000 Africans. Tear gas was also used to avoid another outbreak of Gwelo-style violence in the town of Fort Victoria, 200 miles to the south of the main Salisbury-South Africa highway.

Africans ransacked a liquor store, set fire to a tractor and stoned a government building, a clinic, a police truck and a butcher shop in Fort Victoria's African suburb of Mucheke, where 10,000 Africans live, segregated from the farming town's 3,000 whites.

Today, government officials were privately linking the new wave of unrest with the presence in the country of the British commission.

SEEK AFRICAN OPINION

The seven commission teams at present are slogging their way through deep mud and crossing rivers and streams in their search for a reliable guide to African rural opinion about the Anglo-Rhodesian settlement terms.

Almost everywhere they have gone they have been getting the same answer: No.

U.S. to Boost Arms Spending

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon told Congress today United States military spending will rise in 1972-73 because he needs a strong defence establishment to help him reach peaceful agreements with the Communist powers.

He announced his decision on arms spending in his annual State of the Union address to a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Nixon, who is standing for another four-year White House term, called on the election-year Congress to give him bipartisan support at home and abroad.

He pleaded with members to forget presidential politics and resist the pressures of polling day in November in the interests of prosperity, national unity and world peace.

The president did not disclose the size of the new defence program, which is included in the over-all federal budget to be sent to Congress Monday.

But he said he would ask for an extra $2 billion for the navy and an additional $838 million for military research and development.

He would allocate more than $900 million to improve seabased nuclear deterrent forces.

Mass IRA Break Foiled by Police

BELFAST (UPI) — British soldiers and Northern Ireland police today foiled an apparent mass break-out attempt at the Longkesh internment camp where most of the 500 security suspects seized in Ulster are held, a British Army officer said.

In the first news conference held inside the camp, northeast of Belfast, Brigadier Oliver Pratt told newsmen, "we uncovered an awful lot of stuff."

More than 1,000 troops and police moved into the camp at daybreak and thoroughly searched the complex of huts and buildings for more than eight hours, Pratt said.

The findings "undoubtedly included implements for a breakout, Pratt said.

In sleeping quarters troops found the beginnings of two tunnels, one of them two feet deep and 18 inches wide. Floor tiles had been glued together to cover the hole in one of the huts, Pratt said.

Pratt said soldiers also found a quantity of tools, including hacksaw blades and what he described as weapons made from pipes and nails.

Plane Hijacked

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A Hughes Airwest plane bound for Reno was commandeered at the Las Vegas airport today by a man who demanded two parachutes, a crash helmet and $50,000 in small bills.

HURRICANE . . . ER, HIM-RICANE

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricanes should be named after U.S. senators instead of women, a Miami feminist has told a top-level gathering of weather experts.

And Roxcy Bolton says she's rather partial to dubbing the storms him-icanes, too. She says hurricane sounds like her-icane.

"I'm sick and tired of hearing that 'Cheryl was no lady as she devastated such and such a town,' or 'Betsy annihilated this or that'," said Mrs. Bolton, a former vice-president of the National Organization of Women.

"As long as people can name her-icanes after us it's just another way of putting women down."

Her proposal Wednesday to the annual national oceanic and atmospheric administration hurricane season planning conference received a chilly reception.

Dr. Karl Johannessen, associate director of the national weather service, told Mrs. Bolton that naming the often-deadly storms after women was nothing personal. But he balked at her suggestion to name them after senators.

"Would you want to cast a slur on United States senators?" he asked.

He then suggested the names of men be used one year, the names of women the next in an alternating system.

PILL FOR PIGEONS

Victoria's parks committee today decided to buy a supply of a special drug that will temporarily sterilize the pigeons to slow down the reproduction rate.

The chemical is called Ornitrol and is made in the "animal health division" of G. D. Searle and Co., Skokie, Illinois.

Following complaints from a number of sources that the pigeons around city hall are becoming a nuisance, city purchasing agent G. F. Sharpe came up with the Ornitrol plan.

The idea is so appealing, in fact, that officials intend to use it also over a two-year program to curb pigeon reproduction in Bastion Square and at the Public Library on Yates.

The manufacturer says the "chemosterilant" takes a year to show its effects. It should not harm pets like dogs and cats because these animals don't eat whole kernel corn, in which the Ornitrol is contained.

The job will cost $1,100.

Documents Show PM King Anticipated 1941 Japanese Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — In the aftermath of the outbreak of war with Japan Canadian authorities were concerned less with possible subversion by Japanese Canadians on the West Coast than by possible outbreaks against them by the white population.

This is revealed in minutes of the Canadian cabinet war committee, just made public.

The documents also show that Prime Minister Mackenzie King anticipated Japanese action against the Allies in the Pacific well over a year before Pearl Harbor.

However, he apparently believed that the Japanese thrust would be aimed primarily against Britain rather than against Britain and the U.S. combined.

At a war committee meeting Dec. 29, 1941, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, a visitor in Ottawa, asked about the Japanese population in British Columbia. Some years previously they had caused "a good deal of trouble."

Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, chief of the general staff, replied that he had just returned from the Pacific coast. Members of a special government committee, as well as military, police and local authorities, were less concerned about the possibility of subversion than the danger of "serious anti-Japanese outbreaks."

That was three weeks after the Japanese attack on the American naval base at Pearl Harbor.

The minutes also show that in September, 1940, Premier Duff Pattullo of British Columbia sent a letter to King expressing "grave concern" about the consequences of calling Japanese- or Chinese-Canadians for military training programs.

The cabinet disliked the idea of discriminating for or against racial groups, but also agreed that provincial views must be treated with respect.

Accordingly, it was decided to omit Japanese and Chinese in British Columbia from the first call for military training.

On Jan. 16, 1941, the cabinet accepted a recommendation of the special committee — made up of H. L. Keenleyside of the external affairs department and Assistant RCMP Commissioner F. J. Mead — calling for registration of all B.C. residents of Japanese origin.

After the attack on Pearl Harbor, Canadian authorities began impounding Japanese-owned fishing boats on the West Coast and interning allegedly dangerous citizens. Later, wholesale deportations took place from coastal areas to the interior.

The minutes disclose that on Sept. 17, 1940, King told the war committee it appeared probable Japan would seek to attain her objectives in the South Pacific "when the situation in Europe and the North Atlantic was requiring concentration of British effort."

He based his assessment on "various communications" received by Canadian military intelligence.

However, a little over a month previously the cabinet had decided to reject Britain's suggestion of a common policy toward Japan.

While willing to co-operate, Canada was anxious not to be the cause of an incident which might lead to a breach of relations with Japan.

A Canadian cabinet minister told colleagues May 17, 1940, that British authorities were guilty to complacency, incompetence and lack of imagination in their conduct of the war effort against Nazi Germany.

The blistering attack by Defence Minister Norman Rogers, following a visit he had just made to Britain and France, is recounted in proceedings of the war committee of the Canadian cabinet, made public Wednesday.

The committee, which made all the key decisions affecting Canada's participation in the Second World War, was constituted Dec. 5, 1939, three months after the outbreak of hostilities. Documents just released by the government to the Public Archives cover its deliberations to the end of 1941.

The committee minutes, presented in summary form, also show that Canadian leaders were concerned in the first year of the war that Canada had impaired its own defence position by massive contributions of military supplies to Britain.

Rogers, killed not long afterward in an airplane crash, reported following his trip overseas that Britain was suffering from "a thorough lack of preparation for mechanized warfare."

Germany had a 2-to-1 edge over Britain in numbers of aircraft, and the vulnerability of British industrial areas to air attack had been increased "to a most dangerous extent" by the German occupation of Dutch and Belgian air bases.

The British government's "apparent complacency" in face of the bombing danger was hard to comprehend. The authorities apparently had failed completely to consider that British industrial areas might be open to attack, and no serious attempt had been made to decentralize production.

Rogers denounced what he called the incompetence and lack of imagination of British official.

LIVING BRAIN TISSUE GROWN IN LABORATORY

CHICAGO (Reuter) — Three University of Chicago researchers announced Wednesday they have grown living brain tissue from individual mouse brain cells in the laboratory, opening a new avenue to the study of man's most complex and baffling organ.

Dr. Aron A. Moscona, who headed the biological research team of Dr. Malka Moscona, his wife, and Dr. Beatrice B. Garber, said the cells grown in the laboratory attached together in the same way as normal brain cells and formed connections — called synapses — allowing communication between the cells.

"We don't know if the brain tissue is thinking, because no one knows exactly what thinking is, but it is certainly communicating," he said. The research team also reported a specific chemical compound — cerebrum cell-ligand — has been isolated. The compound acts like a glue to fix certain types of brain cells to one another.

Discovery of the compound might help solve the mystery of how individual cells can identify and link up with other cells to form specific organs, he said.

Dr. Moscona said his team's findings might eventually lead to new methods of repairing brain damage and brain defects.

He gave as examples the correction of congenital brain damage, helping brains to grow to normal size and repair of brain injuries.

Canada Locates Wheat 'Pirate'

LONDON (CP) — A cargo of Canadian wheat, believed to have been pirated during the Indian-Pakistan war, has been sighted off the coast of French Somaliland.

The wheat, estimated at some 250,000 bushels, originally formed part of a larger shipment moved out of Vancouver as Canadian relief aid destined for Chittagong in what was then East Pakistan and now is Bangladesh.

One of the vessels to which part of the shipment was transferred, disappeared. It turned up in international waters in the Gulf of Aden sailing under the Greek flag.

One Canadian official said he understands the master of the ship has been arguing that he wasn't too sure whether he would be paid when the Indian Pakistani war broke out and decided to dispose of the cargo as a way of compensation.

Legal experts are waiting to pounce on him with court action if he docks at any port where Canada can exercise influence.

Despite the government's 6.5 per cent ceiling on wages and fringe benefits, Chabot said he interprets the Mediation Commission Act to mean the government will be bound by whatever is the commission's decision.

Registered nurses came under criticism from the Hospital Employees' Union and the Victoria Labor Council for voluntarily agreeing to go before the mediation commission for a binding decision.

"This is contrary to the policy of the labor movement and certainly in conflict with the general lack of confidence that both labor and management have in the mediation commission," said an HEU spokesman.

The labor council voted to express its "concern" and vice-president John Schibli said it is "very saddening" it should happen when the commission appears to be on its "death bed." Secretary Larry Ryan said the nurses' association has "allied themselves with management."

In a statement, the B.C. Hospitals Association said hospital workers in the province are the highest paid in the country.

BCHA executive director Duncan Bradford quoted 1970 federal statistics to show the average hourly wage rate in B.C. for hospital workers was $3.20 compared with $3.10 in Quebec and $2.70 in Ontario.

'REDUCE CARE'

Bradford said the Hospital Employees Union "must realize" that the BCHA must negotiate within the 6½ per cent ceiling set by the government.

"Hospitals are not like school boards, who have access to public funds through referendum to pay for added costs," he said.

"If hospitals are forced beyond government guidelines our only recourse is to reduce the level of care and this is not acceptable to hospitals or the BCHA."

The RNABC, also in a statement Wednesday, said the BCHA's position on the 6½ per cent ceiling is "unacceptable" to it.

NEWS BRIEFS

Campus Riot

MADRID (AP) — Students at Madrid University battled police today in the wildest rioting in years. Scores were injured and dozens more arrested as the fighting spread off campus. The central campus was sealed off.

Embassy Bombed

BEIRUT (Reuter) — Three bomb blasts, one of them at the Algerian embassy, rocked the Lebanese capital today. The Algerian embassy, a modernistic structure in a city suburb, was badly damaged by an explosive charge tossed at the entrance of the building. An embassy spokesman said no one was hurt.

Moscow Invitation

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — The Soviet government has invited Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman of Bangladesh to Moscow, a newspaper close to the Pakistani foreign office reported today.

Delay Demanded

LONDON (UPI) — The opposition Labor Party today demanded that Prime Minister Edward Heath should postpone signing of the treaty taking Britain into the European Common Market.

Yule Mail 'Coming'

LONDON (CP) — The British post office reported Tuesday that a substantial portion of Christmas mail sent to Canada by sea from Britain still hasn't reached its destination.

It said it has been advised by Canadian authorities that even future postings of letters and parcels by sea to Canada will still be subject to delay.

The cause is congestion in Canadian ports resulting from the United States longshoremen's strike last fall which led to heavy diversions of shipping to Canada. The volume of diversons choked Canadian ports.

This congestion and delay may be aggravated by the Canadian air traffic controllers' strike. With transatlantic air shipments to Canada halted, many British shippers will be considering moving parcels and other items by sea.

The post office said that all airmail to Canada is subject to delay. An official said airmail is being accepted and stored, ready for shipment by air once the strike is over.

RARE COIN SURFACES IN PUB

LODON (UPI) — Alf Long bought a round of drinks at his local pub for $2.60 and got a coin worth $320 in his change.

The coin, a two-pence (5.2 cents) piece, was made of silver instead of bronze because of an error at the Royal Mint.

RIOT CASUALTIES, Dominican sisters Vianney, left, and Thomasina wait for aid in Salisbury's Central Hospital Wednesday after their car was stoned in Rhodesia rioting. The nuns were injured by flying glass from the windshield. Africans have been protesting the British-Rhodesian political settlement, which provides for rule by the nation's black majority sometime in the indefinite future.

Chinchillas Hazardous . . .

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal tax review board has decided that the business of raising chinchillas is "extremely hazardous."

The board came to the conclusion in a decision announced Tuesday dismissing an appeal by a would-be chinchilla farmer, Frank Lipp of Hamilton.

He purchased 10 animals in 1966 for $1,048 as breeding stock, but no sales took place until 1969. The few pelts he did sell in 1969 did not return a profit and the entire stock was barely sufficient to produce a single fur coat.

The board ruled that Mr. Lipp, who works full-time at another job, could not reasonably have expected a profit from his chinchilla business and dismissed his claim to deduct his losses from other income.

Dispute Delays Oil Search

HALIFAX (CP) — Little exploration for oil is being done over millions of acres of ocean bottom off Canada's east coast because of a long dispute between Canada and France concerning which country has jurisdiction over the area.

The dispute, now in its seventh year, involves a large tract stretching 80 miles southward from St. Pierre-Miquelon, French-owned islands off the south coast of Newfoundland.

A spokesman for the Canadian external affairs department said he was hopeful agreement could be reached in about four months.

The external affairs spokesman said the difference of views between the two countries arises out of how much sea bed an island is entitled to.

. . . DOCTORS

Medical Association, have the right to set any fee schedule they want. But what they bill the commission and what they receive from it are not the same. The commission has its own schedule of fees it will pay and that schedule has been 90 per cent of the doctors' fee schedule in effect before Jan. 1.

COMPUTER READY

The latest, and first, communication from the commission on the fee changes advises the BCMA that the commission will continue to pay doctors at the same rate they were being paid before because it has received no instructions to do otherwise.

But it does say doctors should continue to bill the commission on the new fee schedule. This is taken to mean by one local source that at least the commission's computerized billing system has been reprogrammed to handle the different fee schedule, even if payments to doctors are not going to be increased.

Doctors had feared that all the bills they have submitted this month would be rejected and would have to be resubmitted using the old fee schedule.

Top BCMA officers were not immediately available for comment but an association source in Vancouver said today the BCMA understands the Medical Services Commission is unable to change procedures without government authorization.

Queen Has Cold

LONDON (AP) — The Queen stayed indoors Wednesday with a heavy cold at her Sandringham estate in eastern England. A spokesman said the Queen had cancelled all engagements for the next few days.

Financial Woes Force Festival To Cancel Out

The three-year-old Victoria Fair summer festival of the arts has been cancelled for this season because of a lack of financial support its University of Victoria directors say is needed for an expanded program.

The announcement was made at a press conference this morning called by fair general manager Peter Garvie, UVic dean of arts, and director Ralph Allen, chairman of the theatre department.

He said the decision was made to cancel because it became "increasingly clear to the directors that more support is needed to accomplish the next phase of growth: in quality and in promotion to draw more visitors here."

And "despite the help from individuals and business and from radio, television and weekly newspapers, there is unlikely to be financial support available in 1972 to achieve the level expected of the fair."

The 1972 plans were for productions of Shakespeare's The Winter's Tale, Bernard Shaw's Heartbreak House and Wycherley's The Country Wife, plus an expanded music season, including eight chamber orchestra concerts, "and a wide variety of other events."

Big Publicity Campaign

Garvie said the envisioned expansion was to hire three or four more professional actors and to launch "a massive publicity campaign" right down the west coast of the U.S. and in Vancouver.

With between 12,000 and 15,000 persons attending 45 play performances and 15 concerts last year, Allen said it had become apparent that the fair had reached the basic Victoria audience and needed to draw people from outside the community.

Asked whether they would revive this year's plans if the announcement of the cancellation elicited necessary government and community support, Garvie and Allen replied it wasn't impossible but it was unlikely.

Garvie said it was a "sad announcement" to make because the fair was a success artistically and it had become financially responsible.

With a budget of $65,000 in its first year, the fair suffered a deficit of $18,000, moving to a deficit of $1,000 with a budget of $70,000 last year.

Last year, they said they broke even by spending $68,000 of an authorized budget of $81,000.

Allen said that he, his wife, Garvie and co-director Wandalie Henshaw didn't get any salaries last year in the heavy cutback on budget.

Allen said his recently-announced resignation from UVic to take up a theatre post at the University of Tennessee had nothing to do with the cancellation of the fair.

But he added that the "very fact that the fair was going to grow smaller made me wonder about my future here."

Garvie said that between 150 and 200 students, professional actors and technicians will lose out financially and artistically by the cancellation.

Garvie and Allen laid a lot of blame on the fact they have never received aid from the provincial cultural fund. They were told that the fact that the fair was a university-run affair made it ineligible for a grant.

Parking Lot May Double For Sports

City hall may build tennis courts or an outdoor basketball court on the land it originally bought for a parking lot for the New Crystal Pool.

The suggestion came up today as proposals came forward to pave the lots which lie between Green and Caledonia Streets at Vancouver.

The lots were bought for about $200,000 about two years ago when the pool was being developed, and some officials have been worrying about future parking problems around the pool.

Ald. Ove Witt, parks and recreation chairman, said his department is going to look into the idea of making the lots double as tennis courts.

When the lots were not being used for parking, the tennis nets could be set up, and a basketball hoop could also be set up.

FAST-GROWING

Parks director Cliff Bate said the two tennis courts in Central Park are not adequate for the surrounding residential area, especially when tennis is becoming the fastest growing sport in the city.

Another way to develop the lots would be to build permanent courts as well as permanent parking space.

Development of parking for the whole area would cost about $25,500, officials estimated, and landscaping and beautification with screen hedges would add another $4,000.

Rain, Rain, Rain and More Coming

Rain, rain and yet more rain — that's the continuing story for Greater Victoria this week.

Since the big soak started Tuesday evening 1.06 inches has been recorded at the airport and 1.07 inches at the Gonzales weather station.

Weatherman Allan McQuarrie said the downpour should ease off to showery conditions this evening, but we can expect more general rain Friday as another storm system moves in.

Although nearly half in inch of rain had fallen in the six hours since 4 a.m., the only Greater Victoria municipality which reported any problems this morning was Saanich.

A spokesman for the drainage department said the complaints started coming in fairly steadily soon after 9 a.m., but most of the 40 or 50 calls concerned plugged ditches and catch basins rather than flooded basements.

The department was inundated with 350 complaints following the severe Dec. 8 storm.

Waterlogged Victorians can at least console themselves that they escaped the wintry onslaught which disrupted highway traffic and caused power failures in widely separated areas of the province Wednesday.

Heavy drifts closed the southern Trans-Canada Highway at the Crowsnest Pass on the B.C.-Alberta border, while snowslides closed the Rogers Pass highway in southeastern B.C. and the Fraser Canyon highway in the west.

Coalminers were stranded at a minesite near Sparwood and a busload of schoolchildren were billeted in the community overnight when they were unable to return to their homes in the surrounding area.

'Confusing' Vote Procedures To Get Review by City Hall

Balloting procedures in the city of Victoria will receive a thorough review, aldermen decided today.

A letter from a citizens' group precipated the move, and complaints from some elected officials who ran in the Dec. 11 election backed up the request.

Mayor Peter Pollen, who suggested a full review, said it seemed to him the actual ballot used in the election is designed to "assist the clerical counting rather than the voter."

Council's legislative committee also indicated it might review the voting list and methods of informing eligible voters of their rights.

The letter of complaint came from the Committee of Concerned Victorians, a group formed before the election.

It said there were "many factors at work which left the citizens of Victoria at a decided disadvantage.

"The Hunter Ballot was a confusing, ineptly constructed ballot. Many citizens apparently completed only one portion as they were afraid of turning up the sheet being reminded that to detach same would invalidate the ballot.

"Conditions in the polling booths were certainly disadvantageous to the elderly — small writing space, poor lighting.

"However, perhaps the most glaring fault lay within the inaccuracies within the voters list. It appears that there are many citizens whose names should appear on the list and do not, there are those whose names appear twice and other inequities.

"We feel strongly that the voters list must be revised at the earliest possible time and that tenants must be notified in a clear, distinct manner of their rights as well as their responsibilities.

Pollen said he believed there were more than 300 ballots on the aldermanic section that were not marked at all.

He called the notification procedures "most inadequate and quite obscure" and said the polling booths are "quite inadequate."

Ald. Ove Witt, who also ran in the last election, said he had 11 calls "complaining bitterly" about the ballots "and the way they were set up."

One man, he said, called up Witt to tell him he lost a vote because he couldn't find his name on the ballot.

Boy Burned In Lab

A 14-year-old student at Colquitz junior secondary school was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital today suffering from burns after an accident in the school's laboratory.

Principal Jack Drummond said the boy, Doug Murray, was in a Grade 8 group experimenting with the colors produced by burning chemicals when he got too close to a "flare-up."

A hospital spokesman said the boy's condition was satisfactory.

VMD GETS 90 DAYS TO END 'DISGRACE'

The "industrial wasteland" of Victoria Machinery Depot on Dallas Road today was given 90 days by city hall to rip up old tracks, paving and a fence situated on city-owned land.

The city solicitor was instructed by council's parks committee to write an "extremely firm letter" with a warning to move off the land which the city wants to develop into a boulevard.

Solicitor Terry O'Grady said a similar letter had been sent two years ago, outlining the city's legal position to force VMD off the land, but the company "prevailed upon the administration of the day. . . ."

Mayor Peter Pollen said that "I assure you they won't be able to prevail upon this administration . . . it's a damned disgrace."

Ottawa Accepts Barnard Offer

Victoria's $150,000 bid for the Barnard waterfront estate was accepted Wednesday by Crown Assets Disposal Corporation.

The telegram of acceptance stipulates the sale is made "In light of the proposed new use of the complete Sea Terrace (Barnard) property by the city of Victoria for park purposes only . . ."

It was learned that the city was considering sale of a small portion of the 3.77-acre property for residential development. The waterfront portion of the property would remain as park.

Terms of the sale are $40,000 cash and the balance paid over five years at nine per cent.

Crown Assets Disposal's telegram says it will try to have the property cleared of debris at no cost to the city. Mayor Peter Pollen had urged the corporation to ensure the property was cleared of debris before the sale.

Neither the city for Crown Assets Disposal have admitted who used the Barnard property as an earth fill dump but it is believed the dumping was in connection with an adjacent development project.

Earlier, Victoria's bid was turned down by the corporation and sale of the land to Diamond Developments Ltd. for $253,205 was announced. Diamond Developments intended to use the land for an apartment development.

The about-face apparently stemmed from Crown Assets dropping the price to what the city had offered. At one time the property was offered to Victoria for $184,00, its appraised value, and later for $165,000.

Nitro Poisonings Probe Starts

A board of inquiry got under way at Work Point Barracks today on the poisoning of six men of the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The poisoning occurred Tuesday during a training exercise at Mary Hill when they were instructed by Sgt. H. F. Hurford to chew a plastic explosive, named C4.

This is normal procedure. Soldiers are ordered to chew the explosive and spit it out, in order to demonstrate the safe characteristics of the explosive while it is being handled.

Tuesday, however, 45 minutes after the chewing, the six men began vomiting and having convulsions. They were taken to hospital on CFB Esquimalt.

Pte. D. W. Duthie, 21, of Stoughton, Sask., was in serious condition Wednesday but has now been placed on the satisfactory list.

Also in satisfactory condition are Cpl. J. L. Bouffard, 28, of Gravelbourg, Sask.; Pte. H. O. Leduc, 18, of Montreal; Pte. H. F. Abromelt, 21, of North Kamloops; Pte. D. J. McRoberts, 18, of Vancouver, and Pte. M. G. Cratty, 21, of Rosetown, Sask.

The other nine members of the assault pioneer course were also taken to the hospital for observation.

The lot of explosives used in the test is being chemically analysed and the practice of having the men chew the explosive will be discontinued, pending the findings of the board of inquiry.

It is believed the toxic agent in the explosive was nitroglycerine.

3's Crowd, Says Hydro

There isn't enough bus charter business between Vancouver Island and the United States for three operators, says B.C. Hydro.

In a brief statement Wednesday a Hydro spokesman said this is the reason why the crown corporation has lodged an objection with the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission to a charter licence application by the Pacific Commuter bus line.

The spokesman said Hydro has developed its charter business over many years, and already shares this with Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd.

"There really isn't enough charter business for three operators," she added.

"The revenue from the charter business is necessary to help defray losses on other transportation services we provide on Vancouver Island."

Wayne McArthur, owner of the Pacific Commuter line, has charged that it is unethical for a crown corporation to compete with private enterprise in this field, but the spokesman declined comment on this aspect.

Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said in Vancouver today he was unable to comment because "I have been away on business and I don't know anything about this."

Mostly About X, the Unknown Factor

EVERY SO OFTEN, SOME enterprising scribe calls on sociologists, marriage counsellors and the like for a preview of the husband-wife relationship of the future. Trends are inspected, projections made and conclusions arrived at. The wedded state, always provided it survives, will be different then.

Partners in marriage will be much more realistic and reasonable than they now are. Even the song-writers — if there's anything worth singing about — will shun any mention of love.

Marriage, in short, will be a limited contract available after a trial period of qualified togetherness to those who insist on it.

Perhaps that's as it should be. But unless human nature changes more than it's likely to, people in marriage will remain a mixed bag. It's even possible that along with the short-term contracts the future will have its share of till-death-do-us-part unions.

Certainly there are any number of those around today, maintained by men and women whose chief hope is that they will be permitted to go the course together.

I've known such couples. These last few days, one of them has been much in my thoughts.

The man of this pair was born in South Africa, the woman in England. They met in Vancouver — two tall, dark young ones of independent mind. Each had a job. Neither had any wish to be tied down, and least of all by marriage.

I like to learn how well-married people met. There was nothing noteworthy about this meeting. One evening, Gladys' brother introduced a friend who worked in the same machine shop — a quiet-spoken fellow by the name of Bert.

The thing that happened between them defies analysis. Enough to borrow a quaint and hokey term from a less analytical era, and call it love at first sight.

In any case, from that time on, it was Bert and Gladys, Gladys and Bert.

The depression of the Thirties was coming up hand over fist. Looked at logically, it was not the best of times for marrying. But marry they did — eloped over the border one night, and returned to take their chances as a couple in a world where silver linings were becoming harder to find than a popular song of the period implied.

Their next stop after Vancouver was the Yukon. Later, they lived and worked in Montreal. Finally, with their three children, they put down roots in one of those California communities that trail away from San Francisco.

They made a fine team. They were always planning, always taking on more than they could comfortably handle, and surprising their friends and sometimes themselves by making a go of each new project.

There was no merging of personalities. Each remained very much an individual. Yet I find it hard to think of them except as a couple.

Last year, Bert and Gladys reached their 40th wedding anniversary with their zest for living undiminished. When they came up to Vancouver Island for a salmon-fishing holiday as they liked to do each summer, they were full of plans for the little ranch they were establishing by weekend labor on sparse grazing land.

The difficulties and frustrations were many, but the potential was there. They looked forward to the time when they could make beef cattle raising a full-time occupation.

Bert, a designer of super-complex laboratory equipment, planned to retire from his city job this year. But last Saturday, while he was working on the ranch, a heart that had never troubled him before gave out.

He and Gladys had 40 good years and a few months together before death did them part. Knowing them, I also know that what kept their marriage intact through those years wasn't religion or a sense of duty or dependence, even though they did depend on one another.

I have never managed very well at defining love. I only know that as those two shared it through good years and bad, love was more than a romantic interlude or the product of clinically matched compatabilities.

Call it X the unknown factor . . . and allow for it in any calculations bearing on the human future.

Economy Vague, Faltering In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina, with millions of plump cattle grazing on its vast grasslands, should be happy and contented, holding a secure place at the world's dinner table.

The year 1971 was a disaster as inflation boosted the cost of living 39 per cent. In the last six months alone the value of the peso dropped to nearly 10 to the dollar from five. An estimated $1 billion flowed out of the country in search of more solid returns. Unemployment in the labor force of 10 million went to nearly 10 per cent in December from 6.3 per cent in July. Imports exceeded exports by at least $155 million. Net foreign reserves slumped to about $250 million during the year from $686 million.

Economists of varied political leanings lay the blame on Government House, where a series of military juntas have ruled since a coup in 1966.

SAY POLICY MISSING

The problem, they say, centres around lack of confidence and the absence of direction.

"You can't discuss the government's economic policy because there is none," a banker said. Businessmen and financial writers complain of hastily-drawn regulations that frighten away Argentine and foreign investors.

Argentines still eat well and dress well, but savings evaporate and many men hold two jobs or both husbands and wives work.

The government anticipates a 25-per-cent inflationary rate for 1972, but many economists say it will be lucky to hold the spiral to 40 per cent.

A drought in 1970 and the subsequent depletion of herds led to a 1971 drop in beef exports. The government has prohibited the domestic sale of beef every other week to increase the supply for export.

The real problem is not seasonable weather but repressive taxes by successive governments, exports-oriented economists say. Argentina has used a subsidy program to build an industrial base and these economists say farmers are being taxed out of business to pay the subsidies.

Cairo Students Eager to Fight

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptian frustration with being suspended between war and peace has boiled to the surface for the second time in a month, this time at Cairo University.

Several hundred engineering students at the university, which has a total enrolment of 65,000, went on strike Tuesday. They demanded military training to fight Israel.

They also rejected a political solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict and called on the government to strike at U.S. oil interests in the Middle East.

The naming of a new Egyptian cabinet Monday by President Anwar Sadat appeared to be the immediate cause of the strike. "Preparing the home front for battle does not come by changing governments but by reorganizing the people and arming student militia," a statement from the strikers said.

Unrest at Cairo University apparently has been building since a speech by Sadat Jan. 13 and followed riots at soccer stadiums in Cairo and Mehalla al Kobra on Christmas Eve in which nearly 100 persons were injured.

Cairo residents said that although the riots started over the referees' decisions, they developed into an explosion of public frustration at Sadat's postponement of his "year of decision," a move he attempted to explain in his Jan. 13 speech.

The Egyptian leader said he had given orders for a resumption of hostilities in the first week of December, then had to withdraw them because the Soviet Union was busy with the India-Pakistan war.

The students seem to be asking for a practical way to make a contribution to the preparations for war. The government announced Wednesday night it would accept students in the armed forces and would send military instructors to all universities.

Apartheid 'Arrogant'

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — A church-sponsored study finds that the South African policy of apartheid is essentially dishonest and marked by hypocrisy.

The report was written by Henry Lever, a professor in sociology at Witwatersrand University. He says that the official structure of race separation is nothing more than "a rationalization, that is, an attempt to preserve a position of privilege for formulating an ideological system which gives credence or justification to it."

Lever's views are presented by the Study Project on Christianity in Apartheid Society, a joint program of the South African Council of Churches and the Christian Institute, a private research-education body.

Lever's assessment of apartheid, or "separate development" as it's currently known, ponders what supporters of the policy cite as its virtues. He concludes that they are rationalizing.

"Separation is supposed to be based on cultural and not on racial differences," he writes. "The supporters of the policy claim that they are not motivated by a dislike of the non-white.

"They also claim that the goal of apartheid is the elimination of prejudice and discrimination. Discrimination is seen as a temporary, but necessary, measure until such time as the final stage in separation is attained.

"It is also claimed that the ideology of apartheid is in the best tradition of Western culture and Christianity. The policy of apartheid is offered as a final solution to the race problem and more especially the Bantu problem." That is the name used here for blacks.

"It is arrogant to regard other peoples as a problem and to offer a final solution for them," he said. "It could be argued equally well that the problem in race relations is a white problem. It has been said that the white man's narcissistic preoccupation with his own skin color is the chief problem. . . .

Central Share Depository Plan Near

TORONTO (CP) — A proposal for a centralized depository system of securities will be completed by April, R. A. Wisener, chairman of the Canadian Depository for Securities, said today.

Mr. Wisener said progress has been slow in developing a depository to eliminate the physical transfer of shares.

However, he said, a subcommittee of his organization's board of directors has been appointed to draw up a proposal that would outline "the many impacts which the depository system will have upon the financial community and some measure of the financial effects."

The depository, started in 1969, is sponsored by Canada's four major stock exchanges, banks, mutual fund companies and securities dealers.

The sponsors have put up $1.25 million to finance the system which would transfer by computer the ownership of securities of public companies and eliminate physical movement of stock certificates.

WILL BE PRESIDENT

Mr. Wisener, president of Robert Wisener and Partners, a Toronto investment firm said he will assume the office of president of the depository, which was vacated by the resignation of Ivor Murray.

He said the executive role of president has been assumed by W. L. Somerville, chairman of the depository's operations committee and executive vice-president of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Mr. Wisener also announced the apointment of M. J. Clennett, deputy general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada and chairman of the research and development committee of the Canadian Bankers' Association to the depository's board of directors.

He replaces R. C. Patterson, as the representatives of the banker's association.

J. H. Harrison, treasurer of the Sun Life Co. of Canada, has replaced E. H. Crawford, president of Canada Life Insurance Co. as the representative of the Canadian Life Insurance Association on the board, Mr. Wisener said.

Alcan Reduces Dividend

MONTREAL (CP) — Alcan Aluminium Ltd. Wednesday declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents U.S. a share on common shares, five cents lower than the amount paid in each of the previous three quarters of 1971.

The dividend is payable March 3, 1972, to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 3, 1972.

In announcing the reduced dividend, the company said:

"Over the years, Alcan's dividends have closely followed the trend of earnings, but last year Alcan paid out a somewhat higher proportion of earnings than in recent years.

"In view of the probable results for the fourth quarter of 1971 . . . which are expected to be somewhat lower than in the three previous quarters, and the likelihood that earnings will not improve in the early months of 1972, the directors have decided to make this adjustment."

AB KENT - EDITOR

Denison

Denison Mines Ltd. of Toronto reports 1971 profit increased to $10 million ($2.28 a share) from $8 million ($1.82) in the previous year.

The company's uranium division accounted for 78.9 per cent of the gain and its oil and gas division for 21.1 per cent. Uranium oxide production at 4.2 million pounds was the highest since 1963.

The profit figures include $3.36 million in oil and gas income in 1971 and $2.45 million in 1970. Profit also includes an unstated net gain on sale of securities.

Investment revenue totalled $1,126 in 1971 and $1.27 million in the previous year.

Tube-Lines

Tube Investments, through its subsidiary Raleigh Industries, is to buy Lines Brothers (Canada) for approximately $600,000 depending on the company's audited figures.

Joint liquidators of Lines Brothers Ltd. — the U.K. "Tri-Ang" toys and baby carriages group — intended to accept Tube's offer in respect of Lines Brothers' 91 per cent holding of the Canadian company's ordinary shares and all the preference shares.

Tube intends to lend the company enough to pay its creditors in full, including debts to Lines Brothers in the U.K.

Ashland

Ashland Oil Canada Ltd. earned $2.6 million (20 cents a share) during the three months ended Dec. 31, up from $1.8 million (14 cents) in the period last year.

Cash flow was $4.7 million (36 cents) compared with $3.5 million (27 cents).

Crude oil production increased by 12.1 per cent.

Imp. Metals

An option to develop its Princeton area holdings over the next 10 years has been granted by Imperial Metals and Power Ltd. to Dominion Foundries and Steel Ltd.

Cost of bringing the coal and magnetite deposits to production has been estimated at $40 million. Both ore bodies are suitable for open pit mining.

Bluewater

Reduced production from its Springon well in Wyoming is blamed for a $14,430 loss in the six months to Oct. 31, reports Bluewater Oil and Gas Ltd., of Calgary.

Waterflood of the field is expected to raise output once more, and revenue from other Sweetwater County wells soon will add to income, said president Clifford P. Hickok.

Operating income fell from $72,313 to $42,800. Profit a year ago was $9,222 and cash flow $31,063 compared with $3,992 in the more recent period.

Not included in the statement was $78,420 prepayment on future gas sales out of the Sweetwater field, which will produce $10,000 a month gross when piped.

Ocean

Directors of Ocean Cement and Supplies Ltd. have voted to wind up the affairs of the company following 98 per cent of minority shares being tendered to Genstar Ltd. Closing the books will be accomplished as soon as possible.

Genstar's $29 offer for the outstanding minority stock — with the alternative of $32 principal value in ashare exchange — was taken up by all but the holders of 21,000 shares.

These latter stockholders are now entitled to an interim payment from Ocean Cement in the amount of $25.92 a share, with the balance of $3.08 due upon dissolution of the company.

BROKERAGE FIRM CHARGED

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal brokerage firm of Holland, Andrews, Perrier and Co. Ltd. has been charged with infractions of Canadian Stock Exchange rules following completion of an investigation, Charles Neapole, exchange president, said Wednesday night.

Neapole, also president of the Montreal Stock Exchange, said in an interview that the company had been notified of the charges by letter.

"They acknowledged our letter and a hearing will be set up in the near future to deal with this matter," he said.

"If they are found guilty of this infraction, they will probably be fined."

Neapole said the company could appeal to the Quebec Securities Commission if found guilty at the stock exchange hearing.

Details of the charges have not been disclosed publicly and no date has been set for a hearing which will be held at a private meeting of the CSE management board.

Fire Toll Heavy

Fire and smoke damage was extensive Wednesday in a noon-hour blaze which engulfed a front sitting room and blew out its windows in a two-storey frame house at the corner of Chambers and Yukon Streets.

Victoria firemen had the flames under control by 12:45 p.m., but the room full of furniture was lost and smoke damage to the rest of the house was heavy.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out.

Couvelier Nominated

Provincial Liberal president Mel Couvelier was named Wednesday to contest the Oak Bay riding in the next provincial election.

His nomination was unchallenged.

Couvelier, 40, told the meeting a major plank in his election platform will be problems facing the elderly.

"A Liberal government must help these senior citizens to overcome the tragic effects of inflation without at the same time adding to the already staggering debt load presently being shouldered by us all," he said. "The constant erosion of purchasing power for those with fixed income dollars can be halted by the imposition of certain humanistic programs now.

"It is grossly unfair, for example, that school taxes continue to be levied on the homes of the part of society least able to absorb them, and the one part no longer burdening our educational system.

"They have paid their debt," he said. "We should not expect them to pay ours."

Couvelier, of 3807 Campus Crescent, is a retired businessman who for the past year has devoted full time to politics.

'UNKNOWN'

He was a candidate for the Liberals in the 1969 provincial election in Victoria riding.

Couvelier will challenge Dr. G. Scott Wallace, a former Socred now sitting as the only Tory in the lesislature.

Couvelier said he sought an early nomination because he is a relative unknown.

"Because I have always been more concerned with performance than publicity," he said, "I am relatively unknown. We will need time to overcome this fact.

"Secondly, the pivotal position of Oak Bay in recent political history cannot be ignored. A major resurgence of our Liberal team will be much harder to accomplish without this seat. It has been Liberal in the recent past. It must be Liberal once more in the future."

Oak Bay riding has taken on "a tremendous responsibility, because this is the place where the Liberal party reasserts itself," provincial leader Dr. Pat McGeer told the meeting.

"Right here in Oak Bay tonight we start the building of a new Liberal government" for British Columbia, McGeer continued.

The nominating meeting was also attended by Allan Williams, MLA and Liberal caucus leader.

Executive Named

Mrs. Lee Jameson, wife of dentist and school trustee Dr. Carron Jameson, Wednesday night was elected president of the Oak Bay Liberal Association by acclamation.

Mrs. Jameson, mother of four daughters, is also English-speaking vice-president of the Federal Women's Liberal Association and president of Victoria's Lady Laurier Association.

The Oak Bay Liberals also elected Joe Bourque, first vice-president; Robert Hutchison, second vice-president; Mrs. June Branson, secretary; Douglas Macfarlane, treasurer; Garry Tindall, policy chairman, and Gerry Connor, youth vice-president.

The organization has a current membership of 78.

Tenant Act for Dorms? Query Rattles Senate

University of Victoria student senators Derry McDonell and Bob Higinbotham went to bat for students in the UVic residences Wednesday night and ran into a procedural wrangle that occupied senate for the best part of an hour.

McDonell presented a notice of motion to the meeting so that senate could discuss at its next meeting the applicability of the B.C. Landlord and Tenant Act in the university residences.

However, senate chairman Bruce Partridge made a ruling denying the notice of motion for McDonell, sending the body into a complex legalistic wrangle from which there appeared no escape.

It was finally decided that Partridge would substitute a ruling allowing McDonell's notice of motion only if the university solicitor advised that the question of residents' problems comes within senate's jurisdiction.

'HYPOCRITICAL' RULES

McDonell said regulations which students in residence must obey are "hypocritical and unjust" and "would land the university in court if it were a regular landlord."

He said the present system is beneficial only to the ultra-conservative type of student.

Dr. William Gordon pointed out that a legal opinion from the university solicitor in July, 1970, stated that the Landlord and Tenant Act does not apply to university residences.

He suggested that the issue of problems within the university residences be taken up with those who are responsible for the college system on the campus.

MORE TALKS LIKELY

After Canon Hilary Butler suggested that the entire discussion was out of order, Partridge made the ruling denying McDonell's notice of motion.

McDonell immediately challenged the ruling, saying his intention was merely to make a notice of motion, not to seek a decision from senate on the applicability of the Landlord and Tenant Act. Further discussions on the subject could take place at the next meeting, after further arguments were prepared and a legal opinion obtained, he said.

After considerable discussion, Partridge substituted the ruling that the notice of motion would be allowed if the solicitor deemed the matter within senate's jurisdiction.

Higinbotham, who said he supported McDonell's stand, said he would meet with the solicitor on the matter.

Acting Dean Named

Dr. David J. Chabassol has been named acting dean of the faculty of education at the University of Victoria, president pro tem Dr. Hugh Farquhar announced Wednesday night.

Chabassol, a professor in the education faculty, was appointed by the university board of governors Monday. He will serve in the position from Feb. 1 to June 30.

The position had previously been held by Farquhar, who takes over the presidency of the university from resigning president Bruce Partridge Jan. 31.

Chabassol, Farquhar said, was recommended for the position by a faculty committee.

Academic Veep Soon

University of Victoria president pro tem Dr. Hugh Farquhar told the Uvic senate Wednesday night the position of academic vice-president of the university will be filled shortly.

Farquhar mentioned no names but said he hopes that "very shortly someone will be appointed to some position" in the general area of academic vice-president.

UVic has been without a permanent academic vice-president for several years.

"I feel a very great need for action in this area," Farquhar said. "There is some possibility that action will be taken before the subject comes up again for discussion by senate."

Farquhar indicated that the appointment would be on an acting or pro tem basis.

'AMAZING' JAIL

VANCOUVER (CP) — Judge J. J. Anderson of provincial court was not impressed Wednesday with Stephen Pellet's excuse for skipping bail on a purse-snatching charge—he was being plied with wine and women in a Mexican jail.

Pellet, 20, told the judge he travelled to Mexico after being charged with purse-snatching here, pleading guilty, and being released on bail.

He flashed his money in a bar, was arrested and thrown into jail in Juarez, Mexico, and was held until he spent all his money, he said.

Everything was cheap and try as he might he could not get rid of his money fast enough to make his Sept. 3 court appearance, he said. He had women visit him at $7 a night, ordered liquor, and had food sent from a restaurant in El Paso, Tex.

Defence counsel suggested that Pellet should not be blamed for the low standard of the Juarez jail.

More Jobs Promised in Throne Speech

Major new job-creating measures will be placed before the 1972 session of the British Columbia Legislature, the government promised today in the opening speech.

The measures, designed to reduce higher than usual unemployment, will involve B.C. Hydro, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, housing, forest and park development and the protection of ecology.

The third session of the 29th legislature was formally opened this afternoon with the reading of the 30-minute Speech from the Throne by Lieutenant-Governor John Nicholson.

At a press conference, Premier Bennett agreed that the new job-creation scheme will be "extensive" but said details about its operation will be to await his budget speech scheduled for Friday, Feb. 4.

Bennett wouldn't comment on whether major government subsidies are planned as part of the program but indicated a big expansion of government activity in the fields could be expected.

Also promised in the opening speech were unspecified changes in labor legislation. Bennett and Labor Minister Jim Chabot wouldn't say whether these changes would affect the operation of the much-criticized B.C. Mediation Commission.

Other plans outlined in the speech, which was read to a gathering of several hundred invited guests and about 75 members of the public, were:

- A review of the tenure system of faculty members in the public universities by the legislative education committee.
- Changes in the Public Schools Act which Bennett indicated will formalize school finance formula restrictions announced last year by Education Minister Donald Brothers;
- Improved legislation on family relations, which have been under study by the B.C. Law Reform Commission;
- Amendments which Bennett said will "tighten up" the Litter Act which has been under fire for loopholes in provisions requiring return of soft drink containers.
- Consideration by the legislature, but not necessarily legislation, in the field of expropriation law and debtor-creditor relationships also under study by the law commission.
- Possible legislation on companies and securites law, under study by a special government committee.
- Amendments to the Regional Park Act.

The speech also noted a 14 per cent increase in B.C. Ferries routings in 1971 including an "astonishing" 80 per cent increase in Northern Vancouver Island ferry traffic made possible by expansion of the Island Princess.

The proposed natural gas pipeline to Vancouver Island should spur exploratory drilling for natural gas in northeastern B.C., the speech said.

An Indian court caseworker program, in addition to the current program operated through the John Howard Society, is under consideration by the government.

Although not mentioned in the opening speech, long-delayed revisions in the provincial Elections Act are "hoped" for this session, Bennett said.

He indicated no changes are planned in the controversial liquor and cigarette advertising bans introduced last year. The bans are currently under challenge in the courts.

The opening speech indicated the Water Resources Act, introduced last year but left for study by MLAs and the public, would be proceeded with this session to "assist" in water resources management. The bill stakes out a greatly expanded provincial claim to control of water resources.

A new Safety Engineering Services Act will be consolidated from the existing Gas Act, Electrical Energy Act and Boiler and Pressure Vessel Act, the speech said.

The speech reiterated the government's position that B.C. Hydro will meet expanded power needs from "sources which cause the least possible adverse effect on the environment," a phrase generally taken to mean water power in Bennett's view.

The B.C. Energy Board will complete its study of 15-year power needs in the province

NITRO BOMB THREAT

An anonymous caller today told the Times he may throw a bottle of nitroglycerine onto the floor of the legislature during opening ceremonies.

The male voice said, "I am hoping to hear some good words about unemployment . . . if not, I am taking down a little bottle of nitro and I may throw it on the floor."

Asked to identify himself, the man replied, "You could call me the prince of ponces."

Local RCMP detachments admit they have received similar calls in the last 24 hours.

RCMP Inspector H. A. Johnson said appropriate measures have been taken and ample security is in effect for the opening.

Cabinet Acts, Bans Strikes At Hospitals

The B.C. cabinet today invoked the Mediation Commission Act (Bill 33) to provide for compulsory arbitration in the current hospitals labor-management dispute.

Labor Minister James Chabot told a press conference the act was invoked because of the "grave danger to the health and well being of the public" in the event of hospital strikes.

The order applies to the 10,500-member Hospital Employees' Union, which has been taking strike votes at a number of hospitals, and the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., which agreed Wednesday to voluntarily go before the B.C. Mediation Commission for a binding settlement.

Chabot said this was to ensure that the nurses have equal opportunity to appear before any commission hearings.

Under the terms of the act, the commission's decision will be binding on all parties.

STRIKE VOTES

The cabinet's decision came just after employees of Port Alberni's West Coast General Hospital voted 94.7 per cent in favor of strike action and just as balloting was being concluded on a strike vote at St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria.

Strike votes had been approved earlier by employees at hospitals in North Vancouver, Kamloops, Trail, Kelowna and Kimberley.

Shortly before noon, a strike notice was delivered to St. Joseph's Hospital by Ray McCready, secretary-manager of the Hospital Employees Union.

A hospital source said just over 70 per cent voted in favor of strike action. McCready could not be located for comment.

Chabot said this is the first time the Mediation Commission Act has been used by the cabinet before a strike took place.

"This is one of those problems when we can't tolerate a strike to begin and, under these circumstances we can no longer gamble with the health of the public," he said.

TALKS COLLAPSE

He added that the order for employees to remain at work was not made at the request of either side in the dispute.

The government announced earlier that it will not share in increased wage and fringe benefit costs in 1972 beyond 6.5 per cent. Negotiations with both HEU and RNABC and the B.C. Hospitals Association collapsed at this point, with HEU proceeding with strike votes and the RNABC calling for a government mediator.

The Hospital Employees' Union, which represents non-professional hospital workers, had been seeking a 25 per cent across-the-board wage increase over two years and other improvements which BCHA said would be a 50 per cent cost increase. The RNABC has declined to disclose its demands.

B.C. Stalling On Fee Hike

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

The new fee schedule of British Columbia doctors is going to be ignored — for the time being — by the provincial government.

The reason is the Medical Services Commission, the provincial agency which administers medicare, has had no instructions from government to alter its current scale of payments to doctors.

Word came from the commission to the B.C. Medical Association and was passed along to local delegates Wednesday. It was posted in hospitals for the information of doctors today.

It is the first indication from any source on how the government has responded to the new fee schedule which doctors put into effect Jan. 1.

The schedule represents an overall increase of 8.2 per cent, all allocated to the six groups of doctors, including general practitioners, earning the lowest incomes in the medical profession.

The latest development means little to the public at the moment. Almost all provincial residents are covered under medicare and almost all doctors bill the Medical Services Commission rather than their patients.

It does mean there has been no break in the stalemate between doctors and government on fees, despite the new schedule of fees the doctors have introduced.

Doctors, through the B.C.

Recall Out —PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said today the government has no immediate plans to recall Parliament to deal with the strike of air traffic controllers.

There would be no interference, at the moment at least, with the bargaining process, he told reporters on his way into the regular Thursday morning cabinet meeting.

Mr. Trudeau said the cabinet would discuss the strike.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson and C. M. Drury, president of the treasury board which is negotiating on behalf of the government, both declined comment.

The strike has grounded virtually all commercial air traffic in Canada since Monday.

RESUME BARGAINING

The cabinet met at the same time as negotiators for the government and the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association started their fourth day of talks under mediator Noel Hall of Vancouver.

In negotiations that have gone late into the night there have been no indications of a narrowing of critical differences over pay claims.

Representatives of both sides gave muttered "no comment" when asked late Wednesday about progress.

Cabinet discussion on the strike had been expected to cover several possibilities aimed at ending the dispute that has virtually closed 116 airports.

These were a request for resumptions of Parliament, now in recess; authorization for a beefed up treasury board offer; imposition of a deadline for talks; or a decision to let the collective-bargaining process continue unhindered.

Police Slay 3 in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (CP) — Three black Africans were shot dead by police during rioting Wednesday evening and early today.

A government statement issued late today said the slayings took place in the black township of Harari near the city's industrial areas.

Those arrested totalled 44, of which two dozen suffered gunshot wounds. At least 13 were being treated in hospital.

RIOTING BEGAN SUNDAY

Black riots began Sunday in Gwelo, an industrial city 200 miles southwest of Salisbury, the capital. The unrest was touched off by the arrival of a British commission to canvass public reaction to the proposed British-Rhodesian settlement.

The rioting is widely interpreted in London as dooming the settlement worked out by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government and Rhodesia's white rulers last November. The agreement stipulates that it will not go into effect unless the British determine it is acceptable to a majority of the Rhodesians.

SMITH PLANS MEETINGS

Prime Minister Ian Smith was understood to be planning emergency meetings with his security chiefs to discuss the increasingly tense situation. A senior British official was on his way from London to make an on-the-spot assessment of the situation for the British government.

Raiding at one point into the capital itself, marauding groups burned cars, set fire to buildings, stoned passing vehicles and smashed and looted shop windows in this first eruption of mob violence in the Salisbury area since the African nationalist party wars in 1963 and 1964.

Police used tear gas to break up groups of the rioters in Harari, home of 60,000 Africans. Tear gas was also used to avoid another outbreak of Gwelo-style violence in the town of Fort Victoria, 200 miles to the south of the main Salisbury-South Africa highway.

Africans ransacked a liquor store, set fire to a tractor and stoned a government building, a clinic, a police truck and a butcher shop in Fort Victoria's African suburb of Mucheke, where 10,000 Africans live, segregated from the farming town's 3,000 whites.

Today, government officials were privately linking the new wave of unrest with the presence in the country of the British commission.

SEEK AFRICAN OPINION

The seven commission teams at present are slogging their way through deep mud and crossing rivers and streams in their search for a reliable guide to African rural opinion about the Anglo-Rhodesian settlement terms.

Almost everywhere they have gone they have been getting the same answer: No.

U.S. to Boost Arms Spending

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon told Congress today United States military spending will rise in 1972-73 because he needs a strong defence establishment to help him reach peaceful agreements with the Communist powers.

He announced his decision on arms spending in his annual State of the Union address to a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Nixon, who is standing for another four-year White House term, called on the election-year Congress to give him bipartisan support at home and abroad.

He pleaded with members to forget presidential politics and resist the pressures of polling day in November in the interests of prosperity, national unity and world peace.

The president did not disclose the size of the new defence program, which is included in the over-all federal budget to be sent to Congress Monday.

But he said he would ask for an extra $2 billion for the navy and an additional $838 million for military research and development.

He would allocate more than $900 million to improve seabased nuclear deterrent forces.

Mass IRA Break Foiled by Police

BELFAST (UPI) — British soldiers and Northern Ireland police today foiled an apparent mass break-out attempt at the Longkesh internment camp where most of the 500 security suspects seized in Ulster are held, a British Army officer said.

In the first news conference held inside the camp, northeast of Belfast, Brigadier Oliver Pratt told newsmen, "We uncovered an awful lot of stuff."

More than 1,000 troops and police moved into the camp at daybreak and thoroughly searched the complex of huts and buildings for more than eight hours, Pratt said.

The findings "undoubtedly" included implements for a breakout, Pratt said.

In sleeping quarters troops found the beginnings of two tunnels, one of them two feet deep and 18 inches wide. Floor tiles had been glued together to cover the hole in one of the huts, Pratt said.

HURRICANE . . . ER, HIM-ICANE

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricanes should be named after U.S. senators instead of women, a Miami feminist has told a top-level gathering of weather experts.

And Roxcy Bolton says she's rather partial to dubbing the storms him-icanes, too. She says hurricane sounds like her-icane.

"I'm sick and tired of hearing that 'Cheryl was no lady as she devastated such and such a town,' or 'Betsy annihilated this or that'," said Mrs. Bolton, a former vice-president of the National Organization of Women.

"As long as people can name her-icanes after us it's just another way of putting women down."

Her proposal Wednesday to the annual national oceanic and atmospheric administration hurricane season planning conference received a chilly reception.

Dr. Karl Johannessen, associate director of the national weather service, told Mrs. Bolton that naming the often-deadly storms after women was nothing personal. But he balked at her suggestion to name them after senators.

"Would you want to cast a slur on United States senators?" he asked.

He then suggested the names of men be used one year, the names of women the next in an alternating system.

PILL FOR PIGEONS

Victoria's parks committee today decided to buy a supply of a special drug that will temporarily sterilize the pigeons in Centennial Square to slow down the reproduction rate.

The chemical is called Ornitrol and is made in the "animal health division" of G. D. Searle and Co., Skokie, Illinois.

Following complaints from a number of sources that the pigeons around city hall are becoming a nuisance, city purchasing agent G. F. Sharpe came up with the Ornitrol plan.

The idea is so appealing, in fact, that officials intend to use it also over a two-year program to curb pigeon reproduction in Bastion Square and at the Public Library on Yates.

The manufacturer says the "chemosterilant" takes a year to show its effects. It should not harm pets like dogs and cats because these animals don't eat whole kernel corn, in which the Ornitrol is contained.

The job will cost $1,100.
